A PRAYER.

BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

God! do not let my loved one die,
But rather wait until the time
That I am grown in purity
Enough to enter thy pure clime,
Then take me, I will gladly go,
So that my love remain below.

O, let her stay! She is by birth
What I through death must learn to be;
We need her more on our poor earth
Than thou canst need in heaven with thee;
She hath her wings already, I
Must burst this earth shell ere I fly.

Then, God, take me! We shall be near,
More near than ever, each to each;
Her angel ears will find more clear
My heavenly than my earthly speech,
And still, as I draw nigh to thee,
Her soul and mine shall closer be.

RACE TROUBLES END MAIL ROUTE.

Negro Carrier at Gallatin, Tenn., Forced to Resign by Mob of Armed Men and Delivery Is Stopped.

SECOND MAN TO LEAVE.

Postmaster General Declares That Until Residents Permit Black Employes Service Will Be Refused.

COLORED MAIL CARRIERS—Postmaster general closes rural route at Gallatin, Tenn., because armed men have driven the colored mail carriers to resign.

[BY RAYMOND.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—Another serious clash has occurred between the white people of the south and the postoffice department over the negro question, and as a result the people in the vicinity of Gallatin, Tenn., will be deprived of their mail service.

Postmaster General Payne today was advised that John C. Allgood, the colored rural free delivery carrier at Gallatin, has been held up by armed and masked men and his life threatened if he continued in the service of the United States. This threat also was applied to the colored substitute carrier. Allgood was warned not to divulge the cause of his removal, but told to assign some other reasons.

Notwithstanding these warnings, Allgood advised the free delivery inspector of Tennessee of what had occurred, and then declined to perform the duties unless assurances were given that no violence would be permitted. The postmaster general ordered the service suspended and directed that a thorough investigation be made.

The service was established on March 1, and Allen F. Dillard, a colored man, appointed carrier. He resigned three weeks ago, and, while the department had no advice on the subject, it is believed Dillard was threatened in the same manner as Allgood and heeded the warning, to say nothing about being intimidated by masked and armed men.

There were five applicants for the position of carrier at Gallatin. The three men passing the civil service examination with the highest percentage were colored. Under the civil service rules the postoffice department has no option about making appointments, but must select the persons making the highest rating. In other branches of the civil service the appointing officer can select one of three names at the head of the eligible list.

According to the civil service rule Allen F. Dillard, colored, was appointed carrier on March 1, as stated, but resigned three weeks ago without giving any reason. Then Allgood was appointed to fill the vacancy and now has been forced to retire.

There is danger that there will be similar cases throughout the south, and the matter may become serious. Postmaster General Payne is unable to give the number of colored men employed in the rural free delivery service, but he says they will be protected. The penalty for interfering with the United States mails is severe, but the department officials have little hope of securing a conviction in the Gallatin case, as there was but one witness to the threatened violence, the carrier himself, while the men who threatened him were masked.

"There are but two ways of dealing with cases of this kind," said Postmaster General Payne in discussing the case. "One is to send a company of United States troops to accompany the carrier, so that he will be protected in the performance of his duty. The other is to suspend the service. This has been done.

"I have no idea that we will send troops to protect the carriers. It is not the business of the government to force mail service upon the people of any part of the country. To accompany a carrier with a squad of soldiers would make the mail service too expensive.

"When the people in the localities which object to the appointees of this department are willing to accept them and permit them to perform their duties unmolested these sections will be given the benefit of the mails.

"We had a case of this kind some time ago at Indianola, Miss. That office has not been abolished, and the postmistress has not been permitted to resign, but there is no mail service there, as the people are not disposed to accept it. We are ready to begin business when our representatives are unmolested in the discharge of their duties, but the people of Indianola have not been disposed to receive their mail on this basis."

For many years attempts were made spasmodically to root out the fraudulent ring which has been controlling affairs in certain divisions of the postoffice department, beginning with the Cleveland administration and continuing down to the pending investigation. The favorite trick of the men who have created such scandal in the department was to involve their chiefs through their ignorance in technical violations of the law and thus prevent any rigid investigation.

Postmasters general and their assistants were repeatedly led on to accept certain official favors under the belief they were ordinary perquisites, only to find out that the records were against them and these acts, if published to the world, would be difficult to explain. It is said that for years the conspirators in the postoffice department have made it their business to extend improper courtesies to their superiors and then to make use of these irregular obligations to tie the hands of the man in authority.

Every assistant secretary of the government has his own horse and carriage for official use. These are provided for in the appropriation bill under the general title of "transportation." Unfortunately for the first assistant postmaster general, no such provision was made for his office and when Mr. Wynne was appointed he found he would be obliged to pay a big livery bill every month or go afoot to official conferences and the usual official social duties. The man he consulted in his dilemma was Mr. Beavers, who has since resigned under fire. The chief of the salary and allowances division was only too ready to accommodate the first assistant.

"There is no law authorizing you to have a carriage," he said, "but there is a large appropriation for the transportation account of the Washington city postoffice, and you can get your carriage out of that. Your predecessors have been provided that way because of the failure of congress to make a

R.-I. A NEW R. R. GIANT.

SECURES CONTROL OF 'FRISCO WITHOUT PAYING A CENT.

By Addition of System with 4,000 Miles of Track Becomes Second Largest in Country—Deal Is Made by Pool of Three Men, Who Get $87 for Stock, Much of Which Was Bought at $10 or $15, in Shares and Bonds—Has Long Hung Fire.

New York, May 7.—[Special.]—A new railroad giant came into being today when without payment of one cent in cash the St. Louis and San Francisco system, aggregating nearly 4,000 miles of railroad, was sold to the Rock Island company. Official ratification of the deal was made this morning by the Rock Island directors, when B. F. Yoakum, president of the 'Frisco and manager of the pool that will turn over the road, was elected to the directorate of the Rock Island. The agreement was signed late today.

It was decided by the St. Louis and San Francisco pool Wednesday night to accept the last offer that had been made by the directors of the Rock Island policy. Assuming that Rock Island common stock is worth $45 a share, the members of the 'Frisco pool will receive $87 a share for their nondividend paying common stock. Much of this stock was acquired by members of the pool at from $10 to $15 a share.

Near Value of Old Terms.

According to the terms of the original contract, which was abandoned at the time the stock market was shaken by the decision against the Northern Securities company, for each share of 'Frisco common stock the Rock Island would pay $20 in cash, $45 in collateral trust bonds, and $65 in Rock Island common stock. At the market prices then prevailing this would have marked the value of 'Frisco common stock at just about $86 a share.

No Cash in Deal.

Under the present arrangement no cash will be paid, for it was the apparent inability to procure the necessary money that caused the original plan to lapse. The 'Frisco pool members will receive $60 in 5 per cent ten year Rock Island collateral trust bonds at 100 and $60 in common stock of the Rock Island company. This would make the pool's 'Frisco stock worth $87 a share.

The 'Frisco common stock which will be turned over to the Rock Island constitutes the absolute control of the 'Frisco system. It will be deposited as collateral underlying the new bond issue, which will be necessitated to pay for the stock. Negotiations were conducted through J. P. Morgan & Co.

James Campbell said tonight: "Yes, the deal has been completed and the agreement signed."

Three Men Had Control.

Three men joined forces to pass the control of the 'Frisco. They were B. F. Yoakum, its president; James Campbell of St. Louis, the largest individual stockholder, and B. P. Cheney of Boston, who was chairman of the reorganization committee of the Atchison railroad.

Reports that there had been a difference of opinion between the members of the pool which at one time threatened to cause its disruption were officially denied today.

Rock Island Is Second Largest.

By the acquisition of the 'Frisco system the Rock Island becomes the proprietor of the largest railroad system in the United States, with the single exception of the Harriman-Kuhn-Loeb group, which controls the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific, and the Oregon Short Line. The total mileage under the control of the Rock Island company will be 14,348, including the recent arrangement with the Southern Pacific, by which the Rock Island acquired a half interest in 1,345 miles of Texas railroad.

The capitalization of the 'Frisco consists of $64,000,000 of common stock, $31,000,000 of second preferred stock, and $5,000,000 of first preferred stock. The capital of the Rock Island amounts to $150,000,000.

Spreads Over the Country.

The Leeds-Reid-Moore syndicate, through the Rock Island company, will now have a railroad system extending from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Galveston and New Orleans and from Chicago to Colorado Springs. It will reach into Alabama and Tennessee, and may in the near future reach the Atlantic coast by acquisition of the Central Railroad of Georgia.

DEERING WORKMAN STABBED: UNION STRIKER ARRESTED.

Three Men Attack Peter Hysocki and He Is Badly Wounded—Frank Marek Is Arrested and Identified.

Peter Hysocki, a nonunion workman at the Deering Harvester works, was assaulted by three men while returning from work last night. They leaped from behind a clump of bushes as he passed and one stabbed him in the left shoulder, inflicting a wound three inches deep. He was taken to the St. Elizabeth hospital, and late in the evening was taken under police escort to his home at 1033 North Hoyne avenue.

An hour later Frank Marek was arrested by Policeman Michael Schote and was identified by Hysocki as one of his assailants. Marek's two companions escaped, but the police have a description of them and expect to arrest them. The police say Marek is one of the strikers at the Deering Harvester works.

Hysocki is married and is 32 years old. He was walking in Fullerton avenue, between Elston avenue and the river, when attacked.

TENTH VICTIM OF TAX RUSH.

Francis S. Thomas, Who Assisted the County Treasurer for a Week, Dies from Pneumonia.

Still another death—the tenth—was charged to the insanitary condition of the county building and to the tax paying rush when Francis S. Thomas, 4223 St. Lawrence avenue, died last evening. He was an employé of the city water office, but worked in the county treasurer's office a week helping out during the rush. During that week he contracted pneumonia, which resulted in death, as it had done with nine other employés of the treasurer. Thomas was 28 years old and was active as a republican organizer in the Sixth ward.

TIES UP BRIDGE, SAYS "G'WAN."

Tender of the New State Street Span Is a Law Unto Himself.

QUESTION—How long may a bridgetender keep the bridge open for the passage of boats through the draw?

ANSWER—Ten minutes, according to law, except, however, in the case of the State street bridgetender, who is a law unto himself. Last night, for instance, he kept the bridge open from 7 until 7:16 and from 7:28 until 7:43. When remonstrated with for tying up the State street car line and disorganizing the service thereon for nearly an hour he replied, "G'wan."

TWO COMMITTEES IN TRACTION ROW

Majority Stockholders with 33,438 and Minority with 9,818 Shares Select Protective Bodies.

UNION STILL POSSIBLE.

Petition Asking That Leasing Corporation's Affairs Be Wound Up Before the State Court Today.

Two "protective committees" were authorized yesterday to care for the interests of North Chicago stockholders in connection with the Union Traction company receivership. One was selected by a majority of the stockholders at a meeting held during the afternoon, at the Grand Pacific hotel.

The selection of the other, which had been named previously, was confirmed at a minority gathering at the Sherman house in the morning. The two bodies are:

Majority committee—Henry A. Blair, A. T. Galt, C. R. Corwith, F. H. Rawson, and C. L. Raymond; Henry L. Robbins, counsel; representing	33,438 shares
Minority committee — G. F. Braun, J. J. Townsend, Maurice Rosenfeld, and Simon W. Straus; Levy Mayer, counsel; representing	9,818 shares
Not represented by either committee	15,944 shares
Owned by Union Traction company and in the hands of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank as trustee	20,000 shares

Committees May Yet Unite.

It is possible that the two committees may be united, as several shareholders present at the minority meeting said they wished to learn what the Grand Pacific gathering would do before taking any radical action. The objectors to this are said to be owners of 7,114 shares held in San Francisco and Pennsylvania and represented yesterday by Mr. Mayer.

The announced purpose of both committees is to conserve the interests of the stockholders of the North Chicago company while the affairs of the Union Traction company are being settled. The suggestion was made at the minority meeting, however, that it might be necessary to attempt to break the leases of the North Chicago company to the Union Traction company. At the majority meeting the talk was all against any radical action of any kind.

Court Hearing This Morning.

As an adjunct to these matters the petition filed by Kraus, Alschuler & Holden, as attorneys for two plaintiffs against the Union Traction company, asking that this company be wound up as provided for insolvent corporations under the state law, will come up for hearing before Judge Chytraus this morning. In this suit is involved the liability of holders of the $20,000,000 common stock of the Union Traction company to pay in the purchase price of that stock, the claim being that it never was paid for.

At the Grand Pacific Meeting.

Charles L. Raymond presided over the majority meeting of stockholders at the Grand Pacific hotel. A roll call showed shares of stock represented as follows:

In person	8,721 shares
By proxy	24,717 shares

This, it was announced, constituted a clear majority of the 50,200 shares possible, as 20,900 belonging to the Union Traction company, being in the hands of a trustee, could not be voted. All the large Chicago holders were present in person, including F. H. Rawson, who represented the large owners in his family; John H. Wrenn, with 1,529 shares; John Lambert, with 450; Lafayette McWilliams, with 200. John P. Wilson had proxies for over 1,000 shares from O. W. Potter and others, while Edward L. Brewster held proxies for over 15,000, the largest items being the 5,108 shares in the name of E. S. Layman of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and 1,300 belonging to B. H. Lamb. The only discussion arose over the wording of the following resolution offered for passage:

"Resolved, That a committee of five stockholders be elected by a stock vote of the stock represented at this meeting for the purpose of investigating the affairs of the North Chicago Street railway company, and with power to take such steps as they may deem necessary to conserve the interests of its stockholders, and with power to call such further meetings of the stockholders when they shall deem it expedient, and said committee shall have power to fill vacancies and add members."

Object to Committee's Power.

Lafayette McWilliams and Wallace Heckman raised the point that it gave the committee too much power; that all it should be authorized to do would be to investigate the situation as affected by the placing of the Union Traction company in the hands of receivers and report back to the stockholders.

John P. Wilson explained, however, that it might be necessary for the committee to act on short notice, as, for instance, in regard to the contemplated motion in the federal court by the receivers for the traction company as to what they should do as to paying rentals coming due to the North Chicago company. Chairman Raymond added:

"It is not the purpose of this committee to do anything radical. In fact, the purpose of calling this meeting was to obtain a committee which would preserve the interests of the stockholders and not endanger them."

So the resolution in its original form was adopted.

The committee as named was selected unanimously after the names of Edward L. Brewster, Lafayette McWilliams, and Wallace Heckman had been suggested and they had declined to act on the plea they had not the time. The committee afterwards organized by electing C. L. Raymond chairman, F. H. Rawson secretary and treasurer, and Henry L. Robbins counsel. It was determined to investigate thoroughly at once all the leases and contracts between the North Chicago and the Union Traction companies, to demand an abstract of the books of the Union Traction company from the time it took charge of the North Chicago company's property, as well as to investigate the books of the North Chicago company previous to that time, when Charles T. Yerkes had charge of the property.

"We will attempt to present to the stockholders for their action a comprehensive report of the present condition of the property as well as all events of interest leading up to it," said Mr. Rawson last evening.

Minority Meeting Is Held.

Twenty-seven stockholders were present at the Sherman house when Mr. Townsend called the minority meeting to order. There

LEARN SLY CUPID'S TRICKS

STUDENTS AT ANN ARBOR TAKE LESSONS IN LOVE MAKING.

Prof. Trueblood, in Order to Stimulate Interest Among Students with Spring Fever, Gives Instruction on "How to Propose"—Kneels Before Fair Coeds and Pleads in Impassioned Tones for Their Hands—Able to Give Points to Young Pupils.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 7.—[Special.]—The University of Michigan has added a new course to its curriculum, one that may best be styled a course in love making. Prof. Trueblood is the inventor of the novel scheme, and his course, which has been hitherto shunned as one of the toughest at the university, now seems likely to become the most popular study on the campus.

Ever since the spring vacation expired Prof. Trueblood has been trying different methods of exciting interest in his class, in order to reduce the ranks of the absentees from classes who had spring fever. Early this week he hit upon the successful plan, and now the many visitors who attend his classes are the spectators of thrilling love scenes. Fifty times a day Prof. Trueblood is forced to kneel before some maiden and show his pupils the right way to declare their devotion to their sweethearts.

"Put more life into your plea," he says; "why, you don't show a trace of passion."

Professor Shows Them How.

Then the awe inspired student watches his professor show how he used to do it, and then gets down again to rave and entreat the subject to be his alone. Each budding orator takes his place before a blushing maid, and no matter how smoothly the pair may have progressed in private the professor finds some fault with the public demonstration.

"No, kneel on both knees—now hold her hand, it impresses her more—so," and the old professor again kneels and goes through it all over again.

First steps up the bashful student who simpers, blushes, and stammers while he talks.

Bashful Students "Fall Down."

"Please miss," he will say, "I love you dearly; will you marry me?" For it is ten to one that he has enjoyed himself so much laughing at his predecessors that he has failed to observe even what Prof. Trueblood considers the proper form.

"O, my," the professor breaks out, "the little you know about this business is astonishing."

"Now, you wouldn't accept him if he couldn't do better than that, would you, Miss ——?

"Look, now. I'm tired of your not paying closer attention. Get on your knees, gracefully; like this, you see.

"Reach over and grasp her hand with both of yours—both, mind; then make your proposal, but make it as a man, not as if you didn't half mean it.

"Raise your voice.

"Speak with passion.

"If your subject doesn't suit I will give you another.

"I did think men ought to be taught to propose, but I didn't know they were all as ignorant as you seem to be."

Teacher Gets Sore Knees.

Again the poor professor is obliged to get down on his sore knees and pour out another plea for the maiden's hand. Then, at the end of the hour, the class passes out, only to make room for more of the orators, who must be shown.

Prof. Trueblood thinks he has to do more than his share of the work, but in spite of that he thinks he will be well repaid if he is able to smooth the road to success for many of his pupils.

"I don't think it is fair for him to make the boys in the class do all the work," said one student. "I wish he would make the girls try it once in a while."

Prof. Trueblood addresses few remarks of correction to the girls in their parts. He says he really doesn't know the best way for them to do. They must learn by the experience he is giving them.

NEGRO TELLS HIS PEOPLE WHITES ARE RULERS HERE.

The Rev. J. Daniels Makes Unusual Address to Evanston Colored People—Meeting of Protest Abandoned.

The meeting of protest planned for last night by the negroes of Evanston to denounce an editorial in an Evanston paper was not held. In its place a gathering of the colored people of the suburb heard one of their race declare that they must be ruled by the whites.

During the day a number of negroes decided that a meeting of protest would only increase the feeling against the colored persons in Evanston instead of bringing them sympathy. Others wished to hold the meeting and make vigorous protests. Their plan failed and no meeting was held.

However, a social meeting was held at the African Methodist church, at which the Rev. J. Daniels spoke.

"There are too many ladies and gentlemen and too few men and women among the negroes," said Mr. Daniels. "Until this condition is changed there can be little hope for our people. This is a white man's country. The negro must do as the white man does.

"The white man's home is a sacred place. If one of you colored men would look at the wife of one of these white men in the street he would knock your head off, and he would do right. Until the colored man comes to have the same idea of his family and of his home there will be a condition that should be changed.

"I believe that there should be a limited ballot for the negro—a ballot that should be regulated by educational requirements and a property limitation, say of not less than $250."

ARREST BROTHER OF CZOLGOSZ.

Placed in Jail at Los Angeles, Cal., and Will Be Detained During President's Visit.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—Acting under instructions from the secret service bureau at Washington, the police today arrested a man who is suspected of being one of the four brothers of Czolgosz, the assassin of the late President McKinley.

Great secrecy has been maintained about the arrest, and practically no information has been given out concerning the man. He is confined in the city jail, and no charge has been lodged against him. It is believed the police are simply detaining the man on suspicion until after the president shall have left Los Angeles.

It is said that Czolgosz has been living in this city for several months, being employed in a tamale factory. His actions have not been out of the ordinary, it is said. The only apparent reason for his arrest is his relation to the assassin of President McKinley.

MUELLER BILL AT GOV. YATES' MERCY

Legislature Adjourns After Vain Wait for Expected Veto of the Street Car Measure.

LAW IS DECLARED SOUND

Attorney General Gives Executive a Rebuff by Favorable Opinion on Traction Document.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 8, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—The legislature adjourned sine die at 1:20 this morning, regretfully leaving the Mueller bill to its fate in the governor's hands. What he will do with it he and his kitchen cabinet only know. But a veto is expected.

Yates has been pulling all sorts of wires for twenty hours. He asked the legislature to take a recess for ten days to give him time to "consider important bills," but the legislature said "no." He asked Attorney General Hamlin for an opinion on the Mueller bill and got it—as some one expressed it—"in the neck," the chief legal officer of the state putting his O. K. on the measure.

All night the legislature waited for the veto which the day's developments led them to believe was coming. Arrangements had been made to pass the measure, pledges of support from 103 members, or one more than necessary having been secured.

Yates Holds Back Veto.

But shortly before midnight the statement was made that Yates would not send a veto of the bill to the legislature. This declaration was given out publicly by Col. Oglesby, his secretary; by Lieut. Gov. Northcott, by Senator Dunlap, and other friends of the administration.

The governor said he had been unable, up to that time, to get in communication with John Hamline in Chicago, because, as he said, the newspapers were using all the telegraph wires between this city and Chicago, and the members of the legislature had filed caveats on the long distance telephone, so that he practically was isolated from his guide, philosopher, and friend, if not to say his mentor.

This announcement was preceded by a long conference held in his office, at which a number of his friends were present. The subject under discussion was, "What is the best thing to be done?" The decision was: "Do nothing until after the legislature adjourns."

Attorney General's Opinion.

Attorney General Hamlin's opinion appeared to be a thorn in the side of the chief executive. It was supposed by the governor when he called on Hamlin that the attorney general would coincide with John Hamline and Allen Ripley Foote, thus giving the executive a chance to fortify himself as regards the veto. But the attorney general declared specifically the bill to be legal, and knocked out the "indeterminate" bugaboo paraded by John Hamline and the Lorimer apologists.

Gov. Yates "Sidesteps."

It was a curious condition that prevailed. The senate and the house were waiting patiently for the governor to send in his veto. Three-fourths of the senate and three-fourths of the house were waiting for an opportunity to approve the Mueller bill in such a manner as there would be no doubt of their feeling in the premises. Yates knew this, because his scouts reported it to him. He did what he had done before in a great emergency—and doubtless will do again—he sidestepped. He will wait for the legislature to get out of town before he takes any action on the bill.

Hint of Special Session.

There is some talk that he will veto the bill and reconvene the legislature in special session. If he does the veto will be overridden in all probability.

Yates has been receiving telegrams innumerable from Chicago begging him to withhold his veto until delegations can appear before him again.

The governor went home shortly before midnight. It has been customary always for governors to remain in the executive office and receive the official notification that the legislature was about to adjourn, and asking him if he had any other business to lay before that body. Gov. Yates didn't do this. He went home and went to bed, and he told Senator Dixon over the telephone that he didn't intend to send any veto of the Mueller bill to the legislature tonight, and had no further communication to make to that body.

The governor's course all day and night has been vacillating and unsatisfactory. He had few enough friends when he got out of bed, and less when he returned thereto.

Guess on Yates' Intentions.

The earlier part of the night was full of guesses as to Gov. Yates' probable action on the Mueller bill. At 10 o'clock everybody under the dome of the capitol believed that Yates purposed vetoing the measure before adjournment. In fact, not a man among Yates' friends would deny the charge when it was laid at their door.

Private Secretary Oglesby was non-committal on the proposition, but he made so many trips from Northcott in the senate and from Miller in the house to the executive office that the story gained credence every minute.

Yates' friends, such men as Lindly and Chiperfield, were extremely busy. Chiperfield flew down to the governor's office two or three times, and numerous quiet little conferences were held in the speaker's room.

Talk was heard that the preparation of the veto by Yates was merely a matter of bluff and that the veto measure had been prepared for him in Chicago.

Plan to Pass Over Veto.

Copies of Attorney General Hamlin's legal opinion declaring the bill practically unobjectionable were procured and circulated in the house and senate. Quite a number of senators said they could easily muster enough votes to pass the bill over the governor's veto. This would require thirty-four affirmative votes in the senate and 102 in the house. A canvass was made of the democratic side of the house, and it was reported that so far as could be learned every democrat would vote to send the bill over the governor's veto.

At this time the Sherman men began scouting around among the republicans, and were greatly delighted when Rinaker and Bundy, two of the strongest men in the house, declared themselves, after reading Hamlin's opinion, that the views of the law officer of the state government were good enough for them, and they would not only vote to send the bill over the governor's veto, but would make speeches on the floor in favor of the Mueller bill.

Presently gossip came drifting up from the governor's office that Yates would in the veto he purposed sending in follow closely along the lines of the arguments or objections made by Hamline and Foote.

The whole house was now keyed up to concert pitch, and the door was eagerly watched by everybody because the appearance of Oglesby with a veto was momentarily expected.

Not in a good many years has an effort been made to send bills over the governor's veto. The last of any moment were in Altgeld's time, when he vetoed the gas bill and the measure affecting the tenure of the life of street car companies. John Meyer was the speaker then, and the session ran far into the night in the declining hours of the legislature. Those attempts failed, but the conditions then were different from now, and the men who favored the Mueller bill, strengthened by Hamlin's ringing opinion, appeared cheerful over the prospects. The real friends of the Mueller bill felt that Yates had been jockeying with them, and with Hamlin, too, for the matter of that, and were in a mood to give them a taste of their real sentiment on the proposition.

Lorimerites Hold a Caucus.

After a little time it was noticed that Speaker Miller, Nohe, Kopf, Morris, Glade, Chiperfield, Len Small, Lieut. Gov. Northcott ("fresh from the people"), and other less distinctive legislative chattels of William Lorimer and Yates had assembled in the governor's office behind locked doors. As a result of the long conference it was decided that a veto would not be sent to the house until after the governor should have carried on a conversation over the long distance telephone with his legal adviser, John H. Hamline of Chicago, and his spiritual adviser, William Lorimer of the same city.

This news flew around the capitol like wildfire, and had the effect of incensing the friends of the Mueller bill to the highest possible tension. Then the people began to say that Yates was playing for more time, and didn't want to send his veto to the legislature at all during the night, preferring to fire it in after the legislature was well out of Springfield and it could not be made a law over his veto.

Seek Votes for the Bill.

Men who are interested in the Mueller bill then began a systematic and thorough canvass of the house, going from man to man among the members. Fifty-nine democrats were found who pledged themselves to vote for the bill and send it, if possible, over the governor's veto. Forty-four republicans went on record in favor of the same proposition, making a total of 103 votes, or one more than necessary to do the work. This, of course, would settle the day so far as the Mueller bill was concerned if it came in vetoed, provided, of course, the men stuck to their agreement. The members making the canvass kept on with their work, and shortly afterward said they knew of four or five more votes they could get in case of an emergency.

Hamlin Gives His Opinion.

Gov. Yates made an unsuccessful attempt early in the day to persuade the legislature to take a recess for seven days in order to be in session and act presumably on a veto of the Mueller bill he intended to return. When he failed to shift the immediate responsibility of deciding the fate of the measure he turned to Attorney General Hamlin for a legal opinion on the merits, etc., of the bill, and during the evening received a categorical reply to each of the several questions he propounded.

The feature of the attorney general's reply was this statement:

Taking the bill as a whole, it is a clear declaration of legislative intent to limit uses of the public streets by private corporations under any one grant to a period not exceeding twenty years, and this general intent, in my opinion, will not be overthrown by any forced construction of possible doubtful expressions contained in the bill.

Says Bill Is Legal.

Another strong expression was in the conclusion:

I express no opinion as to the wisdom of the passage of this act, but when it is considered in connection with the general provisions of the statute now in force governing street railways, which provisions are not repealed by this bill, if it becomes a law I am of the opinion that no serious objection can be successfully urged against its validity.

The attorney general's opinion in full is as follows:

"To his excellency Richard Yates, governor of Illinois, Springfield, Ill.

"Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of this date transmitting for my consideration senate bill 40, commonly called the Mueller bill, which has been passed by the senate and house, and asking for an immediate opinion as to the legal effect and operation of each section of the same.

"In reply permit me to say that it is impossible to prepare today a comprehensive opinion covering the validity and construction to be given to the various provisions of this bill.

"The 'legal effect and operation of this act' include the question of its policy and wisdom, and these are matters for determination by the legislature that framed this law and the chief executive who is called upon to approve or disapprove the same, and is not a question of mere legal and constitutional construction. The latter is the only question coming within the province of my duties as attorney general, and to it I will therefore confine my answer, and, considering that my time is limited to a few hours, my answer must necessarily be hastily considered and prepared.

Grant Is Not Indeterminate.

"You suggest that the opponents of this bill contend:

"First—That it provides for an indefinite or perpetual franchise for street railway companies, and that this is not corrected by section 6, which it is alleged prohibits only grants over twenty years, and indefinite occupations under a grant.

"The reservation of the right on the part of the city to take over all or part of such street railways at the expiration of the grant upon such terms and conditions as may be provided in the grant (lines 11 to 15, section 1) refers to acquiring the property of the street railway company and the provision in the succeeding paragraph that in the case the reserved right be not exercised by the city the 'new grantee shall purchase and take over the street railway of the former grantee upon the terms the city might have taken it over' means that the new grantee may be substituted for the city so far as its right to purchase the property of the old company is concerned. The new company will not acquire a right to operate a street railway by the purchase of the railway property, but when it has been given this right by the city for a term not exceeding twenty years, and has accepted the terms of the grant, it is then within its power or duty to purchase the property of the old street railway company on the same terms at which the city might have purchased. The city possesses the perpetual right to the street railway franchise, subject only to the limited grant that may have been given; it does not acquire this perpetual right from the former street railway company, nor does the new company acquire any right to operate from the old company. The statute only makes it lawful to insert this provision in the grant. It is made obligatory to do so.

"I am of the opinion that the new grantee referred to in line 19 will take under the purchase only the street railway property which the city had reserved to be purchased from the old company, and that the new company will take from the city only such rights as may then be specifically granted to it.

"Taking the bill as a whole, it is a clear declaration of legislative intent to limit uses of the public streets by a private corporation under any one grant to a period not exceeding twenty years, and this general intent, in my opinion, will not be overthrown by any forced construction of possible doubtful expression contained in the bill.

"The second contention suggested by you is:

"Second—That it will saddle the city of Chicago with vast indebtedness, as it provides for issuance of street railway certificates the amount of which may be large, for example, $75,000,000, while a foreclosure and sale of railway may bring only a much smaller amount, for example, $50,0000,000, leaving the holders of the certificates with a claim against the city for the deficiency, $25,000,0000, and it is claimed the city would be held liable, or at least harassed, by the holders of this claim.

"That the act will saddle Chicago with a vast indebtedness does not make it unconstitutional. The amount of indebtedness that could be incurred under the provisions beginning with line 59 in section 1 would be limited by existing constitutional provisions. The fact that the city might incur an indebtedness in the purchase of a street railroad which would be in excess of the amount for which the railroad could be sold by the city would not make the act unconstitutional.

"The third contention suggested by you is:

"Third—That the street railway certificates provided for in section 2, line 3, will constitute a liability and obligation of the city in violation of the constitutional limitations of municipal indebtedness.

"In my opinion the street railway certificates issued under section 2 of the act will not constitute a liability or obligation of the city for their payment. The city only has the right to contract indebtedness in a method provided by law, and the right to contract indebtedness by issuing these street railway certificates is specifically denied by this section of the act.

Discrimination Not Illegal.

"The fourth suggestion made by you is as follows:

"Fourth—That by making an exception of existing properties in making the restriction embodied in lines 73 to 77 inclusive in section 1, where the words 'except of street railways now operated under existing franchises' are used, there may be included in the valuation for the purpose of acquisition by the city the earning power and the value of unexpired grants, including among other things an alleged unexpired grant of ninety-nine years, and that of this exception the existing corporations would take enormous advantage, contrary to public policy, and that this provision is void for discrimination.

"In my opinion the discrimination contained in lines 73 to 77 is not unlawful. Clearly it would not be a valid enactment to attempt to authorize the city to take over the property of existing street railway companies without full payment for the property and the rights of the company thereunder, but the limitation contained in this provision of the act gives notice to all companies hereafter acquiring street railway property in a city, and a franchise to operate the same, that they will take their property and franchise subject to the right of the city to acquire the same at a valuation to be determined without reference to the earning power of the property and without reference to the unexpired portion of the franchise. This applies only to new companies, which companies under this law cannot acquire absolute title to street railway property and cannot acquire absolute title to a franchise for a fixed period. Whether any company has an unexpired grant of ninety-nine years is a question of law and fact to be determined by the proper tribunal, and is not involved in this bill.

Knocks Out Other Bogie Men.

"The fifth contention suggested by you is:

"Fifth—That such a provision compels the city to thus pay for its own property.

"If a city has granted a franchise to a street railway company for a term of years that franchise has become a property right in purchasing such unexpired term; the city does not purchase its own right, although it may be purchasing what it has heretofore granted.

"The sixth contention suggested is:

"Sixth—That the provision 'the new grantee shall purchase and take over the street railway of the former grantee,' etc., in lines nineteen and twenty of section 1, is invalid, because it compels the new grantee to take not only the franchise but also the plant and tangible property of the former grantee.

"The provisions of lines nineteen and twenty of section 1, that the 'new grantee shall purchase and take over the street railway of the former grantee,' etc., constitutes terms to be imposed by the city in case the city fails to exercise its reserved right, and grants a franchise to a new company. If the new company accepts this grant, then it accepts the terms of purchase made by the city with the old company, and when the new company accepts the grant from the city then it must purchase and take over the street railway of the former grantee upon the terms agreed to by the city with the former grantee.

"In my opinion this provision is not invalid upon the grounds suggested.

"I return herewith the letters of Mr. Hamline and Mr. Foote. These letters contain pertinent suggestions as to the effect and operation of this bill, and the policy that should have been pursued by the legislature in passing a law providing for municipal ownership or the regulation of street railways. But in this opinion I am passing only on the constitutionality of this act as raised by the contentions suggested by you in your letter.

"I express no opinion as to the wisdom of the passage of this act, but when it is considered in connection with the general provisions of the statute now in force governing street railways, which provisions are not repealed by this bill if it becomes a law, I am of the opinion that no serious objection can be successfully urged against its validity.

"H. J. HAMLIN, Attorney General."

Calls for a Recess.

The governor's initial effort to obtain a recess of the legislature was indicated officially in the following communication to senate and house leaders:

To the Honorable the Lieutenant Governor, and the Hon. Daniel Campbell, the Hon. Len Small, the Hon. L. B. Stringer, Senators, and the Hon. John H. Miller, the Hon. Thomas Rinaker, and the Hon. J. P. Wilson, Representatives—Gentlemen: I have the honor to request that you will use your influence to postpone a final adjournment of the present general assembly to a date not earlier than Thursday, the 14th inst.

I prefer this request because I understand that the general assembly is contemplating an adjournment at some hour tonight, and among the sixty bills which have already reached my desk there are a number which it may not be possible for me to examine and approve or disapprove before the hour of your adjournment. One or more of these bills I may possible desire to return to the general assembly without my approval in order that the general assembly may have the opportunity of passing the bills over my veto or of correcting the same.

I wish to avoid the expense of a special session of the general assembly, but if adjournment is insisted upon today such a session, with its attendant expense, may be necessary. Very respectfully, RICHARD YATES, Governor.

Senate Says "No."

The senate had control of the motion for a sine die adjournment and action on the governor's request rested there. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the question came up on the motion by Senator Campbell to reconsider, and this was tabled on motion of Senator Berry by a vote of yeas 27, nays 9. Berry took a shot at the governor, saying if the bills were bad enough to veto no general assembly ought to be bothered with them any longer. He said the governor, if so disposed, could call the legislature in special session for specific purposes, and the cost of the special session would be much less than a continuance of this.

Something Happens at Night.

Everybody went to bed the night before satisfied Yates would give the Mueller bill full consideration. Yesterday he told the Chicago committee it might be necessary for him to call upon it again, and he would certainly do so if the exigencies of the situation demanded it. Excepting possibly a few of Yates' intimates the belief was general that he would surely approve the bill or allow it to become a law without his signature.

But something struck Yates during the night. Railroad Commissioners French and Neville hurried over to the mansion and went into executive session with him. Representatives Morris and Nohe, Senator Len Small, and all that class of politicians got to him either late at night or early in the morning.

Shortly after his breakfast the governor sent out his "recess" letter. In this he did not mention the Mueller bill, but some "sixty bills which have already reached him." Personally, talking to Campbell, however, after sending the letter, the talk was about the Mueller bill and nothing else.

The governor said he did not want his actions to be construed as evidence he was going to veto the Mueller bill, because he had not said any such thing, but he wanted "time in which to consider," and he wanted the senate to rescind its resolution for adjournment today and come back in about ten days. Campbell told the governor quite plainly that the session was virtually ended and everybody considered it so.

He explained to the governor that all the necessary business of the general assembly would be transacted by midnight and talked to him along the lines Berry followed in his speech in the senate during the afternoon.

But Yates was insistent on his point and Campbell finally agreed to lay the matter before the senate, with fatal results.

LEGISLATURE AT END OF SESSION.

House and Senate Adjourn Amid Scenes of Wild but Good Natured Disorder.

RUSH WORK AT CLOSE.

Speaker Miller Receives Usual Vote of Thanks—Darrow Hissed for Voting "No."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 8, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—The legislature has adjourned sine die. The senate quit at 1 o'clock this (Friday) morning and the house twenty minutes later. The closing scenes, especially in the house, were marked by the customary hilarity. The closing proceedings resembled a babel of sounds and only the speaker and the clerks were supposed to know what was going on.

After midnight the house became turbulent and unruly, the proceedings being marked by the almost constant clamor of the speaker's gavel as he vainly endeavored to maintain some semblance of order.

Members were bombarding each other with paper wads, books, waste baskets, house files, and anything that came handy. Songs, shouting, and hilarious laughter resounded on every side.

The climax to the disorder came just before 1 o'clock this (Friday) morning, when there was a commotion on the democratic side that for a moment promised a physical combat. Mr. Tippitt had been hit several times with paper wads, and becoming enraged, he jumped to his feet, picked up a chair, and threw it in the direction from which the wad had come.

The chair struck Mr. Pattison. He began swearing vigorously and excitedly at Mr. Tippitt. The latter, who realized that he had struck the wrong man, attempted to apologize, but Mr. Pattison, with an oath, declared that no apology would be accepted.

Speaker Shanahan attempted to restore order, and shouted to the members that they were conducting themselves in the most shameful manner. Order was restored in a few minutes, and the roll call on the pending bill proceeded.

Last Bill Is Passed.

The last bill considered by the house was one for the establishment of schools for crippled children. Representative Lyon objected to its consideration, but Nohe, standing on a chair in the middle of the aisle, called it up, or, rather, shouted it up, the clamor from the floor of the house being almost deafening. Two women who have been here industriously lobbying for the bill for a week got Mr. Lyon by the coattails and tried to pull him down to his chair, but without success. Dr. Wheeler presided as clerk, and the bill received 145 votes, while none were recorded in the negative, thus proving Wheeler's ability as clerk of the house. The passage of this bill ended it, and the Forty-third general assembly of Illinois passed into history.

Era of Good Feling.

The era of good feeling set in yesterday afternoon, when Speaker Miller was presented with a large oil portrait of himself, and was given the usual vote of thanks of the house.

On this occasion the vote was not unanimous, Darrow voting "no" to the accompaniment of hisses. The resolution was offered by Mr. Wilson, democratic leader on the floor of the house, and was as follows:

"Whereas, The Hon. John H. Miller, speaker of the house of representatives of the Forty-third general assembly, by his courtesy and fairness to the several members of this house, has won the personal good will and regard of the members thereof; therefore, be it.

"Resolved, That at the close of this session we desire to express our appreciation of the courtesy and fair treatment which the members have received from Mr. Miller, and we assure him of our high personal regard and esteem for the manner in which he has discharged the duties of speaker of this house under the unusual and trying circumstances and conditions with which he has been confronted."

Darrow Votes "No."

Mr. Shanahan was in the chair, and as he put the resolution to a vote there was a loud chorus of ayes.

"All opposed say no," said the speaker pro tem.

"No," shouted Mr. Darrow.

"If the gentleman from Cook," said Mr. Shanahan, "desires to be recorded as voting no, he will be so recorded."

Mr. Knolla arose at that moment and asked to be recorded as voting no. Several members indulged in hisses.

"I suggest," said Mr. Browne (democrat), "that that record be made in red ink and large figures."

Before the occurrence of this incident Mr. Chiperfield rose to a question of personal privilege and made a speech presenting to Speaker Miller a large oil painting of himself, by R. W. Jaeger of Chicago.

"You, Mr. Speaker," said he, "have been elected by the members of this house to fill the high office of speaker, and I now arise to express to you the sentiment of friendship, and of esteem, and of respect that all of the members of this house have for you at this time. Varying interests have at times produced a conflict of purposes upon the floor of this house, but as the hours of this session wane, so fade from the minds of the membership of this house everything but the kindliest of sentiments and feelings."

Speaker Miller Is Grateful.

Speaker Miller addressed the house as follows:

"Members of the Forty-third general assembly, I accept this as an expression of friendliness and friendship, and I hope it has to a reasonable extent been merited. It has been my aim as speaker of this house to treat every member of the assembly with fairness and due consideration, and perhaps if any criticism has been offered it is that I have possibly carried that too far. But vindictiveness, or a disposition to punish, is no part of my makeup; and, prompted by my motives and my disposition to do right, I have tried at all times to be impartial to the members of this house.

"We have had some strenuous scenes here, and we have differed in opinion on some points and measures, and there have been different motives and policies; but I hope that these differences will leave no trace behind them and we will go away from here bearing toward each other nothing but feelings of kindliness and friendship.

"This session, in my opinion, has been marked by an energy and an earnestness that will make it compare favorably with any previous session. The members of this assembly are to be commended for that. I hope that if criticisms have been offered, or are to be offered, they will be made in the same spirit in which the chair would make criticisms of the house. Members of the house, I am not feeling in condition to speak at great length. I hope you will excuse me by allowing me again to thank you and to express to you my appreciation of this kind expression of friendship."

Other Tokens Presented.

Mr. Cooke [dem.] then presented to Mr. Wilson, the democratic leader, a handsome watch. Addressing Mr. Wilson, who occupied a seat alongside of Speaker Pro Tem. Shanahan, Mr. Cooke said: "On behalf of your democratic colleagues, I have the honor to present to you this gift, in token of their appreciation of your unselfish, untiring efforts in their behalf and in behalf of the democratic party.

Mr. Wilson responded with evident feeling.

Mr. Morris, the colored representative, made a humorous speech in presenting to John A. Reeve, clerk of the house, a diamond pin and a silk hat.

Canal Bill Passed Again.

When the session began yesterday morning a number of minor measures were disposed of, and then the "Tadpole" canal bill came up for its final appearance. The house three days ago passed its own bill appropriating $142,000 for the maintenance of the "canal," but the senate had already passed a bill carrying $152,950. To make sure of the larger amount "Commodore" Snively and his friends secured the passage of the senate bill in the house today. It encountered some opposition. Mr. Allen called it the "old ditch bill," and said it was the same as the bill passed by the house with the addition of $10,000. Church and Browne spoke for the bill and Luke and Darrow opposed it. The bill passed. Yeas, 80; nays, 47.

A most peculiar section was added to the bill by which the commissioners can draw the money appropriated as fast and speedily as they please, to spend it as they fancy, and to report only to the governor. This is done to head off the suit which will certainly be brought to test the constitutionality of the appropriations. It is asserted that the $152,000 will not be allowed to remain in the state treasury a single minute after July 1 if "Commodore" Snively has his way.

Passed at Morning Session.

The following bills were passed at the morning session:

Senate bill, Farnum's placing Berwyn, Oak Park, and Cicero under the jurisdiction of the election commissioners in Cook county.

Senate bill, Mueller's, empowering the Lincoln park commissioners in Chicago to fill in the lake front from Fullerton avenue to Cornelia street, thus adding 215 acres of land to the park and authorizing the issue of $1,000,000 of bonds for this purpose by the town of Lake View, with an emrgency clause.

Senate bill, Gardiner's, appropriating $649,500 for the ordinary and other expenses of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet for the ensuing two years.

Chicago Civil Service Bill Fails.

By a vote of 52 years to 46 nays the house refused to pass Senator Powers' bill amending the Chicago civil service law. The bill failed passage yesterday by a decisive vote and was reconsidered today on motion of Mr. Hunt. The debate on the bill was more spirited than any other of the afternoon. When the bill was reached in its regular order on the calendar Mr. Stewart moved to postpone indefinitely. The motion to postpone was lost by a division vote of 51 yeas to 58 nays. The bill was then defeated.

When Mr. Darrow's name was reached on the roll he made a bitter attack on the bill in explaining his vote. He said such a law would permit police officers to retain their positions pending a decision from the courts, no matter how serious an offense they had been guilty of.

The bill proposed to give the right of appeal to the courts to any civil service employé and to prevent his discharge by the civil service board pending the decision of the courts if appeal was taken beyond the civil service board.

Then More Bills Pass.

Then for a long time the house passed bills and bills, one after the other, without debate or interruption. Among the more important passed are these:

Senate bill 299, Putnam, extending the life of chattel mortgages from two to three years.

Senate bill 488, Rainey's, giving the Chicago board of education power to rent the city school buildings for public lectures.

Senate bill 156, McKenzie's, providing that the trustees may continue the investment of all trust funds coming into their hands by virtue of such office, with the exception of investments in stocks and interest bearing bonds of corporations other than municipal.

Senate bill 214, Stubblefield's, providing that the state board of health shall license osteopaths.

Senate bill 63, Berry's, providing that contests of wills shall be filed within one year in place of two years from the time the will is offered for probate.

Recess, Then More Bills.

At 6 o'clock the house took a recess until 8 p. m. After recess it reconvened at 8 o'clock and continued the work of passing bills, disposing of the following:

Senate bill 39, Mueller's, amending the corporation act by eliminating the provision limiting the number of directors, managers, or trustees of corporations and giving corporations power to increase or decrease the par value of their shares of capital stock.

Senate bill 505, Rees', providing for the appointment by the governor of a good roads commission, composed of three members, whose duty it will be to report to the next assembly a feasable plan for the betterment of the highways throughout the state.

Senate bill 45, Hughes', providing for the use of voting machines at elections. The bill has a referendum clause.

Senate bill 121, Mueller's, giving county recorders of deeds authority to guarantee titles and empowering them to set aside certain fees for the purpose of creating an indemnity fund.

Senate bill 75, to prevent state's attorneys from being retained except by the public in any civil suit depending upon the same state of facts on which a criminal prosecution shall depend, passed by a vote of 114 yeas.

Insurance Bills Killed.

Senate bill 489 (judiciary committee's), to permit officers of fraternal beneficiary societies to testify in cases involving their societies, was tabled on motion of Mr. Bundy by a division vote of 50 yeas and 37 nays.

Senate bill 366 (Farnum's), exempting from taxation funds and property of fraternal beneficiary societies, was postponed on motion by Mr. Bundy.

No More Indeterminate Sentences.

Senate bill 481 [Haas], abolishing the indeterminate sentence law and empowering juries to fix sentences of persons convicted of felonies, was passed by a vote of 78 yeas to 38 nays. In explaining his vote Mr. Allen made an impassioned attack on the bill. His words were bitterly antagonistic to the principle of giving the state's attorneys the final appeal to the juries.

Mercantile Bill Dies.

Mr. Shanahan, who was in the chair nearly all day and all evening, put forth every effort to get out the bill exempting stock of mercantile corporations from assessment by the state board of equalization, but all attempts to get it out of its regular order were futile. The opposition, in fact, was so strong as to indicate the impossibility of passage of the bill even if it could have been placed on its passage. The last effort made was when Mr. Morris asked unanimous consent to call it up, but more than fifty members of the house arose to their feet and voiced their objection. Mr. Morris then moved to suspend the rules for the immediate consideration of the bill, and a viva voce vote on the question failed to decide. A division vote was then ordered, and the house by a vote of 56 yeas to 53 nays refused to suspend the rules for the purpose of taking up the bill out of its order.

Close to Adjournment.

At 11:10 Mr. Lindly offered a resolution providing for a committee of three to wait upon Gov. Yates and inform him that the house is ready to receive any communication he may desire to make before final adjournment. The resolution was adopted and the committee was appointed, consisting of Lindly, Rinaker, and Wilson.

Mr. Allen offered a resolution instructing the clerk to notify the senate that the house is ready to adjourn, and inquire if the senate has anything to communicate. The resolution was adopted.

At 1:20 a. m. Mr. Lindly reported that the governor had nothing further to communicate, whereupon, on motion of Representative Morris, the house adjourned sine die.

IMPORTANT BILLS PASSED BY LEGISLATURE AT SPRINGFIELD.

BILLS AFFECTING CHICAGO.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP, MUELLER BILL.—Senate bill 40 (Mueller's), providing for municipal ownership of street railways. The bill gives the municipalities of the state power to acquire, own, and operate street railways and to lease the same to any company incorporated under the laws of this state, for any period not longer than twenty years, on such terms as the city council shall provide. The enabling power to operate, however, must be approved by three-fifths of those voting on the question.

Cities are empowered to reserve in any grant to a railway company the right to take over such railway company's property at or before the expiration of the grant. They may also insert in such grant a provision to the effect that if the city does not exercise its power to take over the property, but shall grant a new franchise to another company in any streets occupied by the old company, then the new company shall be substituted in place of the city as to all obligations in taking over the tangible property. Franchise extensions may be granted in streets where tracks are already located without frontage petitioners. No franchise longer than five years shall be operative unless approved by the people.

If the city undertakes municipal operation it must fix its charges for service sufficiently high to produce revenue to meet operating expenses, and the principal and interest on whatever obligations the city assumes in the acquisition of street railway property.

TO ENLARGE SOUTH PARKS.—Senate bill 292 (Clark's), to authorize the south park commissioners to enlarge the parks under their control.

Senate bill 235 (Lundberg's), to permit the south park commissioners in Chicago to enlarge their system of parks by acquiring land which is not contiguous to existing parks and boulevards. The purpose is to create several new parks in the territory over which these commissioners have control.

Senate bill 287 (Lundberg's), to permit the south park commissioners of Chicago to levy an additional one-half mill tax for the improvement of new parks.

Senate bill 293 (Clark's), conveying to the South park commissioners of Chicago the land known as Grant park.

Senate bill 457, conveying to the South park commissioners the land abutting on Lake Michigan from the southeast corner of Jackson park to Seventy-ninth street, was passed.

ENLARGING LINCOLN PARK—Senate bill (Mueller's) empowering Lincoln park commissioners to fill in the lake front from Fullerton avenue to Cornelia street, reclaiming 215 acres; authorizing issue of $1,000,000 bonds.

TO CONNECT PARK SYSTEMS.—Senate bill 288 (Lundberg's), to enable park commissioners having control of parks bordering on public waters to enlarge and extend the same from time to time over the bed of such waters and granting submerged lands for such purposes. The bill contemplates the connection of Jackson and Lincoln parks in Chicago by a boulevard.

TO AID SMALL PARKS.—Senate bill 286 (Lundberg's), to permit the south park commissioners of Chicago to issue bonds in aid of small parks.

FIELD MUSEUM.—Senate bill 294 (Clark), to authorize the erection of the proposed Field museum on the lake front in Chicago.

TORRENS LAND TITLE LAW.—Senate bill 123 (Juul), requiring administrators, executors, and others having charge of real estate in trust to register the same under the Torrens land title land law. The registration is to be made under order of court and the court is to determine whether registration is necessary in cases where a protest against such registration is entered.

LAND CERTIFICATES.—Senate bill 398 (Juul), providing that in Cook county the county clerk shall include in the certificate of the purchase of land sold for taxes not to exceed one lot, block, tract, or piece of land as listed, assessed, and sold in one description except in cases where the same is owned by one person.

BILL TO AID A CHURCH.—Senate bill 114 (Dixon's), giving church corporations power to lease, improve, mortgage, bond, sell, or otherwise dispose of any real estate, in whole or in part, of which it may be possessed, for business purposes. The bill was passed for the benefit of the First Methodist church, Clark and Washington streets, Chicago, which desires to have a business building erected on its site.

AFFECTING TRAINED NURSES.—Senate bill 147 (Clark's), providing for the examination and licensing of trained nurses. The bill creates the office of assistant secretary of the state board of health, which officer is to be located in Chicago. The special duty of this officer is to be the examination and licensing of nurses.

TAX COLLECTION COSTS DIVIDED.—Senate bill 106 (Mueller's), providing that the collector of taxes in Cook county shall deduct 2 per cent of all taxes collected by the county, to be used in the payment of the necessary expenses of the board of assessors and board of review and other expenses connected with the assessment and collection of taxes. Under the old law the county has been required to bear all the expense of assessing and collecting the taxes of all the political divisions in the county. Under the bill each division will contribute to the expense.

ELECTION LAWS.—House bills 288, 289, 290, 297, 296, and 299 (Morris' and Stewart's), amending the election law in accordance with the recommendations of the Cook county election commissioners. The bills correct a number of defects in the language of the law. They also provide that it shall not be necessary for the judges of election to return the ballot boxes at the same time they make their return of the ballots.

House bill 716, providing roll calls in political conventions unnecessary except in delegation contests.

SCHOOL PENSION FUND.—House bill 802 (committee on education), to create a public school employés' pension fund in the city of Chicago. This bill is to be independent of the teachers' pension fund, and the act is to apply only to engineers, janitors, and office employés who voluntarily accept its provisions.

NEW JUDGES.—Senate bill 102 (Campbell's), providing for the appointment of an additional justice in the west town and an additional justice in the south town in Chicago.

CONDEMNATION FOR TELEPHONE COMPANIES.—Senate bill 240 (Evans'), giving telephone companies the right to invoke the law of eminent domain and condemn the right of way for their poles and wires.

RAISE OF DEATH DAMAGES.—Senate bill 431 (Gardner's), increasing the statutory limit of death damages from $5,000 to $10,000. The bill also amends the present law by providing that suits for death damages must be brought within one year. Under the old law a suit may be brought at any time within two years.

PROTECTION FOR TRAINMEN.—House bill 37 (Lurton's), requiring street railways to equip their cars with vestibules for the protection of motormen and conductors during the months of November, December, January, February, and March.

ENLARGING SANITARY DISTRICT—Senate bill 466 (Clark's), to permit the annexation of the Evanston and Calumet districts to the Chicago sanitary district, to authorize the sanitary trustees to develop the water power of the drainage channel, and to connect the Illinois and Michigan canal with the drainage canal.

FOR POLICE PENSION FUND—Senate bill 218, providing for a police pension fund in Chicago.

CRERAR LIBRARY BILL.—Senate bill 407, authorizing the construction of the Crerar library on the lake front in Chicago.

BILLS OF GENERAL EFFECT.

TO PROTECT BANK DEPOSITORS.—Senate bill 434 to amend the act for the protection of bank depositors so that it will read as follows: "That if any banker or broker, or person or persons doing a banking business in this state, shall receive from any person or persons, firm, company, or corporation, or from any agent thereof not indebted to said banker, broker, banking company, or incorporated bank, any money, check, draft, bill of exchange, stocks, bonds, or other valuable thing which is transferable by delivery, when at the time of receiving such deposit, said banker, broker, banking company, or incorporated bank is in his or its knowledge insolvent, whereby the deposit so made shall be lost to the depositor, said banker, broker, or officer, so receiving such deposit, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum double the amount of the sum so embezzled and fraudulently taken, and in addition thereto may be imprisoned in the state penitentiary not less than one, nor more than three years."

REGULATING SPEED OF AUTOMOBILES.—House bill 133 provides that the maximum speed at which one of these vehicles may be operated on a public street shall be fifteen miles an hour, except on streets where a higher rate is allowed by ordinance. It is made the duty of the operator of an automobile to stop his vehicle whenever it appears that a horse is becoming frightened by its approach. A fine of not less than $25 nor more than $250 is provided for violation of the law.

REGULATING CONVICT LABOR.—House bill 605. This bill is designed to abolish contract labor in the penitentiaries and the reformatory, and was drafted in compliance with a constitutional amendment which was adopted several years ago. The law goes into effect by May 1, 1904. Under it the prisoners are to be employed exclusively in the manufacture of articles to be used by the state or the political divisions thereof, and under no circumstance shall any of the products of their labor be sold upon the open market. The president of the board of prison industries, the president of the state board of charities, and the auditor are to fix the price at which all labor performed and articles manufactured for the state, or its institutions, and the various political divisions, shall be furnished.

REVISING THE GAME LAWS.—House bill 604.—Quail again protected, they having been left out of the law passed two years ago through a clerical error. Season from Nov. 10 to Dec. 30. Killing of prairie chickens is prohibited for a period of four years. The killing of wild ducks, geese, or brant for the market is strictly prohibited, and no person to be allowed to shoot more than twenty-five of these birds on one day. All provisions of the old law for the protection of wild birds are retained in the act, and several new sections are added to clear up technical points. Ten game wardens to serve under the state game commissioners.

TO PERPETUATE FORT MASSAC—The bill creates a board of trustees which shall have authority to receive a conveyance of forty acres of land on which the old fort is situated, and which is empowered to care for and improve the premises.

INCREASING THE SALARIES OF MEMBERS.—House bill 195 (S. E. Erickson's), increasing the salary of members of the general assembly from $1,000 to $2,000 for each regular session.

PROVIDING FOR BIRD DAY—Senate bill 312. The governor shall proclaim Arbor day as Bird day also; and that on this day exercises shall be held in the public schools for the purpose of impressing the pupils with the value of wild birds and the necessity for preserving them.

GOVERNING RECEIVERSHIPS.—Applicant for receiver must first give bond to the adverse party except when for good cause shown. In lieu of a receiver the court may permit the party in possession to retain possession upon giving bond.

STORING OF EXPLOSIVES.—Explosives shall not be stored within one-half mile of any dwelling house except with the consent of a majority of the people living within that radius.

CONTROLLING PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS.—A public accountant must first obtain a certificate from the University of Illinois after an examination by a board appointed by the university.

TO REGULATE DENTAL PRACTICE—Senate bill 158 provides for the appointment of five examiners, practicing dentists. Three must be recommended by the Illinois Dental association. Persons not registered under the present law must obtain a license. The board is also given authority to regulate dental colleges.

FACTORY INSPECTION—House bill 337 divides the state into fifteen inspection districts, increasing the force of inspectors by eight. The law makes it mandatory upon the state's attorneys to prosecute upon the request of the inspector.

CHILD LABOR LAW—House bill 634. The new act requires a school certificate or registration of birth before a permit shall be granted for such child to work. It applies to children between 14 and 16 years of age. It abolishes night work for all boys and girls under the age of 16. It reduces the hours they may be employed to eight. It requires a simple educational test and defines extra hazardous and dangerous employments at which minors under 16 are prohibited from being employed, and further prohibits children from engaging in occupations where their lives or limbs are endangered or where their morals may be depraved. It makes it unlawful for any child under the age of 14 to be engaged at any occupation in a theater or public place of amusement where liquor is sold.

NO MORE INDETERMINATE SENTENCES.—Senate bill 481 [Haas], abolishing the indeterminate sentence law and empowering juries to fix sentences of persons convicted of felony.

RESTRICTING SALE OF DRUGS.—Senate bill 405, to amend the pharmacy act by making it unlawful to retail cocaine, hydrochlorate, or any salts or compound of cocaine except upon prescription.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.—Senate bill 264 (Humphrey), provides that every person having control of any child between the ages of 7 to 14 years shall cause the child to attend some public or private school during the entire time during which school is in session, which period shall not be less than 110 days of actual teaching.

SCHOOL FOR CRIPPLES—Senate bill 452, authorizing boards of education to establish and maintain schools or classes for crippled children in the public schools, payment therefor to be made from the common school funds, was passed.

LAST SESSION OF THE SENATE.

Closing Hours of Upper Branch of Illinois Legislature Marked by Usual Confusion.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 8, 1 a. m.—[Special.]—Business in the senate was transacted in the midst of the usual confusion attendant upon the closing hours of the session. Early in the morning session Senator Cullom took a seat beside Lieut. Gov. Northcott. As soon as his presence was discovered the members of the senate greeted him by rising in a body to their feet.

The Cook county senators reported favorably on the confirmation of the following justices of the peace in Chicago: James C. Martin, to succeed himself, and John R. Caverly, to fill the office just created in South Chicago; John W. Bennett, to fill the office just created in West Chicago.

Minor Appropriations Agreed To.

Senator Gardner then called up the following appropriation bills, which were passed:

For the agricultural experiment station, $200,000.

For the Illinois Farmers' institute and the various county institutes, $35,300.

For the Illinois Dairymen's association, $3,000.

For the Illinois Live Stock Breeders' association, $1,000.

For an armory at Bloomington, $10,000.

For special expenses of the Western normal school, $27,025.

For the ordinary expenses of the Western normal school, $74,140.

For the Illinois and Michigan canal, $152,950.

For deficiency in the expenses of the state live stock commission, $4,500.

For completion of Western normal school, $100,000.

For deficiency in expenses of the state board of arbitration, $3,000.

To Henry F. and Martha J. Stowe on account of the death of their son George by drowning in the bathing pool at Camp Lincoln, $1,500.

For the relief of Jacob Kubler, $1,500.

For the purchase of a pine forest in Ogle county for a public park, $30,000.

For a commission to ascertain the cost of straightening and dredging the Gache river, $10,000.

For improvements at Camp Lincoln, $3,600.

For improvements at the Logan rifle range, $3,285.

For improvements in memorial hall, $4,684.

Making the salary of the secretary of the bureau of labor statistics $2,500 per annum.

Making the salary of the secretary of the board of arbitration $2,500 per annum.

For the Louisiana purchase exposition commission, the unexpended balance of the appropriation of two years ago, estimated at $235,000.

Other House Bills Passed.

Other house bills passed were as follows:

House bill, Lindly's, making it optional with counties whether they shall require tax books to be made in duplicate.

House bill, Blish's, providing that state's attorneys shall not receive any fees or be retained in any case except for the public in any civil case depending upon the same state of facts on which a criminal prosecution would depend.

Serve Without Pay.

The senate adopted the resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Farnum providing for the appointment of three senators to investigate the sanitary condition of the state institutions. Lieu. Gov. Northcott appointed Senators Farnum, Mueller, and Rainey as such committee. They will serve without compensation and will pay their own expenses.

At 12:30 p. m. the senate took a recess until 3 p. m.

Debate Over a Recess.

When the session resumed at 3 o'clock Senator Campbell called up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the senate concurred in the house joint resolution for sine die adjournment. In explanation of his action, he read for the information of the senate the letter which he and others received from Gov. Yates earlier in the day.

Senator Berry promptly moved to lay the motion on the table. "It seems to me," said he, "that there can be no possible reason why this general assembly should remain in session any longer. If this legislature has passed bad bills that the governor does not approve of it is his business and right to veto them. It is remarkable, it seems to me, for the governor to ask this legislature to remain in session a few days longer."

The motion to table was withdrawn in order that some of the senators might be heard on the question.

Senator Dunlap was in favor of granting the governor's request. "While I do not know the motive that inspired this request," said he, "I do know that in some states the legislature takes a recess for ten days just prior to the final adjournment in order that the governor may look over the bills. This gives the legislature an opportunity to reconsider any veto measures that may be sent in."

Refers to Traction Bill.

Senator Parker also favored a recess for ten days. "I suppose," said he, "that this matter has reference to the traction bills. I take it that the governor is perhaps considering that measure and determining what he ought to do about it. I do not know that to be a fact, because I have had no interview with him on the subject. That measure is one of extreme importance to the city of Chicago. I know nothing about the information upon which he is acting, but I believe that if he considers the matter of such importance as to merit further consideration at the hands of this legislature, we ought, under the circumstances, to grant his request."

Senator Berry declared if the legislature reassembled on May 14 after a recess of ten days, every measure that has been before it all winter would be presented again, and every interest in Cook county would return to Springfield to urge the passage of bills that had been left on the house calendar.

Governor's Request Refused.

The roll was then called on Senator Berry's motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider, and it prevailed by a vote of 27 to 11. Following is the vote in detail:

With the adjournment question out of the way Senator Humphrey arose and presented waySenator Humphrey arose and presented Lieut. Gov. Northcott with a large case of solid silver tableware. Lieut. Gov. Northcott responded, thanking the senators for the remembrance.

Messenger T. B. Scouten was also remembered. To him was given a gold watch and chain, the presentation being made by Senator Hughes.

More House Bills Passed.

The senate then proceeded on the order of bills on third reading, and the following were among those passed:

House bill 307, providing that it shall be unlawful to withhold any part of wages due employés beyond the regular pay day of a corporation under the pretext that the same is to be given to the employé as a present at the expiration of a certain fixed date on condition that the services of the employé are satisfactory.

House bill 239, providing that the county boards of supervisors may appoint judges of election and divide the election precincts at the regular June meeting.

House bill 803, giving the city of Chicago the right to acquire by condemnation proceedings and to establish and maintain streets for boulevard purposes through Groveland and Woodland parks and Douglas monument grounds.

House bill 170, prohibiting judges of the Circuit and Superior courts acting as attorneys.

For a Deep Waterway.

After the calendar had been cleared of all bills awaiting action Senator Clark offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the feasibility of making a deep waterway of the Chicago sanitary canal. It was adopted, and Senators Clark and Berry were appointed to make the investigation. The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, In view of the extensive manufacturing interests now being located upon and along the Calumet river, in the city of South Chicago; and,

"Whereas, It is of great importance that said river be enlarged and otherwise improved, if possible, so as to permit the egress and ingress of boats of heavy tonnage and large size; and,

"Whereas, It is important that such river, if possible, be so improved and enlarged for commercial and business purposes; and,

"Whereas, Information and facts are necessary in order to determine the advisability of such improvements, together with the proposed Calumet channel; therefore, be it

Report at Next Session.

"Resolved, by the senate, That a committee of two senators be and are hereby appointed for the purpose of examining into the feasibility and advisability and probable cost of such improvement, the necessity and value of such improvement when made, and such other facts as they may deem necessary in connection with and in relation to said improvements, and report said facts and conclusions to this senate as a basis for any action of this senate upon this question at its next regular session, in view of requesting the national government to make the appropriation asked for and for any other relief or assistance this senate may deem proper to request the national government in relation to the completion of the Calumet river and proposed Calumet channel and connecting the same with the Chicago drainage canal and waterway, and the said committee is instructed to make said report to this senate at the opening of the next session thereof."

The conference committees appointed to confer with like committees from the house on appropriation bills made reports. The reports were adopted.

Ready for Adjournment.

The senate then took a recess until 11 o'clock. When it reconvened the customary resolutions thanking the lieutenant governor, President Pro Tem. McKenzie, Chaplain Goodspeed, Secretary Paddock, Sergeant at Arms Harland, and the other officers for their services were adopted.

All business having been completed, the senate finally, at 1 o'clock this (Friday) morning, adjourned sine die.

DARROW EXPLAINS HIS VOTE.

Chicago Member Tells Why He Opposed Resolution of Thanks to Speaker Miller.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—Representative Darrow tonight made the following statement regarding his negative vote today on the adopting of Mr. Wilson's resolution pledging to Speaker Miller the confidence and congratulation of the house:

"I simply feel that the house required a revolt to get the constitutional rights of members in the matter of roll calls, and to now say that the speaker has done his duty is a stultification.

"Personally I have no criticism to make of the speaker. I like him, but to say that he has done his duty as speaker of this house is to say that the revolt of the 'ninety-seven' against gag rule was unjustifiable."

SHERMAN THE GUEST OF THE 39.

Former Speaker Given a Banquet by His Supporters in the Famous House Organization.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—The "Sherman 39" of the house gave ex-Speaker Sherman a banquet at the St. Nicholas hotel during the evening recess of the house. Mr. Allen presided as toastmaster, and Mr. Beitler presented the judge with a picture of the "39," the judge's picture being in the center of the group. It was decided to perfect a permanent organization with Judge Sherman as the leader.

BIG JUDGES' FUND; WHAT IS IT FOR?

Assessments on Republican Candidates Will Reach a Total of $54,000.

NO TALKS OR FIREWORKS

Cost, However, Will Exceed Half of the Stewart Mayoralty Campaign.

Friends of some of the nominees on the republican judicial ticket who refuse to believe the pending campaign requires an enormous campaign fund taken from the pockets of the candidates asserted yesterday that they will have to be shown." They are asking: "How is a campaign fund of $54,000 to be used in this judicial contest?"

"Why has each of the eighteen republican judicial nominees been 'assessed' $3,000 when there are no halls to be hired, no canvasses of wards to be made, no bands to be required, if present ideas are carried out, and none of the other hundred and one ways in which campaign funds are used is to be a factor in the present campaign?"

The general answer given last night was: "It's simply tribute levied by the powers that be, and Lorimer's favorites are to be the winners by this big fund."

"It might better be called the 'Lorimer campaign fund,'" said one prominent south side republican last night. "How the money is to be spent only the—well, only the Lorimer interests know. There are others of the party like myself who want to know something about this thing."

Provisionals May Escape.

But the republican executive committee, now looking for a chairman, denies all these insinuations. In the first place, its members say that "only" $45,000 will be raised, as the three "provisional" candidates for the Circuit court berths, whose existence is a mooted question as yet, are "not to be required to give a cent."

These nominees will give $3,000 checks, however, with a string attached, it being promised that, should the courts hold that the three new places do not exist, the money will be returned. But party members recall many campaigns where checks even with such strings have never been redeemed when once cashed and that cash used, the candidate affected being left on the political junk pile to smooth his feelings as best he could.

The recent republican mayoralty fight cost $300,000. But then there were halls to be rented, canvasses to be made of every precinct by paid workers, thousands of documents to be printed and posted, bands to be rented, and fireworks to be burned.

The executive committee say the coming campaign is to be a fight, not a political walking match. They say the "assessment" problem will not be finally settled until this afternoon, when representatives of the candidates will meet with the executive committee. Last night, too, they asserted they had found a chairman to handle the campaign. They say E. S. Conway, county chairman, will return from New York on Monday and take the helm. So the chair, which County Treasurer Hanberg refused to take, will be filled.

Secretary Magerstadt Explains.

Secretary E. J. Magerstadt of the committee tried to explain the problem last night.

"I don't know anything about the assessment," he asserted, "but I do know something about the cost of a campaign."

"But the candidates have received letters demanding $3,000 from each," he was reminded.

"Well, that was left in the hands of a subcommittee," was the reply. "Each candidate is to have his own representative on a special committee. That committee will run the campaign. The executive committee will merely advise these personal representatives of the candidates."

Costs Money to Man Polls.

"But where is the money to go?" was asked.

"Well, if the campaign is run on $3,000 a candidate it will be the cheapest judicial campaign ever run in Cook county in a decade," was the reply. "There is a fight on. It costs money to man the polls. The judicial election does not hold out opportunities of any places for the 'boys.' Why, there isn't even a place for a scrubwoman so far as patronage goes. So you've got to pay the fellows who give up their time and man the polls. You need three men in each precinct, if the ground is cared for properly. In the First, Eighteenth, and parts of the Nineteenth and Twenty-nth wards you may need ten men to a precinct, or you won't get your votes counted. You've got to pay $5 for the day to each of the watchers at the polls. There are 1,356 precincts in the county. So there is an item of expense of $25,000. You can't get away from it."

"Well, how about the remainder of the fund?"

"Well, you send out some literature. If you send out the usual amount under 1 cent stamps it costs $6,000; 2 cent stamp stuff costs $14,000 to cover the county—addressing and everything. Just tack that on. That makes over $35,000. At that, you haven't allowed a cent for a badge, nor for the renting of a single hall."

"Say they want meetings of 1,000 in the wards. You can't hold such a meeting for less than $150; why? Well, 2 cent mail notices to say 3,000 people, cost $60, the addressing costs $15 more, the hall costs $40, handbills, bunting, and stuff $25 more, and there you have $140, and nothing said of the band at all. That's one meeting. One in each of the twenty wards will cost $3,000 at the least. And they may want three or four."

But the friends of the candidates—except in the Lorimer circle—assert that they intend to keep a close eye on the way the purse strings are handled.

To Represent Candidates.

A meeting of the executive committe in the afternoon was attended by most of the representatives of the candidates. These are:

Fred W. Upham for Frederick A. Smith.
D. J. Schuyler Jr. for D. J. Schuyler Sr.
Homer K. Galpin for W. S. Elliott.
Arthur Dixon for Elbridge Haney.
George A. Carpenter for A. M. Pence.
Stillman B. Jamieson for John Gibbons.
James Rosenthal for A. J. Hirschl.
Harry F. Atwood for H. O. Sprogle.
A. R. Porter for L. D. Condee.
Herman Ahrens for E. B. Eaher.

Special requests were sent to Judges Horton, Burke, Tuthill, Neely, and Brentano, to L. C. Collins, A. J. Pfaum, and Jesse A. Baldwin urging them to name their representatives and have them at today's meeting.

Arthur Dixon presided at the meeting, and then the story went out that he would take charge of the campaign. But it was finally announced that Mr. Conway would take charge next Monday.

Bar Vote Is Heavy.

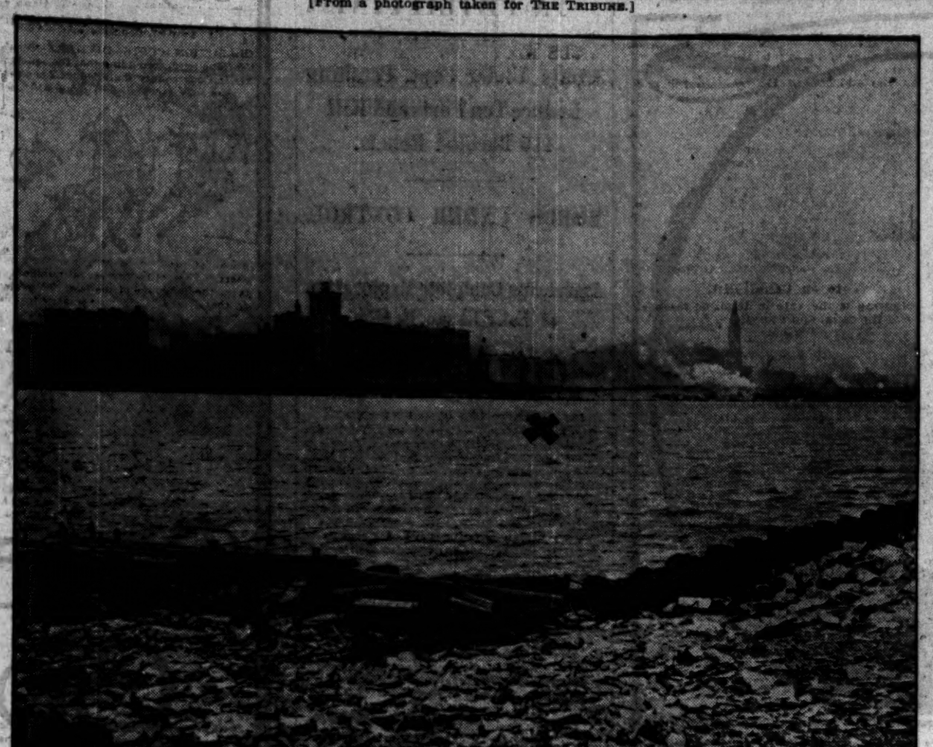

When the afternoon returns were in yesterday it was found that 583 out of the 840 members of the Chicago Bar association had cast their votes in the bar primary on judicial candidates. The voting will end at 1 o'clock today, and it is hoped there will be practically a full vote. A number of the members who have been at Springfield will return this morning.

"On his return home from Springfield Sheriff Barrett will have a chance to show how much he desires the democratic judicial ticket to succeed. He can do this by appointing a number of the democratic hustlers living out in the country towns to jobs in his office."

The foregoing is the idea of the county executive committee, which named a delegation yesterday with Samuel Shaw Parks, one of the judicial candidates, at the head of it, to call on Mr. Barrett and see what could be done towards adjusting the matters complained of by the country town members at last Tuesday's meeting. They had said that party workers in their districts who believed they were entitled to places under the sheriff had been snubbed, and that unless something could be done the country districts would take no interest in the campaign and election.

FIELD MUSEUM TO BE LOCATED OFF FOOT OF CONGRESS STREET.

[From a photograph taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

The Field Columbian museum's new building, to be erected by Marshall Field, will be located off the foot of Congress street, on filled in land. In the above picture, made from a photograph taken from the breakwater off Twelfth street, the proposed site is marked by a cross. The body of water shown, which is between Michigan avenue and the breakwater, will be filled in as preliminary to building operations. For this work the south park board will use part of the $3,000,000 bond issue, if the bond proposition is approved by the voters.

"We'll have the finest park in the world right in the heart of Chicago," said Henry G. Foreman, president of the south park board. "It will extend from the breakwater to Michigan avenue and from Randolph street to Park row—200 acres—and no expense will be spared to make it the finest park in this or any other country. After the June election, which we expect will give us the right to issue bonds for the work, the committee will be called together and the most famous landscape gardeners in the country will be asked to submit their plans in a prize competition."

"It is too early to talk about detailed plans for the museum," said H. N. Higinbotham. "Nothing can be done until the return of F. J. V. Skiff, manager of the exhibits at the museum, who is in St. Louis. Before the architects begin to work on plans it is of importance to ascertain the exact amount of floor space required, and Mr. Skiff is best able to furnish this information."

TWO COMMITTEES NAMED

RIVAL STREET RAILWAY SHAREHOLDERS MEET.

Majority, Representing 33,438 Shares, Selects "Protective" Body at Grand Pacific, While the Minority, Who Favor Radical Action, Gather at Sherman House—May Yet Unite—State Court Will Take Up Petition to Wind Up Leasehold Company.

was a skirmish at the start between Maurice Rosenfeld and Levy Mayer, the former asking for an announcement as to the amount of stock represented, and Mr. Mayer saying it was not necessary. C. C. Adsit expressed the hope that a satisfactory committee might be named at the Grand Pacific meeting which would make all further proceedings unnecessary, but Mr. Rosenfeld insisted on knowing what stock was represented.

A call from the chairman talled of any answer, but it was announced afterwards that 9,818 shares were present in person or by proxy.

Mr. Townsend read a long statement, going into the legal and financial aspects of the situation. It insisted the situation was such the stockholders of the North Chicago company must look after their own interests, as the officers of the Union Traction company could not be expected to do it for them, and then, reviewing the history of the formation of the committee, gave this reference to a possible attempt to break the lease of the North Chicago company's property to the Union Traction company:

"If it be finally determined that it is advisable that your company should attempt to cancel the unfair and unjust lease of June 1, 1899, then those representing you should be strong and firm enough, no matter what influences are brought to bear upon them, to take the proper steps to bring on such cancellation."

The financial showing of the traction company, the speaker urged, demonstrated the necessity of the shareholders uniting for their own protection. After instructing the four members of the protective committee left after the resignation of Messrs. Blair, Willing, Raymond, and Warner to act for the meeting the gathering adjourned.

Attack the Tripartite Agreement.

Part of the famous tripartite agreement between the Union Traction company and the West and North Chicago street railway companies was characterized at the Sherman house meeting as unfair. It is the provision that the Union Traction company shall deposit the sum of $10,000,000 in cash, which shall be a fund to guarantee the payment of rentals due the two underlying companies, and was so modified as to read " or in securities of such kind and in such amount as may be approved by the said parties of the first and second parts."

As Mr. Yerkes was the person who passed on the kind and amount of securities to be deposited in lieu of cash, he obligingly sold to the Union Traction company 20,000 shares of North Chicago stock and 32,000 shares of West Chicago stock for $8,740,000. This stock Mr. Yerkes consented should be substituted for the $10,000,000 cash. Its market value is now $4,540,000, and is all the security the west and north side companies have for the payment of their rentals.

Defense Planned for Today.

The defense, which will be made in Judge Chytraus' court this morning, when the application for a writ ordering the winding up of the affairs of the Union Traction company under the state law as an insolvent corporation is to be made, will be that the property is already in the hands of the federal court and such action by the state court would result in a conflict of jurisdiction. It will be urged also that, inasmuch as the plaintiffs in the action are neither judgment nor liquidated creditors, but simply claimants for an indefinite sum on account of personal injuries, they are not in position to sustain any such action.

The same objection will be made to the attempt under this proceeding to fix the liability of the holders of the $20,000,000 worth of common stock of the Union Traction for the par value of their holdings under the claim that the stock was given as a gift or bonus, and for it no cash was paid into the company's treasury.

As to this attempt to fix the liability of these holders of this common stock, it is reported that other lawyers representing more direct creditors of the Union Traction company are contemplating the same course, and if such a suit is brought it will prove an important and long drawn out one.

"Mark Twain's" House Sold.

Hartford, Conn., May 7.—[Special.]—The celebrated residence of Samuel L. Clemens ("Mark Twain"), in Farmington avenue, has been sold. The purchaser is Richard M. Bissell, who recently came here from Chicago to take a position as vice president of the Hartford Fire Insurance company. The price put upon the property was $60,000.

DEATH IN PATH OF TRAIN.

TWO MEN AT DIFFERENT POINTS KILLED BY SAME CARS.

Both Accidents Occur Within Two Miles on St. Paul Road and but a Few Minutes Apart — Crew Twice Called On to Remove Mangled Bodies of Victims from Beneath Wheels—Engineer Says Fatalities Were Unavoidable.

Two men run over and killed, at different points within two miles, was the record made in a few minutes yesterday afternoon by one passenger train on the St. Paul railroad.

Engineer George Brown and Conductor Altenburn, who were in charge of the train, assisted in taking both of the mangled bodies of the victims from beneath the wheels.

The Victims.

Pearson was working on the tracks at Catewood, Ill., when the train came upon him unexpectedly, and before he could get out of the way he was run down and the wheels passed over his body.

The train was stopped, the body removed, and the authorities notified. The trip was resumed, and at Forty-fifth avenue Chmicee, also working on the tracks, was run down and met the same fate that had befallen Pearson.

Says Accidents Were Unavoidable.

Engineer Brown was questioned closely by the police of the Attrill street station, and he explained that both of the accidents were unavoidable. A coroner's jury will question the engineer more thoroughly at the inquest to be held over the bodies of the victims today.

Street Cars in Collision.

Two electric cars collided at Forty-third and Halsted streets yesterday morning, and seven persons were injured severely, while nearly a score of passengers sustained slight injuries. A Wallace street and Center avenue car was standing on the southbound tracks when a Halsted street car came up behind it and telescoped it.

The Injured.

Fitch, Miss Lillian E., assistant principal of Brown school, 674 West Monroe street; leg broken; taken home.
Flynn, Mrs. Anna, Thirty-seventh and Wallace streets; hip broken; taken home by policemen.
Furey, Mrs. Anna, 698 West Thirty-third street; head cut, scalp wounds; taken home.
Koerber, ——, conductor, Wallace and Center car; body bruised.
Lockwood, H. S., 6835 Halsted street; conductor Halsted street car; thrown against car; head cut, legs injured; taken home.
Miller, ——, motorman, Wallace and Center car; head pushed through pane of glass in vestibule; severe cuts.
Sellenden, O. D., motorman, Halsted street car; jammed against the car; injuries slight.

Sellenden was a new motorman and he lost control of his car. He disappeared after the accident and the police were unable to find him. It is presumed that he miscalculated the distance between the two cars and when he attempted to use the brakes they did not act quickly enough.

BEULAH JACOBS. IN TEARS, RETURNS AND IS FORGIVEN.

Father of Eloping Girl Says He Will Seek to Secure the Arrest of Earl McCormick.

Beulah Jacobs, the 16 year old girl who eloped on Tuesday, returned in tears to her father's house, 4916 Champlain avenue, yesterday afternoon. When she appeared Mr. Jacobs was searching for her in another part of town, but her mother, who had been prostrated since the alleged runaway with Earl McCormick, welcomed the girl with open arms. Later Mr. Jacobs returned and granted her forgiveness.

"I shall secure the arrest of young McCormick at the earliest opportunity," said Mr. Jacobs. "After enticing Beulah downtown and getting possession of $50 of her money, which she supposed was to start them in housekeeping after they were married, he deserted her. It is my belief that his desire to secure the money caused him to weave the details of a romantic marriage, which he knew would appeal to Beulah's imagination.

"After he secured the money he left Beulah sitting at a table in a downtown restaurant and went, so she supposed, to purchase a cigar. He did not return, and after waiting three hours the girl became frightened and went to the home of her cousin on the west side. There she has since been staying.

"I think the young man first made himself interesting to Beulah when he drew pen pictures of her. His skill won her admiration and he came to have influence over her. But she now sees the matter in the right light."

BAKERS PUSH UP PRICES.

BUNS, CAKES, ROLLS, AND CRULLERS WILL COST MORE.

Advance to Be Made at Once Is Decided On at Meeting Held at Uhlich's Hall—Increase Is in Both Wholesale and Retail — Striking Waiters at Kohlsaat Restaurant Pre-empt Seats and Eat Till Regular Customers Are Driven Away.

The Master Bakers' association last night decided on an advance of 25 per cent to the wholesale trade and 20 per cent to the retail dealers in the price of buns, rolls, cakes, cookies, and crullers. The decision was reached at a meeting held in Uhlich's hall, 27 North Clark street. By this action, which is to take effect immediately, the price of the smaller bakery goods is raised from 8 to 10 cents a dozen wholesale, and from 10 to 12 cents retail.

It is claimed that the increase is made necessary by the advanced prices for flour, lard, and butter. The question of advancing the price of bread was discussed, but voted down.

The Master Bakers' association is a combination of the bakery owners, which claims to have a membership of 500 of the 800 organized bakers of the city. A number of the large bakeries have already advanced prices.

Eat to Win Their Strike.

Forty-three of the striking negro waiters of H. H. Kohlsaat & Co. marched into the only restaurant the company was operating yesterday noon and took seats about the lunch counters. For over two hours they remained there, eating and drinking slowly, and then filed out.

The restaurant, which is at 48 Dearborn street, was in a state of confusion while the negros were there. The regular patrons entered and tried to find seats. After waiting in vain for the strikers to leave they departed.

Every few moments Sam Worthington, who had charge of the brigade, would watch the crowd waiting for seats and tip off to his followers that it was time for another cup of coffee. All watched him, and whatever he ordered they repeated. When the noon hour was over and the rush time past, Worthington got up and went to the cashier. He put down 15 cents for his meal, some of the others paying a dime, and few as high as a quarter.

Pray for Success of Strike.

Later in the afternoon the strikers met in their headquarters, at 510 State street, and in the evening many of them went to a prayer meeting at a hall near Twelfth street, where the burden of appeal was for a successful issue of the strike.

During the afternoon the policemen on guard at the rear of the restaurant at 161 Washington street were startled by the explosion of a giant firecracker thrown by a picket. For a time they thought a bomb had been used, and a call for an extra force of police was made.

Secretary H. J. Conway of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday offered President F. A. Barnheisel the services of that organization, which were accepted, and today a conference will be held between the executive board of the federation, representatives of the company, and the officers of the union. An adjustment of the trouble is expected.

Charles Russell, a private detective employed by H. H. Kohlsaat & Co., and Thomas Farrell and John McKenzie, union pickets, arrested in connection with a disturbance growing out of the strike, were arraigned before Justice Prindiville yesterday. Russell was accused of striking Mary Collins, a girl picket. His case was continued till May 9. Farrell was fined $5 and costs, and McKenzie's case was continued.

Barbers Want Shorter Hours.

The barbers of the south side have decided that beginning June 1 they will refuse to work after 8 p. m., except on Saturday, when the time will be extended to 10 p. m. On Sundays they are determined to cease work at noon. These demands will be filed with the proprietors of shops, and if refused, it is said, a strike will be called.

WORRIED BY LABOR TROUBLES.

Citizens of Hammond Uneasy Over Disputes Which Threaten the Business Prosperity of the Town.

The labor situation has become so serious in Hammond, Ind., that the citizens there are becoming uneasy over the outlook. Contractors have united to oppose the wage scale demanded by the building trade unions and which has caused strikes by a number of men. In addition to this conflict a general strike by the butchers employed by the Hammond packing house is threatened today, following the strike of the firemen.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7.—Among the passengers who arrived from the orient on the Japanese steamer Nippon Maru today was Lieut. Algernon Sartoris, grandson of the late Gen. U. S. Grant. Lieut. Sartoris recently retired from his regiment in the Philippines, his resignation having been accepted by the war department.

SEEK TO SETTLE LAUNDRY STRIKE

Peace Conference Held and the Trouble Is Brought Nearer to Adjustment.

POWER TO ACT IS ASKED.

Two Committees of Three May Be Given Authority to Patch Up the Trouble.

Clean linen probably will cease to be at a premium early next week, as the laundry owners and their striking employés held a preliminary peace meeting yesterday afternoon and arranged for a series of adjustment conferences.

The meeting was called secretly for fear that outside interference would prevent the formation of a scheme of settlement satisfactory to both sides. After a discussion lasting more than three hours it was agreed that a joint committee of three owners and three employés should ask full power to take up all questions in dispute, except, perhaps, that of recognition of the union.

Those at the peace meeting attempted to solve the recognition question by asking the employers to hire members of the union when possible and to allow the organization of such employés as might desire to join the union. They proposed, further, that all charges of discrimination be taken up by a joint committee of employers and employés.

Object to Recognition.

Last night, however, at a meeting of the executive board of the Laundry Owners' association, it was agreed that the proposition of a peace committee of three be accepted, but the members were unanimous in opposing recognition of the union. All declared that they would agree not to discriminate against union men, but they would go no further.

The executive board of the union also considered the peace proposition and informally agreed to accept it.

Both sides will send their representatives to another meeting today, when some other proposition on the recognition question will be drawn up. This in turn will be submitted to the executive boards, and if accepted by both the adjustment of the wage scale will be taken up.

Owners Have Strong Support.

The opposition to recognition of the union is said to have come partly from the Employers' association, which the laundry owners joined at the beginning of the strike. Secretary Frederick W. Job of that organization is opposed to any agreement that gives a labor union any recognition further than a promise that the employers will not discriminate.

Rather than concede recognition the Employers' association is said to be willing to advance money to the laundry owners for a protracted fight. The questions of wages and hours are held to be of less importance.

At the peace conference yesterday the representatives of the owners were J. A. Barkey of the Schriver Laundry company, Adolph Bernard and C. I. Goodhart of Goodhart's laundry. Representing the union were T. C. Wilson, G. B. Francis, and H. B. Schoenfield.

See Hope of Settlement.

After a discussion of the points at issue the following report was drawn up for submission to the respective organizations:

We, the undersigned committee representing the employers and employés in the strike controversy now on hand in the laundry industry, believe that if a joint committee of three from each of our respective organizations is granted full power to act that in joint conferences it can arrive at a satisfactory settlement.

The greater part of the time was spent in talking over the first clause in the agreement of the laundry workers' union, which provides that the employers shall "hire none but members in good standing of the union" and that all new help must join that organization "within two weeks after being hired."

Terms That Were Rejected.

The conference on this point led to the following compromise, which later was rejected by the employers:

The employer agrees to hire members in good standing of the above named union in each branch or department, when possible to hire them. When union help cannot be procured the employer may hire outside help with the understanding that such help may join the union if it so desires.

When use of the union label is desired none but members of the union in good standing shall be employed, and in the event of the union being unable to furnish help, the owner is at liberty to employ whom he may see fit with the understanding that such employés must make application for membership to the union within twenty-four hours after receiving employment.

While peace was being planned those unacquainted with the move kept up the warfare. There was a massmeeting of 3,000 girls at the Seventh regiment armory in the morning, the girls agreeing to stand together to the last.

FUGITIVE CAUGHT AT TRAIN: BIG EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

Walter Crandall, Former Modern Woodmen's Employe at Rock Island, Arrested in Chicago.

Arrested as he was entering a train in Ravenswood, Walter Crandall, charged with forgery and the embezzlement of more than $12,000 from the Modern Woodmen of America, was given into the custody of the sheriff of Rock Island, Ill., and left last night for Rock Island.

Crandall had been employed as confidential clerk in the offices of the headquarters of the lodge at Rock Island, and fled on Feb. 28 when the treasurer started an investigation of the accounts. Numerous alleged forgeries of warrants were discovered, these being used, it is charged, to cover the peculations. The thefts extended from Oct. 18, 1901, to Feb. 7, 1903. Crandall's methods were to forge a warrant on the treasurer, make the proper entries, and pocket the proceeds, the police say.

Crandall, it is charged, also made money out of the death claims. When persons entitled to receive payments on death claims called Crandall would state that there was a considerable sum due the office for clerical work, assessments, and other accounts. When the settlement was made a check would be drawn for the full amount, and Crandall would go with the payee to have the check cashed, and would then demand a rebate of the amount which he had previously stated belonged to the office.

An acquaintance of Crandall yesterday telephoned the detective bureau that he was visiting in Ravenswood, but detectives could not find him, and were about to return, when they met him on the platform of the elevated railroad.

The police say that Crandall intended going to Waukegan, where he planned to board a train for the northwest. He had little to say last evening when Sheriff Heider took him to the Grand Central depot to board a train for Rock Island, where he will have to face the charges which the fraternal organization has made against him.

DETECTIVES STILL UNDER FIRE.

Chief of Police O'Neill Receives Report from Tierney, Rohan, and McWeeny.

Chief of Police O'Neill has received a report from Detective Tierney and Lieuts. McWeeny and Rohan regarding the locking up of prisoners without booking and regarding other acts of neglect with which the detective bureau is accused. The report is not satisfactory to the chief, and further investigation will be made. A general inquiry into the conduct of the detectives will likely lead to a reorganization of the bureau. This may be done at the time the mayor makes his cabinet appointments. The incompetency of a number of the detectives is admitted.

INGRATE SON IS CAUGHT.

ARRESTED AFTER ROBBING MOTHER SIX YEARS AGO.

John Kraft Pleads with the Parent He Deprived of $1,200, and There May Be No Prosecution, Although the Police Hope to Be Able to Press the Case—Another Mother Relents Because She Has "Boys of Her Own"—Holdup's Bullet May Kill.

A man who robbed his widowed mother of $1,200 six years ago was arrested yesterday. The result? Tears and forgiveness by the mother, but the police, notwithstanding, will make every effort to punish the undutiful son for his crime.

John Kraft, the prisoner, lived with his mother at 44 Blanch street, when he learned that she had the $1,200 hidden away in a closet. One day, when his mother was away, Kraft searched for the money, found it, and then left on a trip through the south and west.

He returned to Chicago yesterday morning and ran into the arms of Sergeant Regan of the Rawson street police station, who recognized him from the description furnished the police six years ago.

Pleads with His Mother.

Kraft broke down and confessed, and his mother, being notified of his arrest, visited the station.

"Mother, I'm unfit to live," Kraft said. "I went from here to Memphis, Tenn., where I played the races. From there I went to New Orleans, and then to California. I followed the races all the time, and your $1,200 lasted me four years, but I haven't a cent now."

Kraft promised his mother, with tears in his eyes, that he would reform if allowed to go free, and Mrs. Kraft buried her head on her son's shoulder and wept.

The police fear that the woman cannot be induced to prosecute.

Has Boys; Pities Others.

Because she had boys of her own Mrs. Mary Carron, 143 Garfield boulevard, refused to prosecute Edward and Fred Farrington, negroes, for the theft of her pocketbook. The boys, 16 and 18 years old, were arraigned before Justice Hennessey in the Englewood police court yesterday morning.

"Do you wish to prosecute?" Mrs. Carron was asked.

"No, I do not," she replied.

"Why?" demanded the justice.

"The only reason that I have," answered Mrs. Carron, "is that I have boys of my own."

The prisoners were released and were allowed to keep the pocketbook, which, they declared, they found on the rear step of Mrs. Carron's home.

Boy "Bandit" Comes Back.

Bert Rossiter, aged 12 years, has decided to abandon the career of highwayman, after a thorough investigation of the holdup business. He returned to his home at 1308 West Congress street yesterday and later told his troubles to the police.

For two weeks the police have been seeking young Rossiter, who disappeared from his home with $60 belonging to his father, Peter Rossiter. With him went William Willmert and Henry Schubert, each 2 years his senior. All were bent on becoming "bad men."

Rossiter, as the treasurer of the trio, assumed command until the boys arrived in Omaha, and then, when Rossiter announced his intention to return to Chicago, his followers revolted. According to the boy, one of the revolvers purchased in Chicago for Indian warfare was held to his head, and $45 was taken from his pockets by the other boys.

Rossiter beat his way home on freight trains, and the police and parents of his companions are now seeking the other runaways.

Robbers' Victim May Die.

Frank Morowski, who was shot by robbers in the dark alley in the rear of his home, at 777 Noble street, late Wednesday night, and was taken to St. Mary's hospital, was reported last night to be failing rapidly, and it was said he was not expected to live until morning.

Three men who were arrested in connection with the case were taken to the hospital last night in order to give Morowski an opportunity to identify them, but the wounded man was unconscious. The names of the prisoners are withheld by the police.

When attacked by the robbers Morowski had only $2 and a cheap watch in his pockets.

Nap Costs Him $700.

Worn out by a long railroad trip Peter Griffin, a farmer living near Cleveland, O., took a nap yesterday morning in the Grand Central passenger station and his short rest cost him $700. Griffin arrived in Chicago from California, where by hard work he had saved the money, with which he intended to pay off a mortgage on his farm in Ohio. When he fell asleep the leather wallet containing the cash was taken from his pocket.

Boy Horse Thief Arrested.

Egbert Davis, 16 years old, who is wanted in Aurora for horse stealing, was arrested yesterday in Austin while driving the team which he had stolen. Davis admitted his guilt.

Teacher Loses Her Jewelry.

Burglars yesterday ransacked the apartments of Miss E. Willson, a school teacher, living at 1140 Jackson boulevard, and secured jewelry valued at $150.

MONEY SAVED BY A MASTIFF.

Dog Prevents Robbers from Securing $100 and Plays Part in the Capture of a Thief.

A mastiff in the house of H. Vietoris, 2503 South Canal street, saved $100 from burglars and caused the capture of Michael McFarland, one of the thieves, yesterday afternoon. McFarland's companion escaped by jumping nearly twenty feet from a window.

Mrs. Vietoris left the house at 12:30 o'clock, and soon afterward the burglars cut through a panel of the door and turned the spring lock. The mastiff attacked McFarland's companion, but the animal was shoved inside a bedroom and the door was locked before it could do the man much damage. Unfortunately for the robbers, all the money in the house was in the room with the dog.

The two robbers made a search of every room, throwing the contents of bureau drawers on the beds, taking covers from tables, and even removing the pictures from the walls. They broke open the baby's bank, securing about a dollar in pennies.

When the thieves were preparing to leave, Mrs. Mary Ebenezer, a neighbor, heard the barking of the dog and notified the police. A squad of patrolmen found one man escaping from a window, while McFarland was trying to hide behind the piano.

"I am working," McFarland declared. "A man hired me to pack a trunk."

The prisoner was taken to the station, where it was learned he was proprietor of a billiard room at 2214 Wentworth avenue until two years ago, since which time he has been without regular employment.

ROBS RESIDENCE OF DR. TURCK.

Burglar, in the Guise of a Carpet Cleaner, Takes Away Money and Jewelry.

A colored burglar, employing a ruse, entered the residence at 151 Rush street, into which Dr. Fenton B. Turck recently moved, and stole $137 worth of jewelry and money.

The thief appeared late in the afternoon and told Mrs. Turck her husband had sent him to the house to clean carpets and furniture. Mrs. Turck believed him and allowed him to enter the house. An hour later he left by the rear door, supposedly to beat a rug. He did not return, and Mrs. Turck, fearing something was amiss, notified her husband. A search of the house revealed that the following articles were stolen:

One gold watch, valued at $75.
One gold chain, valued at $30.
Set of pearl studs, valued at $25.
Leather purse containing $7.

DISLIKE STRIKE, BUT UPHOLD IT.

Walkout of the Engineers at Stockyards Is Indorsed by the Union.

FAIL TO CLOSE A PLANT.

Packers Issue a Statement and Say They Will Soon Have All the Men Needed.

The strike of the steam engineers at the Union stockyards was indorsed last night at a general meeting of the union despite a strong sentiment among the men that it was unwarranted and ill advised.

Many of the members of the organization were prepared to fight the walkout and demand that Business Agent Neill McCallum be called to account, but when he made his report not a word of protest was heard, and it was not debated. The action of the union will mean a long continued fight, for it leaves McCallum in control, and he declared he was determined to force the packers to sign the union wage and hour schedules regardless of outside interference.

While the engineers sustained their leader, there was general dissatisfaction among the officers of the other unions having men employed in the yards. They assert that the engineers had no just grievance against the packers and that a strike should not have been called. All the stockyard unions are pledged to arbitration and do not approve of McCallum's action in breaking away from that policy.

John C. Driscoll, secretary of the Associated Teaming Interests, took sides with the packers yesterday and demanded that President W. G. Schardt and the executive board of the Chicago Federation of Labor take up the dispute. He wrote an indignant letter to Schardt informing him that the engineers are bound to the findings of an arbitration decision and should be made to live up to them.

Fail to Shut Down a Plant.

The packers controlling the large plants took no steps to procure peace during the day, for they have agreed to fight the matter out. All have licensed engineers outside of their engine rooms, and these were put in the strikers' places. Not a plant was forced to close down, though several were crippled. It was announced informally during the day that a sufficient number of men will be secured before the close of the week to fill every vacancy.

The engineers made an attempt during the afternoon to get the firemen to join in the strike but failed. Business Agent Joseph Morton of the firemen held a conference with the packers regarding a new wage scale for his men, and would not permit them to jeopardize their chances of obtaining it by becoming parties to a strike that has been generally condemned.

The firemen are now getting from 18 to 21 cents an hour for twelve hours' work. They ask for 25 cents an hour for eight hours' work, and after the conference yesterday one of the packers declared that their request probably will be granted, but that a few more adjustment meetings will have to be held.

Packers Issue a Statement.

The packers were unwilling to talk about the trouble, but late in the afternoon George J. Brine of Armour & Co. issued the following statement of their position:

When the discussion commenced the engineers demanded an eight hour day at 77½ cents an hour. There were many interviews between the packers and engineers, and finally the packers offered to submit the entire matter to arbitration. This offer was flatly refused and the men were called out.

They came back a day or two later and accepted the offer to arbitrate. An arbitration board was then selected, names having been submitted by each side to the controversy. After many meetings, covering a period of twenty-two days, a decision was reached by the board.

Before the arbitration commenced, and before any evidence was taken, the engineers, together with the representatives of the packers, agreed absolutely to abide by any decision that might be reached, and ex-Judge Prentiss, who conducted the engineers' case before the board, said, during his argument, that the decision, when reached, would be binding on all parties.

After the award was made and submitted in writing an agreement was signed by ex-Judge Prentiss as attorney for the engineers and Attorney Peaks for the packers that its terms would be binding on the engineers and packers for one year.

We know of no reason why the men were called out by the organization yesterday. On the contrary, our men expressed themselves as being perfectly satisfied with existing conditions.

All the packers at the stockyards are now running their plants precisely as usual with their own men. None of them has been taken from the outside. They are all licensed engineers, and we anticipate no trouble whatever in carrying on our business.

McCallum Tells His Side.

In his report McCallum did not agree with the statement of Mr. Brine. He declared that late Monday night two of the engineers from Swift & Co. came to him with the assertion that they had been discharged because they were members of the union. He said that he had investigated their case, and when he found the statement correct had called out the men in all of the plants.

He declared further that he felt justified in doing so, as the packers had broken the decision of the arbitrators, making it null and void. This view was taken by the union, which, as one of the dissatisfied members said, "was willing to stand for anything in its present wrath against the clerical arbiters."

McCallum closed his report by announcing that the following small firms had signed the union agreement:

Standard Slaughtering company.
Pfaelzer & Co.
Adler & Oberndorf.
Miller & Hart.
Vilas & Hobbins.
David Berg & Co.
Louis Pasbon.
Roberts & Oake.
National Provision company.

RALLY FOR FIGHT IN OMAHA.

Business Men Arrange Plans and Are Waiting to See Effect of Federal Injunction.

Omaha, Neb., May 7.—All the larger firms in the city affected by the strike of teamsters and their sympathizers prepared to get their business started today under protection of the injunction issued by the federal court, but at a meeting of the Business Men's association it was decided to await the result of the injunction before taking further action. The restaurant men also held a meeting, and it was given out that they could do nothing until they could move supplies of provisions. None of the large restaurants was open this morning, and they probably will remain closed today. The saloons were all closed again, and the entire police force is on duty in the downtown districts.

Sheriff Power of this county tonight issued a proclamation to the people and especially to the strikers. He states that he has been called on by the chief of police of the city to assist in preserving order and that he has sworn in fifty deputies for that purpose. The proclamation asserts that every means will be used to prevent violence, and that vehicles of all descriptions and drivers will receive full protection.

Secretary Wilcox of the teamsters' union scoffed at the proposition to call out troops.

Judge Munger today modified the injunction against the teamsters' union. One section of the order, which restrained the union from continuing its organization and conducting its business, was so sweeping as to prevent the men from holding meetings, employing counsel, or even declaring the strike off. Judge Munger eliminated all these provisions, but the remainder of the order remains unchanged. Fewer teams were working today than yesterday.

Fire Brick Men to Go Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 7.—Nearly all the brickmakers, their helpers, tile layers and helpers, and clay miners and helpers will go on strike on Saturday. From 25,000 to 30,000 men will lay down their tools, most of them being employed in making fire bricks. The fire brick combine has refused to recognize the union.

IRISH LAND BILL MAKES PROGRESS

Measure Is Given Second Reading in House of Commons by Vote of 443 to 26.

GENERAL PLAN APPROVED

Details Admitted to Be Defective by All Speakers Interested in Purchase Idea.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 7.—The Irish land bill has passed its second reading in the house of commons by 443 votes to 26.

When the debate on the land bill was resumed several unimportant speakers were followed by Timothy M. Healy (nationalist), who commented on the "curious fact that the only two absolutely ignorant speeches against the bill came from the liberal side of the house."

Referring to the question whether the bill would make for home rule, Mr. Healy pointed out that the measure was supported by the Ulster members, who, he said, ought to know its effect better than "English amateur politicians, however respectable."

Mr. Healy said he did not grudge the terms which the landlords were getting. He would not incite the tenants to accept them and ridiculed the idea of a campaign of repudiation. Mr. Healy said he regarded the bill as being a measure of peace, which he hoped would infuse a new spirit into the hearts of Ireland and England.

O'Connor Urges Necessity.

T. P. O'Connor, while criticising its details, defended the bill. He said it was no leap in the dark. Peasant proprietorship in Ireland had been most successful. The evicted tenants must be restored to their holdings. The public, he added, must now "choose between a great measure of land purchase and chaos and anarchy."

Morley Is for Measure.

John Morley, liberal, who was received with opposition cheers, said the bill was a bold and courageous measure and a revolutionary extension of the land purchase system. He had never known a bill that could be so riddled with objections. Its remedies were abnormal, but it was a creature of social necessity; therefore he would support it. He said if this bill failed there would be no more purchases because of the terms now offered by the landlords.

Continuing, Mr. Morley said the bill marked the collapse of the system by which England had governed Ireland since the union, and that it would create fresh problems and inevitably lead to further changes. He declared himself skeptical of the promised retrenchment. He had always been convinced that there would be no retrenchment by the most extravagant government of Europe until Irishmen were made responsible and given their own parliament.

Wyndham Closes Debate.

In winding up the debate Secretary Wyndham made light of what he called the "bogy of home rule." In dealing with the act of 1881 he asserted that it had created a strategic deadlock, and that now both parties in the struggle desired to bury the ancient feud. Was the occasion to be allowed to pass, he asked, because a similar occasion had not arisen in England?

The best security was the unanimous desire of the whole people for a peasant proprietary, but the cash security was ample, while past records of land purchase transactions showed there was little risk to the states.

Continuing, Mr. Wyndham said that many of the points raised in the course of the debate were matters for discussion in committee. The conclusions the government had arrived at seemed illogical. It had arrived at them in view of three considerations which it considered essential—namely: to deal adequately with the congestion in Ireland, to cheapen and expedite judicial procedure, and to protect the interests of the general taxpayer.

The Irish secretary said he desired that this great occasion should not be lost and that he did not despair of passing the bill. With regard to the questions of the minimum price to be paid evicted persons and the congested districts, Mr. Wyndham said he foresaw nothing that would endanger the passage of the bill. The division was then taken and the bill passed its second reading.

In the lobbies of the house Mr. Wyndham's speech was interpreted as meaning that the government is willing to consider reasonable amendments to the bill.

YARMOUTHS REACH ENGLAND.

Fellow Passengers on Ship Remark That Earl Is Shabby While Wife Is Luxuriously Attired.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SOUTHAMPTON, May 7.—The earl and countess of Yarmouth arrived here today on the American line steamship St. Paul and started at once for London. Both looked well. When an interviewer approached the earl he looked startled, but suddenly recovered his nerve and told the reporter to go to a warmer climate. Then he rushed ashore, and after seeing to his baggage he and his bride entered a reserved carriage and pulled up the windows in order to exclude questioners. The Yarmouths were sociable aboard ship, and took part in all entertainments, in one of which the earl gave a whistling solo. There was some remark that while the countess was luxuriously attired the earl was shabbily dressed.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN MOROCCO.

Engagement Between Sultan's Forces and Rebels Near Medina in Which Imperial Troops Are Defeated.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MELILLA, Morocco, May 7.—Horsemen from the camp of the Kabyles, near Fez, who have arrived at the Moorish headquarters, near Tetuan, report that a sanguinary engagement has taken place between the sultan's troops and the rebels, near Medina. The fighting lasted for ten hours. The imperial troops were defeated, their positions taken, and camps captured. The losses were heavy on both sides. The rebels have asked Bu Hamara, the pretender, for reinforcements.

KAISER'S WAR MINISTER TO QUIT

Gen. von Gossler Driven from Office by Socialist Attacks on Brutality of German Officers.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 7.—Gen. von Gossler, for seven years Prussian minister of war, will retire after three months' leave of absence. He has been driven from office by socialist attacks on the army, to which he has been unable to reply satisfactorily. Two months ago, when Herr Bebel denounced the brutality of noncommissioned officers Von Gossler's reply was so weak as to cause comment. The kaiser wants a strong parliamentary man as war minister.

MARCONI A ROMAN CITIZEN.

Inventor of Wireless Telegraph Administered Oath by Prince Colonna, the Mayor.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, May 7.—Sig. Marconi was made a Roman citizen at the capitol at noon today by Prince Colonna, the mayor of Rome. In the afternoon Marconi delivered a lecture in the hall of the capitol. At the conclusion of the lecture the king shook hands with Marconi and called him a glory to Italy.

BULGARIA RETURNS NOTE.

CONSIDERS COMMUNICATION OF THE PORTE OFFENSIVE.

Turkish Troops Mustering in Macedonia and Albania, Where 165 Battalions Will Soon Be Assembled — Constantinople Issues Denial of Reports Published in Vienna—Attempt to Blow Up Magazine Is Prevented—Powers Watching Affairs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—The Bulgarian government has returned the porte's note on the subject of incursion of Bulgarian bands into Macedonia and the importation of explosives into Turkey from Bulgaria to the Ottoman commissioner at Sofia, in consequence of what the government of Bulgaria describes as "its offensive terms."

The mustering of Turkish troops continues in Macedonia and Albania, where soon 165 battalions will be distributed.

The porte today issued a statement declaring that the reports published in Vienna of events alleged to have transpired recently in the European provinces of Turkey are either exaggerated or false. The Turkish government, with the best intentions, is doing everything possible to insure the application of the reforms.

Hopeful Tone in Vienna.

VIENNA, May 7.—A decidedly optimistic feeling prevails in official circles here regarding the relations between Turkey and Bulgaria, which are declared to have greatly improved within the last twenty-four hours. The probability of war between the two countries is now considered slight.

A Bulgarian band yesterday attempted to blow up a powder magazine at Monastir. It was surprised by Turkish troops and a fight ensued, in which many of the combatants were killed or wounded.

German Ship at Salonica.

SALONICA, European Turkey, May 7.—The German warship Loreley, the station ship of Germany at Constantinople, has arrived here.

France Orders Out Squadron.

PARIS, May 7.—A division of the French Mediterranean fleet has been ordered to sail for Salonica. The situation throughout the Balkans causes serious apprehension here, but the French foreign office says the conditions are not regarded as being critical and are considered to be largely the result of Turkish intrigue.

British in Passive Attitude.

LONDON, May 7.—The British government's attitude in the Balkan crisis may be summed up as being one of passive indifference. It is pointed out at the foreign office here that Great Britain is not bound by any treaties to interfere in behalf of Bulgaria. Although she was chiefly responsible for bringing Bulgaria into existence, Great Britain never undertook the preservation of Bulgaria's interests, though she is pledged to maintain the integrity of the Ottoman empire.

Germany Stands By Russia.

BERLIN, May 7.—The German government continues to steadily support the Russian policy at Constantinople and in the Balkan capitals, that policy being understood here as encouraging Turkey to repress disorders firmly, and as representing to Bulgaria especially that not a finger will be lifted to help her should the porte claim it necessary to attack Bulgaria. The German foreign office does not regard the Balkan situation as serious and would not so regard it even were Turkey to declare war against Bulgaria, it being regarded as highly improbable that any ruthlessness of Turkey would occasion war among the powers.

American Interest Not Direct.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Save for an altruistic desire for the higher civilization and improvement of the races who inhabit the Balkan countries, the United States government, it is said by officials competent to speak for it, has little or no concern in the outcome of the present turmoil in the Balkans.

WANTS LYNCHERS PUNISHED.

Italian Deputy Asks in Chamber Reason Why Men Guilty of Crime at Erwin, Miss., Are Not Apprehended.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, May 7.—Sig. Bacelli, the minister of commerce, replying to a question asked in the chamber of deputies by Sig. Cirmeni regarding the lynching of Italian subjects at Erwin, Miss., said that, notwithstanding the energetic efforts of the Italian representatives, the conviction of the murderers had not been obtained, owing to the reticence of witnesses, including the relatives of the victims. The American congress had voted $5,000 to the nearest of kin of the victims, but Italy was no party to this arrangement, as she did not approve blood money, and it in no way affected Italy's strong protest, which the United States admitted was justified.

After referring to McKinley's and Roosevelt's strong condemnations of lynching, and attributing the failure of congress to pass repressive legislation to the jealousy of the respective states regarding their respective jurisdictions, Sig. Bacelli said:

"Every year some Europeans are lynched in the United States, while about 150 citizens meet the same fate, but the exercise of foreign influence with a view to securing a modification of the existing legislation will not be tolerated."

Sig. Cirmeni, in response, said that, while he was satisfied with the answer, he was not satisfied with the indemnity. He reminded the chamber that Americans had pubished illustrations of these lynchings, accompanied by a statement to the effect that Italians cost so little it would be worth while to lynch them all.

EDWARD'S VISIT PEACE OMEN.

French Member of Hague Conference Says Lesson Taught by America Is Bearing Fruit.

PARIS, May 7.—Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, the French deputy who was delegate of France to The Hague peace conference, today gave a statement regarding the political meaning of King Edward's visit to Paris and the advancing world movement in favor of arbitration. The baron said:

"While I am convinced King Edward did not utter a word on politics from the time of his arrival in France to the moment of his departure from the country, yet his visit will have the happiest effect on the relations between the two countries.

"The American government has given Europe an important lesson. Only a year ago Europe sought to let The Hague court die a silent death; but President Roosevelt saved the tribunal, first, by submitting to it the question in dispute between Mexico and the United States; second, by obliging Germany, Great Britain, and Italy to take their Venezuelan complications to The Hague court. Finally, Andrew Carnegie enriches the court by the magnificent gift of $1,500,000.

"France and Great Britain should now be the first to follow the magnificent example of America. King Edward's visit will have the effect of hastening this happy result."

FEAR FOR SOUTH POLE PARTY.

Day Set for News of Nordenskjold Party Is Long Past and Preparations to Send Relief Are Made.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

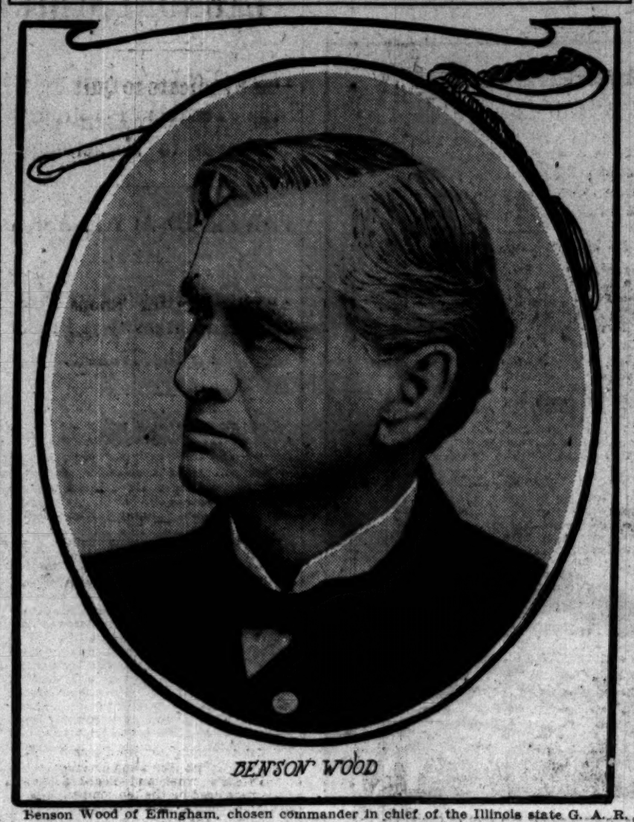

[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, May 7.—Buenos Ayres is without news from the Swedish south pole expedition on board the steamer Antarctic, and this causes alarm, because Nordenskjold, the leader of the expedition, said if there should not be news of the party at Puenta Arenas by April 3 the hour would have arrived when it would be necessary to send assistance.

The director of La Plata museum has taken the initiative in making preparations for a relief expedition. The minister of the navy declares the absence of news is not proof of a critical situation, because Malvinas islands have no telegraph connection and news must be brought to Puenta Arenas by boat.

The Nordenskjold expedition went out on the Antarctic in January, 1902.

NEW COMMANDER ILLINOIS G. A. R.

Benson Wood of Effingham, chosen commander in chief of the Illinois state G. A. R. at East St. Louis yesterday, enlisted in the Thirty-fourth Illinois volunteers in the civil war and rose to the rank of captain. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1839. After the civil war he graduated from the law department of the old University of Chicago. He ranks high as a lawyer and three years ago was elected president of the State Bar association. He has been mayor of Effingham, member of the legislature, and member of congress.

WANTS SACKVILLE TITLE.

ALLEGED SON OF FORMER ENVOY SEEKS TO PROVE CLAIM.

London Justice Grants Authority to Take Testimony in Spain and France to Establish Claimant's Right to Succession—Sister of Man Seeking Title Was at One Time Received in Washington Society—Peer's Version of Affair.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 7.—The romance of Lord Sackville, former British minister at Washington, known to Americans as Sir Lionel Sackville-West, came up in the courts today when his alleged son by a Spanish dancer applied to Justice Kekewich for permission to have a commission appointed to examine witnesses in Spain and France in behalf of his claims to succeed to the title and estates of Lord Sackville upon the death of the latter. The application was granted, but leave to appeal was given.

Claim Made Two Years Ago.

This case came up first nearly two years ago, when Henry Sackville-West, a resident at that time of Madrid, claimed to be a son of Lord Sackville, who, under the title of Sir Lionel Sackville-West, was British minister at Washington for some years and achieved notoriety during the first Cleveland-Harrison campaign by replying to a fake letter from a man in California named Murchison, who asked the minister's advice as to which candidate American citizens of English birth should support.

The minister promptly replied that Cleveland's reelection would be satisfactory to England. The letter was made public and Sir Lionel promptly received his passports.

While in America it was generally known the minister was the father of a son and three daughters by a Spanish actress, whom he was said to have married on her deathbed. There was some question at first about receiving one of his daughters in Washington society, but as she had been presented at one of the late queen's drawing rooms the matter was dropped.

The story told by the claimant son is to the effect that while Lord Sackville was acting as consul in Madrid in 1853 he became enamored of a beautiful Spanish dancer named Pepita Duran, by whom he had three daughters and this son, who is now about 37 years of age.

Admission of His Lordship.

Lord Sackville said that Pepita de la Oliva was the mother of his four children, and said he had treated the present claimant with all due regard for his rights as an illegitimate offspring, which he repaid with gross and unfilial ingratitude, which culminated in an attempt to show he was a legitimate son.

According to Lord Sackville Henry Sackville-West, as he calls himself, is really by law Henry Oliva, as English illegitimate children take the name of the mother.

POPE GETS ROOSEVELT LETTER

In Reply Predicts Prosperity for This Republic and Promises Autograph Letter to President.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, May 7.—The pope received at noon today a deputation of clergymen sent by Cardinal Gibbons. They were the bearers of a complimentary autograph letter from President Roosevelt, a copy of the speeches of the American president, and an address of devotion signed by 25,000 American Roman Catholics.

The pope, in reply to the presentation, made a feeling address of thanks, in which he predicted prosperity for the powerful republic, which, he said, was the stronghold of true liberty. He said he would send President Roosevelt an autograph letter.

Mgr. Vecchia, secretary of the propaganda, was received by the pope today and submitted the report of the congregation of the propaganda on the vacancy in the bishopric of Buffalo, N. Y. The pontiff decided on the appointment of the Rev. Charles H. Colton, rector of St. Stephen's church, New York.

AGNES SORMA SERIOUSLY ILL.

Famous German Actress Enters Sanitarium Suffering from a Nervous Malady.

BERLIN, May 7.—Agnes Sorma, who has been regarded as the greatest actress on the German stage, has entered a sanitarium, suffering from a nervous malady, after having canceled all her engagements. She is also seeking a divorce from her husband, Count Minetto, formerly second secretary of the Italian embassy here. The quarrel with her husband, it is said, contributed to the actress' nervous breakdown.

WINS $480,000 AT BACCARAT.

Bela Justh, Aristocratic Gambler, Takes Immense Stakes at National Casino at Buda-Pesth.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, May 7.—Bela Justh, the aristocratic Hungarian gambler, who is known for his remarkable luck at Monte Carlo and elsewhere, won $480,000 playing baccarat at the National casino at Buda-Pesth yesterday. Count Michael Karoly, who was the chief loser, dropped $320,000 in the game.

BIG RUSH FOR VAAL LOAN.

TERMS OF $150,000,000 ISSUE ARE GIVEN TO THE PUBLIC.

Will Pay 3 Per Cent Interest, Mature in 1953, and Go to Subscribers at Par—Entire Sum Is Demanded Many Times Over—Bonds Already Quoted at 1 1-4 Per Cent Premium — They Go Mostly to England and the Continent.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 7.—The terms of the Transvaal loan of $150,000,000 were made public at the Bank of England today, and the scramble of small investors to secure application blanks assures its absorption within two or three days.

The loan will pay 3 per cent interest, and will be issued at par, and is redeemable in 1953. It is already quoted on the stock exchange at 1¼ per cent premium.

A sinking fund of 1 per cent will be applied to the purchase of stock when below par. The government of the Transvaal reserves the right to pay off stock at any time after May 1, 1923, subject to six months' notice. The installments on stock are payable as follows: Three per cent payable on application, 7 per cent on May 22, and the balance to be distributed from June to December. The installments may be paid in full on May 22 under a discount of 2 per cent. The list closes on or before May 12.

Rush for Subscription Blanks.

At the Bank of England this afternoon the application for the "Vaal loan" resolved itself into a huge, mad fight to reach the chief cashier's office. There was a wild, disorderly scrimmage of about 2,000 brokers, merchants, clerks, commissioners, and telegraph messenger boys, who had gathered within and without the precincts of the bank and engaged in a desperate struggle to reach the desks.

The counter clerks looked aghast at the surging mob. Good humor prevailed, and football cries, such as "Play up," "Free kick," and "Goal," rent the air. Once inside, an array of officials distributed the coveted application blanks. The list is likely to be closed long before next Tuesday, the date set in the prospectus.

Later street hawkers sold copies of the prospectuses as fast as they could get the cash. Crowds continued to enter the bank long after the usual closing hour.

Will Be Heavily Oversubscribed.

The loan was carefully prepared beforehand and will be immensely oversubscribed in England, and applicants will receive about 5 per cent of their demands. Much of the loan will be taken up on the continent, but the representatives of American houses in London say that in the present state of the New York market it is not to be expected that many of the bonds will be subscribed for there. A small amount may be subscribed for, but as a permanent investment it is not worth America's while.

By issuing the loan at 3 per cent at par the government shows that there has been no decline in its credit and gets more suitable conditions.

SHAMROCK'S SAILS ONLY FAIR.

New Mainsail for Cup Challenger Slack in Leach and Puckers Badly—Light Wind Spoils Trial.

GOUROCK, May 7.—Shamrock III. and Shamrock I. got under sail this morning for the first time since the accident to the new challenger. The new suit of sails of Shamrock III. is only a fair fit. The mainsail is slack at the leach and puckers along the foot, but the top-sail sets wonderfully well for a new one.

Sir Thomas Lipton and Designer Fife were aboard the challenger. There was a light wind, which died out altogether in a short time. The outing, however, served the minor purpose for which it was intended—that of sail stretching.

A new and more substantial steering wheel has been fitted on the challenger instead of the original bicycle like arrangement.

BENSON WOOD HEAD OF G. A. R.

Illinois Department Elects Effingham Veteran on First Ballot—Other Officers Chosen.

East St. Louis, Ill., May 7.—The thirty-seventh annual encampment of the G. A. R. and kindred organizations of Illinois concluded today with a parade and the election of officers. On the first ballot Benson Wood of Effingham was elected commander of the order. The other officers elected are: E. A. Thomas, East St. Louis, senior vice commander; John M. Collier, Gibson City, junior vice commander; J. M. Wyckoff, Kinmundy, chaplain; J. H. Plecker, Chicago, medical director; C. A. Partridge, Waukegan, assistant adjutant general; F. N. Boyer, Olney, assistant quartermaster general.

The delegates to the national convention, which meets next August in San Francisco, were instructed to support Gen. John C. Black for the commander of the national organization.

In the auxiliary organizations the presiding officers elected were as follows: Woman's Relief corps—President, Mrs. Loraine J. Pitkin, Chicago. Daughters of Veterans—President, Miss Zettie Parkinson, Centralia. Ladies of the G. A. R.—President, Mrs. Sarah M. Boyd of Chicago.

CAPTURE SULTAN IN PHILIPPINES.

MOROS UNDER CONTROL.

Americans Complete Exploration of Lake Lanao Region Unmolested.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MANILA, May 7.—Capt. John J. Pershing, whose force recently administered a severe defeat to the Bacalodian Moros in Mindanao, and who returned to that country because of reports that the Moros were again assembling, has had an encounter with the rebels at Taraca, east of Lake Lanao.

There was a running fight, which finally centered on a group of ten earthworks. Eight of these were easily captured by the Americans, but the defenders of the ninth and tenth made a gallant resistance, and lost 130 men in killed and wounded before they were overcome. The Americans had two killed and seven wounded.

Find Ten Warlike Earthworks.

The expedition traversed Maculgone, meeting many Moros who have been recently subjugated, and friendly natives. No opposition was met until the expedition approached the Taraca country, which appeared at first to be deserted. Suddenly two works commanding the river and covered with battle flags were discovered. There were eight smaller works flanking the main one, and skillfully placed. The American artillery advanced and reduced the latter without suffering any loss.

Then the artillery shelled the ninth works while Lieuts. Shaw and Gracie, with part of the Twenty-seventh infantry, secured a position whence they led their men forward, in which attack many Moros were bayoneted.

Sultan Surrenders with Arms.

At nightfall the cavalry surrounded the last and strongest Moro stronghold and kept pouring in volleys until at dawn the sultan of Ampungano surrendered with sixty prisoners, thirty-six obsolete cannon, fifty-four rifles, and many Krisses. The stronghold was then mined and demolished. The expedition then continued scouting in the interior.

The sultan of Marantao, with all his followers, has surrendered to Maj. Bullard. He and his troops took the oath of allegiance amid a scene of barbaric splendor, with their shining weapons and coats of armor, and displaying the Moorish emblems and shields. The aged sultan said he had been a lifelong foe of the Spaniards, but he had surrendered because he observed that the Americans were constantly victorious in battle, that they governed the people fairly, and gave work at large wages.

Sunken Vessels Raised.

Wreckers have succeeded in raising the sunken Spanish gunboat Velasco, near the Cavite yard. The machinery of the vessel is ruined and the hull is partly warped from fire. There are a few small shell holes in the hull, but they were not enough to cause the sinking of the boat, and it was undoubtedly scuttled, as the bilge cocks were found open. The sinking of this vessel was the indirect result of the attack of the Petrel on the small Spanish gunboats in the shallow waters of Bacoor bay.

The Reina Cristina, the flagship of Admiral Montejo, which was sunk by Admiral Dewey's fleet during the fight of May 1, 1898, and which was recently raised and beached by a syndicate of American engineers, is now afloat. It has been repainted, and as much of its machinery is serviceable the wreckers anticipate a handsome profit.

HOLD ITLALIAN FOR MURDER.

Tomasso Lombardi, Accused of Killing Miss Sturtevant Near Boston, Under Investigation.

Medford, Mass., May 7.—Tomasso Lombardi, an Italian carpenter, accused of the murder of Miss Nellie A. Sturtevant last night, is held here without bail.

Except for the fact that Mr. Sturtevant saw his daughter's murderer flee on a bicycle, and that Lombardi when arrested in Boston, five miles from Medford, two hours later, was riding a muddy bicycle, the police have little evidence against the Italian.

Mr. Sturtevant's description of the man answers in some degree to that of Lombardi. A Medford policeman saw a man riding a bicycle near the scene a few minutes before the murder and the machine had a snap or click which is distinctly noticeable in the bicycle on which Lombardi was riding when arrested.

The Italian claims that he cannot speak English, yet Mr. Sturtevant stated today that the man who confronted his daughter, his wife, and himself on the doorstep last night, said: "Hands up! give me that bag," in a robust voice without the slightest trace of foreign accent.

Mrs. Decker Loses Her Case.

A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in Judge Clifford's court yesterday in the $25,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Anna C. Decker against John Decker, whom she charged with slandering her. Decker is a brother of ex-Ald. Nicholas Decker, and Mrs. Decker is the divorced wife of the ex-alderman.

Rockefeller Sends for Portrait.

The large Eastman Johnson portrait of John D. Rockefeller, which was hung in Cobb hall at the University of Chicago for years, was sent to New York yesterday at the telegraphic request of John D. Rockefeller Jr. There it will be used in study by an artist who is making a new portrait of Mr. Rockefeller. It will be returned in four weeks.

Hotels and Boarding Houses in Colorado

There is a popular idea that prices in Colorado are inflated—that it costs money "every time you move."

The notion is not correct. You can live in Colorado comfortably and well for a moderate sum. At the hotels, boarding houses and ranches you can secure excellent quarters and capital fare for from $8 to $10 a week and upward.

Our Hand-Book of Colorado tells all about it. Send for a copy. It's free.

This summer we are going to make very low ticket rates to Colorado, so that people of moderate means may visit the American Alps.

READY TO PROVE POSTAL CHARGES

Former Treasurer of Washington Office Replies Indignantly to Payne.

RESENTS HIS INTERVIEW

Says Officials Addressed in Letters of Inquiry Have All the Information Needed.

Washingotn, D. C., May 7.—[Special.]—The roasting given Seymour W. Tulloch, for many years cashier of the Washington postoffice, by Postmaster General Payne recently brought out a warm reply by Tulloch today. Tulloch had declared openly that an investigation of alleged irregularities in the Washington postoffice several years ago had resulted in the inspector concerned being reduced. The postmaster general at that time wrote to Tulloch and several other officials asking for all the facts in their possession, and at that time insisted that Tulloch must "make good" his charges.

Criticises Postmaster General.

Tulloch today sent a letter to the postmaster general, in which he said that the recipients of Mr. Payne's letters were able to give him complete information. He also criticised Mr. Payne's interview warmly. The letter follows:

"Washington, D. C., May 7.—H. C. Payne, Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.—Sir: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th inst. referring to certain statements said to have been made by me reflecting upon certain officials.

"According to accounts published throughout the daily press it would appear that the postmaster general, during a public interview with reference to the article in question and in the presence of representatives of the leading newspapers of the country, referred to me as a 'mere wind bag,' as one who should 'make good his hot air or be publicly branded as a calumniator, a slanderer, and a liar.' Such language at such a time was apparently unnecessary and certainly undignified.

"It is also publicly stated that you have addressed letters to ex-Postmaster General C. Emory Smith, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, R. J. Tracewell, controller of the treasury, and John A. Merritt, postmaster at Washington, D. C., requesting them to inform you as to the truth of the statements contained in the interview as published. If the gentlemen in question will reply, and tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, they cannot, I believe, but fully substantiate the statements made, and anything further from me is unnecessary.

"Considering, however, the language attributed to the postmaster general, I would consider it a favor to be furnished with copies of the replies received in response to his request. SEYMOUR W. TULLOCH."

Wants to Read Replies.

In explaining his letter, Tulloch said:

"In answering the postmaster general's letter as I did it seemed to me to be necessary that I should put myself right before the public, as the postmaster general alluded to me in the terms mentioned in a public manner and as he stated that the gentlemen to whom he wrote did not confirm my statements. I reserve to myself the right to read the replies of those to whom he wrote as a result of the publication of my statements and to refresh the memories of those parties, if necessary. I stand ready to make good any statements that I have made.

"Before going further in the matter, however, or exposing the evidence I have in hand, I want to have an opportunity to read and criticise the replies of the persons mentioned in my letter. That is only fair. The next move now rests with the postmaster general.

"Facts Are Known to Scores."

"The facts I have stated are known to scores of persons in this city, and are known to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow and his associates. I was willing at the time of the original investigation to render Mr. Bristow what aid I could by stating the condition of affairs in the postoffice department and the Washington postoffice four and five years ago, with which I was personally familiar at the time of my removal as an 'obstacle.'

"It is a well known fact that Thomas W. Gilmer, the special expert of the controller of the treasury's office, and one of the most efficient men in the service, was removed by Controller Tracewell by order of Acting Secretary Vanderlip, who, I believe, afterward repented of his hasty action and advised Mr. Gilmer to apply for a detail to another bureau of the treasury. Mr. Gilmer had the written orders of the controller at the time of his removal, prohibiting him from taking up the affairs of the New York and Washington postoffices. As far as known no further investigation of the succeeding and still more interesting quarters of the year was made by any one else."

TALK OF SOCIAL EFFICIENCY.

Subject Discussed by Congress of Mothers as Well as Moral Education of Children.

Detroit, Mich., May 7.—Tonight's session of the conference of the American Congress of Mothers was devoted to a paper on "Education for Social Efficiency," by Dr. M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin. At its conclusion the paper was discussed briefly by the Hon. Levi L. Barbour of Detroit, former regent of the University of Michigan. This afternoon the congress had a luncheon at the hotel Cadillac, followed by a ride about the city. Mrs. D. O. Mears of Albany, N. Y., led a conference on "Moral and Religious Education of Children" at the morning session. She spoke of the great necessity for fathers and mothers guarding their conversation at the evening meal. This is the time, she said, when nothing but the best of the day's proceedings should be discussed. All petty annoyances should be eliminated and nothing but the bright side of life be discussed.

REVISION OF CODE OF ETHICS.

American Medical Association Adopts Report of Committee Favoring Change.

New Orleans, La., May 7.—The adoption of the committee report favoring the proposed revision of the code of ethics was the feature of today's session of the house of delegates of the American Medical association. The original code was established fifty years ago. The committee regarded it as wiser to formulate the principles of medical ethics without reference to code or penalties, thus leaving to the respective states, etc., to form such codes and establish such penalties, provided that in doing so there is no infringement of the established ethical principles of the association. The American Medical Temperance association listened to a paper by President W. S. Hall of Chicago on "Nature's Immunization of the Race Against Liquors."

The association decided to hold its next meeting at Atlantic City, N. J.

specific appropriation for the transportation of your own office."

It seemed a little thing, but Mr. Wynne wisely decided to sleep over it before accepting the proposition. The next morning the wily chief of the salary and allowance division was obliged to submit to an unexpected cross examination.

"Let me see," said the first assistant postmaster general, "Mr. Rathbone, down in Cuba, who was sent to the penitentiary or to a jail of some kind, also had a carriage allowance. Did he get it from the Washington city postoffice?"

"Yes, he did," said the astonished Beavers, who found that his trap had failed to work.

"Well, then," continued Mr. Wynne, with a bland smile, "I guess you can pass me up on the carriage question. I'll continue to pay my livery bills until the appropriation committee does the square thing and provides me with some transportation of my own."

So it happened when the investigation began and Beavers presented his resignation he had no strings tied to Mr. Wynne, who was then acting postmaster general, and his resignation was accepted with a celerity which reduced Beavers to the ranks of the unemployed over night.

Miss Alice Roosevelt took a hand in running an automobile yesterday and drove so rapidly, down Connecticut avenue that a policeman was on the point of arresting her for scorching when he recognized the president's daughter and allowed her to proceed on her way. She occupied a big, red, long distance machine, and a hired chauffeur who occupied a seat beside her was giving instructions on the manipulation of the several levers and the steering geer. Miss Roosevelt attracted much attention from persons in the street who thought the automobile was moving faster than the new strict regulations of the District of Columbia allow.

Later in the day Miss Roosevelt rode out Woodley lane in the same machine to attend a wedding, driving the automobile herself. She has told her friends she intends to persuade her father to buy an automobile for her upon his return from his western tour.

Mrs. Roosevelt issued invitations today for her first spring tea on Saturday. This is supposed to be the first of a series such as were given at the White house last spring. The new roof gardens will be called into use, if the weather permits, giving the affair a wholly new tone.

Gen. Crozier, the chief of ordnance, has decided to secure the views of the infantry and cavalry boards of the army before finally adopting the proposed new rifle, which has a much shorter barrel than that now in use, and which, it is thought, can take the place of the cavalry carbine and still be serviceable to the infantry. The small arms board, which made experimental firings with the new rifle, reported in its favor about two months ago. Since then the ordnance office has been securing the opinions of army officers. Gen. Crozier has now referred the entire subject to the infantry board at Fort Leavenworth and the cavalry board at Fort Riley. A number of new rifles were exhibited at the convention of the national guard in Columbus, O., and met with the approval of the volunteer officers.

An important question involving the right of the United States to transport military supplies and troops to Alaska through British territory has just been brought to the attention of the secretary of war. Several weeks ago bids were opened by the quartermaster general of the army for the transportation of troops and supplies to the military posts in Alaska. There were three bidders, the Northern Commercial company, the North American Transportation and Trading company, and the White Pass and Yukon railway company. The two first mentioned companies offered to transport the troops and supplies from Seattle to St. Michaels and from there to a point up the Yukon river. This is an all American route. The White Pass and Yukon railway company, which claims the contract by reason of being the lowest bidder, is compelled, however, to pass through Canadian territory to reach up the river points on the Yukon, and there is fear that Great Britain may object to the passage of American troops through British territory, which just now is holding up the award of the contract. As the railway company cannot give any guarantee that Great Britain will permit the transportation of soldiers through her territory, it has been recommended to the secretary of war that the contract be awarded to one of the other companies.

DO NOT FEAR INVESTIGATION.

Chicago Postoffice Officials Say Washington Authorities Cannot Find Any Irregularities Here.

Reports from Washington, D. C., that the postoffice investigation ordered by Postmaster General Payne would be extended to Chicago caused little anxiety in the local postoffice yesterday. Heads of departments through Postmaster Coyne, declared that there was nothing for them to fear from any investigation. Whether any evidence could be found in Chicago to support the charges made against department heads in Washington the Chicago official declared he could not say until he knew the character of the evidence sought.

"I have no official knowledge of any investigation," said Mr. Coyne. "There is nothing to be found to reflect disadvantageously on this office."

The annual requisition for supplies is being compiled in the Chicago office. It is through these requisitions, it is alleged, that the accused officials are said to have worked into the hands of supply companies. At the local office it was said that they usually had trouble to secure all the supplies needed, and that the requisitions were usually cut down.

The department at Washington has drawn on Postoffice Inspector Stuart's staff for assistance in the investigation, and Inspectors Maher and Farrell already have gone to Washington. It is understood that over thirty such inspectors have been called to Washington from the several states.

ROOSEVELT LIKES PLAY.

TELLS CALIFORNIA CHILDREN TO PLAY AND PLAY HARD.

He Also Suggests That When They Work They Do Not Play at All — Reaches Redlands, California, and Is Deeply Impressed by Beauty of the Country—Sees Much Industry and No Race Suicide—Cheered by Thousands of Admirers.

Redlands, Cal., May 7.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt spent three hours here today, and made a characteristic address to the crowds that had assembled to hear him. After a word of praise to the Grand Army veterans he turned to the children, and said his only advice to them was advice that might be taken as well by all who could hear him, and that was, "When you play, play hard, and when you work don't play at all."

The president arrived at noon, and 10,000 people cheered when the train pulled into the station.

Carriages in waiting took the president to the Calma hotel, where reception committees and troops waited to welcome him.

Mayor Fowler introduced Gov. Pardee, who in a brief address welcomed the president to California. Assemblyman G. T. Johnson then delivered an address of welcome in behalf of the state legislature.

Is Impressed by State.

When the president arose to deliver his address it was several minutes before he could proceed. He said, in part:

"I am glad, indeed, to have the chance to visit this wonderful and beautiful state, but I did not have to come to know you or like you, for I know what the sons and daughters of the state have done. If I did not appreciate their achievements I would indeed be a poor American. But for the country itself, though I had been told so much of its beauty and its wonders, I had never realized or could not realize in advance all I have seen. Coming down over the mountain I was impressed with the thought more and more of what can be done with the wise use of water and the forests of this state.

"I think our citizens are realizing more and more that we want to perpetuate the things of both use and beauty. Beauty surely has its place, and you want to make this state more than it even now is—the garden spot of the continent. I congratulate you on the way you have built up these new cities in a way to illustrate the virtue of pioneer citizenship and at the same time avoiding the roughness characteristic of so many new settlements.

"I congratulate you on your country, your oranges, your cities, your ranches, your industry and agricultural development, and, above all, on the quality of your citizenship.

"Of all who are here to greet me I prize most the presence of these men who fought in the great war (turning toward the Grand Army veterans). Two years ago you welcomed here your comrade and my chief, the late President McKinley. He did his part in war and in peace, as all of you have done.

No Race Suicide There.

"Next I greet the future. The sight of these children convinces me of the truth of a statement just made to me by Gov. Pardee when he said that in California there is no danger of race suicide. You have done well in raising oranges, and I believe you have done better in raising children. Children, I have just one word for you, and it will apply to the older people as well. It is this: When you play, play hard, and when you work don't play at all."

Immediately after the close of his speech President Roosevelt was escorted to the dining room. The dinner was informal, and there were no addresses. Half an hour later the presidential party, the governor, and other guests again entered the carriages and were driven over the city.

The party left here at 3 o'clock for San Bernardino, where a short stop was made. The night was spent at Riverside.

FYFFE WORKS IN HOSPITAL.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Prepares for the Health Department Inquiry.

Wrapped in robes and surrounded by water bottles, Assistant Corporation Counsel Fyffe spent yesterday in the Passavant hospital working out problems connected with the investigation of the health department, which begins next Tuesday before the civil service commission. Mr. Fyffe has almost recovered from an attack of appendicitis and expects to be able to leave the hospital today. Service of subpœnas on several persons who will be required as witnesses in the coming investigation was begun during the day.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

GHOSTS.
A Drama in Three Acts.
BY HENRIK IBSEN.

Presented at McVicker's Theater, Chicago, by Mary Shaw and Her Company, May 7, 1903. The Cast:

Mrs. Alving, widow of Capt. Alving, late chamberlain to the king.....Miss Mary Shaw
Oswald Alving, her son.....Mr. Frederick Lewis
Pastor Manders.....Mr. Maurice Wilkinson
Jacob Engstrand, a carpenter.....Mr. Charles A. Gay
Regina Engstrand, Mrs. Alving's maid.....Miss Virginia Kline

It is twenty-two years since Henrik Ibsen wrote "Ghosts," the third in that series of seven social dramas which drew to him the attention of the world of letters, and called down on him the bitter denunciation of his opponents and the almost unqualified adoration of his admirers. When we stop to think that that series was written during the eleven years from 1877 to 1888, and remember the ethical, artistic, and literary standards that obtained at that time, it is not difficult to undersand the fierceness of the verbal war loosed by the publication of works so daring in spirit, so stern and relentless in manner. Even today, when the freedom of the individual, which they so forcibly advocate, is widely recognized by many people, a goodly number of opponents of the eminent Norwegian and his works is not wanting.

Of the series of seven plays which began with "Pillars of Society" and ended with "Lady from the Sea," "Ghosts" is probably the most terrifying, not in manner so much—for its manner is but the direct, terse, and fearless of the others in the series—but in its subject matter. Heredity, that mysterious, awful, inevitable influence that proves its greatest blessing or the most fearful curse mankind knows, is a subject which, when presented in the phase Ibsen has chosen in "Ghosts," strikes terror to the soul, even while it fascinates. The play is horrible, and yet it is a masterpiece.

The old, old question as to whether art should busy itself with such subjects may of course be raised, and may be discussed with as little conclusive results as it ever has been, but that "Ghosts" is a play of strength and attention compelling quality not even Ibsen's fondest haters can deny. The audience that gathered at McVicker's theater yesterday afternoon to watch Miss Mary Shaw's presentation of this drama of heredity gave of its closest interest, and the approval bestowed on both the star and her company after each of the three acts was of a sincerity and spontaneity that told of the unmistakable effectiveness of the play itself.

The performance given by Miss Shaw and her associates was in high degree meritorious. The spirit of naturalness, one might almost say of commonplaceness, that is the keynote of nearly everything Ibsen has written and which is sounded with particular clearness in "Ghosts," was never for a moment done violence to. Miss Shaw herself is an actress of distinctly agreeable simplicity and directness of method, and her associates have taken the pitch from her and at no time disturb the harmony of the ensemble. Her tone is always entirely natural in its conversational quietness, even the emotional scenes—the recital to Manders in the first act, the terror at Oswald's confession in the second, and the telling of the truth to the children, and the final awful climax in the last, all being treated without any hint of excessive or extravagant emotion, yet with no want of emotional intensity and power.

The Oswald of Mr. Lewis is also deserving of heartiest commendation, the difficult part on which the effectiveness of the entire drama depends being portrayed with a discrimination and nicety in the estimating of dramatic values, a carefulness in the attention to details, and a skill in the suggesting of physical and mental conditions that speaks not only of intelligent, thorough study, but also of histrionic powers of distinct worth. The nervousness, the depression, the fear of the young man threatened with the most awful calamity that can overtake a human being—that of insanity—are made clear to the spectator from the moment of Oswald's first entrance, and with each succeeding scene the increase of these terrible conditions is skillfully and clearly emphasized, yet with employment of nothing but the most natural and reasonable means.

Mr. Wilkinson gives Manders with all the self-righteousness—unconscious, but none the less existent and irritating—that the rôle of the narrow minded, order worshiping, conservative pastor, with his smug morality, his slavish regard for the respectable, and his absolute disregard for all that is natural in humanity, demands. Mr. Gay is an Engstrand worthy of the artistic company in which he is placed, and Miss Kline lends Regina both the physical attractiveness and the underlying strain of coarseness the part demands.

It is a performance exceptionally well balanced and rounded and the opportunity to witness the one repetition of it announced for this afternoon should not be missed by those interested in seeing a masterpiece of the modern drama, worthily presented.

O'NEILL CLOSES POLICY CENTERS.

Warns Syndicate to Quit Business or Face Indictment by the Grand Jury.

AFFECTS TEN COMPANIES.

Many Slip-Writing Shops Shut Their Doors and There Is War Between Operators.

"Close up or we'll haul all of you before the grand jury."

Chief of Police O'Neill took a hand in the policy swindle crusade yesterday, and this, in brief, was the order which closed the ten principal companies controlled by the policy syndicate of which "Patsy" King is the leader.

Chief O'Neill says he means business, and that policy is to be struck at its root—at the places where the drawings are held and "fixed," and where its backers center many of their wires.

Next week State's Attorney Deneen will begin prosecution of the 128 indicted policy offenders in the criminal courts.

One week from Monday the May grand jury will meet, and evidence is being collected which is expected to result not only in further indictments of the policy clique members and their agents, but of owners and occupants of buildings who allow space in their places to writers of this policy swindle.

Nine Headquarters Closed.

Detective Charles Herts and his men served Chief O'Neill's order and closed the nine headquarters used by the ten companies, and squads of policemen were assigned to watch them. Among the places closed by Herts, and the companies involved, were:

"Frankfort and Kentucky" and the "Home and Standard," 104 Randolph street.

The "Red and Green" and "Red and Green, Fort Erie, Canada," Van Buren street and Fifth avenue.

"Interstate and Springfield," 36 Custom House place.

"Indiana and Wisconsin," 125 Custom House place.

"Denver and Colorado," 273 Dearborn street.

"Phoenix," 14 Clark street.

"East and West," 196½ Clark street.

The policy clique sent out word last night that the drawings would be conducted just the same, police or no police, as other and secret places were at their disposal—quarters where branch offices have been maintained.

Given Fair Chance to Close.

"I'm giving the policy men a fair chance to close up," said Chief O'Neill. "If they fail to obey the order something will drop. That order has effect wherever there is a pretense of making daily drawings, and I intend to see that drawings are stopped."

"But the policy shops, where money is taken in from victims and the slips made out for bettors, are running wide open," was suggested.

"Well, the next move," said the chief, "will be to go after those fellows who act as agents. We will stamp out these places by taking the policy writers before the grand jury. I believe that the most effective way. I already have accumulated much evidence, and will have much more when the grand jury meets.

"What we are after is to cripple policy gambling at once by closing headquarters. As to the shops, raids have accomplished nothing. The people captured, many frequently being parties we don't want at all, usually are charged with some offense next morning, appear in the police courts, and then are let go on technicalities. Now we intend to cut out this police court delay and arrest offenders and march them to the grand jury. The only success we have attained against policy gambling has been by securing indictments."

Many Little Shops Closed.

The force of the crusade, to which the Rev. R. C. Ransom and the association of negro ministers have lent most effective aid, has scared "Patsy" King and his clique, and the shops are being thinned out. In the Dearborn-State street alley, between Twenty-fourth and Thirty-third streets, only twenty-six shops were open yesterday, where there had been seventy-eight. In the Dearborn street-Armour avenue alley, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-ninth streets, only eight of the nineteen former shops were open, and from Twenty-ninth to Thirty-second street only eleven of the seventeen were doing business.

The result of the thinning out is that a violent row has been started in the ranks of the policy writers. The men whose places have been closed are threatening bodily injury to those whose shops are allowed to run, asserting that they will see that many of these favored places are burned down, and even writing threatening letters to "Patsy" King himself.

"Policy Sam" as Peacemaker.

Last night and Wednesday night "Policy Sam" Smith, King's right bower, met dozens of these "kickers" at the residence of an ex-officer of the Eighth battalion of the National Guard, and tried to secure peace. He explained that the force of public sentiment had made it necessary to close down many of the shops which were not yielding the largest profits, in order that not so much attention should be attracted to the swindle.

"Don't you fellows spoil things by playing hogs," was his argument. "You will be taken care of, all right, if you'll just close your mouths and keep quiet. We've got to thin out the shops so as not to attract so much attention. But we are going to keep the big places running, and there'll be plenty of coin."

King's clique fears that, unless appeased, these discontents may "squeal" on them to the authorities, showing that the rent money for the shops came from King. No rent was paid to landlords for the places which were closed, although payments for the month were due on May 1, and proprietors of barber-shops, saloons, coal and wood offices, and other places who have been giving space for shop headquarters, assert they have practically been swindled out of a month's rent.

Back a New Gambling Game.

Fearing the downfall of policy and its big profits, "Patsy" King and his crowd are behind a new gambling venture by which they hope to add to their pockets. They have started the "penny Derby," which has books in saloons throughout the entire city. Alluring signs, promising "$25 for 1 cent," are bidding for investors.

The game is simple and promises to yield a big profit to King, policy king. Each saloon practically has its own book in a box containing 120 envelopes, each envelope containing a slip bearing a number from 1 to 120, and also the name of one of the 120 horses entered for the American Derby, which is to be run at Washington park on June 20.

The player selects an envelope, paying as many pennies for his chance as the number on the slip drawn indicates. The holder of the ticket bearing the name of the winner is promised $25 on his investment; there will be as many winners as there are saloons in the game.

"This is a good thing," said an old time gambler last night. "It means that the players will contribute about $60, that the winner will get $25, the saloonkeeper a small sum, and about $25 for each book will go to 'Patsy' King. Then all the envelopes may not be sold in each place, and the unsold envelopes may contain the name of the winning horse. If 'Patsy' gets a set in 5,000 of the 7,100 saloons in the city he will do pretty well, won't he?"

The 128 cases pending in the Criminal court will be put on the call today by State's Attorney Deneen. The defense will be granted no more than forty-eight hours postponement, and the trials are to begin on Wednesday at the latest.

"We intend to push every case to a decision," said Mr. Deneen. "We have much evidence and shall try for a conviction in each case."

More winnings were allowed yesterday as a bait, the heaviest being $215 won in the book run by John Cranshaw in Thirty-ninth street, off Wentworth avenue.

"TRY TO CLOSE UP AFFAIR" IS MRS. SIMONDS' REQUEST.

Wife of Man Who Died in Chicago Wires Coroner Traeger She Does Not Want Husband's Body Exhumed.

"Don't want body exhumed. Try to close up affair."

Such was the request made by Mrs. E. W. Simonds of New York City in a telegram received by Coroner Traeger yesterday. Mr. Traeger also has a letter from Mrs. Simonds in which she asks that the investigation into her husband's death be concluded as soon as possible. She says she is not satisfied that Mr. Simonds died from accidental causes, but, in view of the lack of any proof to the contrary, she does not care to have the inquiry drawn out any longer.

Coroner Traeger smiled yesterday at the report that he "would exhume the body."

"How can I exhume the body when it is in a New York cemetery?" he asked.

The inquest probably will be concluded today, and in the meantime the police are trying to find the man who told Policeman Honan that "a drunken man fell into the stairway in front of the Central Trust Company Bank of Illinois at Monroe and Dearborn streets."

The police also are trying to learn the identity of the two men who visited Jordan's undertaking establishment and viewed Simonds' body the day before it was shipped to New York for burial. These men said they had been with Simonds the day before he was injured.

GUNFIRE FIRST IN METROPOLITAN

Thirty-five Thousand People Cheer Victory of W. C. Whitney's Mare.

OLD ENGLAND IS SECOND.

Lux Casta, After Hard Luck, Finishes Third—Yellow Tail Breaks Down.

New York, May 7.—[Special.]—True to the predictions of the sharp eyed turfmen who watched her preparations for the race, William C. Whitney's game and speedy mare, Gunfire, was triumphant in the rich Metropolitan handicap, run over the Withers mile at Morris park this afternoon.

It was a spectacle long to be remembered by the patrons of racing, and a contest which fully convinced the great crowd of 35,000 persons that the integrity of the sport of kings is beyond reproach.

Fifteen thoroughbreds, trained to the minute, ran in the Metropolitan, and Gunfire, with Burns up, carrying 109 pounds, who was favorite in the betting, flashed past the judges a length before Green B. Morris' 4 year old gelding, Old England, the latter being two lengths before H. T. Oxnard's 4 year old mare, Lux Casta.

Lowers Track Record a Second.

Gunfire covered the mile in the wonderfully fast time of 1:38¼, which surpassed the track record made by the famous Watercolor last May a full second.

Articulate, the western handicap horse, finished fourth, a length and a half away, while Yellow Tail, the well backed second choice, brought up in fifth place and broke down in front. The smashing pace killed off others, and they came home straggling, beaten to a standstill.

No more popular victory could have been recorded, for the racing public was mindful of the fact that Mr. Whitney's run of ill luck which beset his colors last season had changed. It was a superb ride by Burns, coupled with dazzling speed and stoutness of heart on the part of Gunfire, that landed the prize. Burns had her well in hand and always within striking distance of the lead, but when the final run in the homestretch took place, with Old England as the contender, there was just a moment when it looked as if Gunfire would be beaten, but Burns shook her up a bit and then sat down to ride her out to the finish with his hands, and in a thrilling duel, in which Gunfire and Old England ran neck and neck to within 100 yards of the wire, Whitney's mare outgamed the plucky son of Goldfinch and drew away amid an uproarious demonstration from the multitude.

Ill Luck for Lux Casta.

After the race every turfman who looked at the contest from an unprejudiced point of view conceded that Gunfire was the best horse in the race, but there were many who were emphatic in the statement that had Oxnard's Lux Casta got away from the post with the pacemakers she might have forced Gunfire to a harder test. As it was, Gannon had to take Lux Casta around on the outside of the big field, and it was not until the beginning of the far turn that the Donovan mare reached a position in which she could bid for victory. Then she responded gamely and coming down the stretch with whirlwind speed she was gaining on Old England at every stride when the wire was reached.

Owing to the size of the field there was some crowding, in which Yellow Tail was shut in, but the big California sprinter was in trouble before half the distance was covered. Articulate ran almost as good a race as Lux Casta, for he did not get a chance until Lawson got him clear of the field. But outside of the four leaders at the finish few excuses could be made for those who finished behind.

Gunfire the Betting Favorite.

Of the original twenty-three starters, eight were scratched. Gunfire was the choice of the fifteen starters, the opening quotation being 8 to 5. Yellow Tail was second choice at fives, Masterman third at sevens, Lux Casta at eights, Old England and Igniter at tens, the others ranging up as far as 50 to 1. Gunfire's price receded to 2 to 1 under the heavy play on Yellow Tail, who was reduced to fours, and also the generous support for Lux Casta, Masterman, Old England, and Igniter.

Little time was lost in aligning the horses, and when Starter Fitzgerald caught them all standing still he sprung the barrier. Burns got Gunfire away like a flash of lightning, but Shaw was equally quick with Old England, and in a moment they showed in front. At the end of the first furlong Old England, New York, and Gunfire were leading the race heads apart. At the half mile Old England was still in front, having three parts of a length the best of it, but Lux Casta by this time rushed up to second place and led Gunfire by half a length rounding the turn.

Great Struggle Begins.

Gunfire began to show magnificent condition and with gallant strides got up on even terms with Old England and slowly pushed her head in front. Then followed a demonstration such as is seldom seen anywhere except upon a racetrack. Burns had secured this advantage by coming through an opening between Old England and Lux Casta, but the race was far from won at that point, for Shaw drew his whip, and, slashing several times Old England's flanks, made the plucky gelding increase his stride until he again got on even terms with the daughter of Hastings. Opposite the free field the desperate duel began. Burns was riding as if for his life. So was Shaw. And as they rode, hand and heel, and as the two horses struggled the crowd simply screamed. One hundred yards from the wire nobody dared pick the winner, when gradually Gunfire got her head in front, and then increased her advantage to a quarter of a length amid a tremendous eruption from 35,000 throats. "Gunfire wins! It's Whitney's prize!" And so with every stride Gunfire lengthened her advantage over Old England until she had a length to spare, Burns riding her out to the end. Lux Casta came with a dazzling turn of speed, but too late, for second money went to Old England, and the race was over.

Yellow Tail Breaks Down.

Yellow Tail was quickly pulled up by Waterbury, and the game horse was hobbling so painfully that his rider humanely jumped from the saddle. He had broken down.

Whitney, who saw the race from a private box in the grand stand, was warmly congratulated by many friends. He did not bet on Gunfire, as he said a few weeks ago he did not intend to make any wagers on his horses this year. He said: "Gunfire has fulfilled my expectations. She ran a beautiful race. Much of the credit belongs to her trainer, Mr. Rogers, and to Jockey Burns, who handled her with keen judgment. I am delighted at the result and appreciate the good wishes of the public."

G. B. Morris and R. A. Smith, the trainer of Articulate, got into a warm argument with the result they posted $100 forfeit for a match race between Old England and Articulate under the same conditions which governed their performances in the Metropolitan for $1,000 a side, but the chances are the race will never be run.

The Metropolitan was worth $14,180, of which $11,180 was Gunfire's share, $2,000 was Old England's, and $1,000 was Lux Casta's.

E. E. Smathers is said to have had $10,000 on Gunfire at 2 to 1.

Capt. S. S. Brown's Broomstick won the Juvenile stake for 2 year olds by a head from a heavily played favorite, Precious Stone.

Time—:12 3-5; :24; :48 2-5; 1:14 3-5; 1:38 3-5.

Winner—B. f., by Hastings—Royal Gun.

At post 5 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second the same. Gunfire was lucky and superbly ridden. Old England made the running for six furlongs, losing his advantage in a wide stretch turn, but came again and fought out the issue with the winner on nearly even terms for another furlong, tiring suddenly in the last fifty yards. Lux Casta, after getting away badly, displayed amazing speed in running into prominence at the end of six furlongs and ran a remarkable race. Articulate closed an immense gap from a bad start, may have been the best today. Yellow Tail held a good position throughout and pulled up lame. Waswift was running fast at the end. Royal went a good six furlongs. Dr. Saylor made up ground fast from the far turn home.

Scratched—Francesco, 113; Leonora Loring, 110; Luke Ward, 104; Slave, 97; Hunter Raine, 93; Bar Le Duc, 90; Royal Summons, 87; Miss Dorothy, 87.

Third race, the Juvenile stakes, last 5 furlongs of the Eclipse course—Broomstick, 122 pounds [Odom], 12 to 1, won; Precious Stone, 122 [Shaw], even, second; Palmbearer, 119 [Gannon], 4 to 1, third. Time, :59. Leonidas, Tim Sullivan, Careless, Knowledge, and Dimple also ran.

Fifth race, the Meadowbrook hunters' steeplechase, about 2 miles—Betsy Ross, 144 pounds [Parson], 50 to 1, won; The Duffer, 146 [G. Smith], 50 to 1, second; Kate Spotswood, 6 to 1, third. Time, 4:16. Zenus also ran. St. Sulpice, Cheval d'Or, R. B. Sack, Tchula, Golden Rod, and The Virginian fell. Zenus finished first but was disqualified.

Sixth race, last seven furlongs of the Withers mile—Satire, 114 [Odom], 6 to 1, won; Nevermore, 99 [Fuller], 2 to 1, second; Rough Rider, 106 [Hicks], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:27¾. Kickshaw, Raglets, San Andres, Tommy Foster, Rocky, Tenagra, Miss Buttermilk, Chiele, Rene, and Animosity also ran.

WHIST HONORS ARE DIVIDED.

East and West Split Even in the Championship Awards at the Woman's Tourney.

The decisive games in the whist tourney at the Auditorium hotel were played yesterday morning. The championship honors were divided equally between the east and the west. The Howell Woman's Whist club of Boston won two of the championships, the Philadelphia trophy and the Toledo trophy.

The principal cup, the Washington trophy, was won by the Hamilton club of St. Louis, while Chicago was forced to be content with the junior championship, the Cavendish trophy.

A business meeting was held in the afternoon. Officers for next year were elected, and it was decided that the next meeting of the league would probably be held in Baltimore. An informal invitation was extended by the committee of that city. The officers elected were:

President—Miss Ellen Goldsborough, Baltimore.
Vice President—Mrs. Edwin L. Hall, Philadelphia.
Secretary—Mrs. O. D. Thompson, Pittsburg.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. W. Pettit, Philadelphia.
Board of Governors (elected for three years)—Mrs. J. F. Leech, Washington; Mrs. James T. Shaw, Detroit; Mrs. Charles Anderson, Cincinnati; Mrs. Walter Barney, Providence; (elected for one year) Mrs. Charles Ogden, Omaha.

In the evening an open game was arranged for winners in the open games of the other days. There were the regular open games in addition. This morning play will begin for the Brooklyn and New Amsterdam trophies, which are for women who have been playing in the open games.

The final standing of the different clubs in the contests for the different trophies was:

DEFEAT FOR JUDGE HIMES

DERBY WINNER COMES THIRD IN THE BLUE GRASS STAKES.

Event Is Won in an Impressive Manner by Mons. Beaucaire, an American Derby Candidate—Time Is Considered Good—The Crisis Finishes Second After Having Been the Pacemaker — Ellison's Colt Meets with Interference and Closes Strongly.

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—[Special.]—Mons. Beaucaire, an American Derby candidate, won the Blue Grass Stakes at Churchill Downs this afternoon in impressive fashion. The Crisis, Talbot Bros.' dependence in the Kentucky Oaks, was an easy second, and the Kentucky Derby winner, Judge Himes, who had the bad racing luck of the party, third. The stake was worth $1,650 to the winner.

Judge Himes was the favorite. Dolly Grey was first to get in motion, but The Crisis outran her in the first quarter and secured a lead of two lengths at the three-quarters. The Talbot filly had considerable advantage when she straightened away for home, and at the last eighth pole looked like a winner. Mons. Beaucaire, however, set sail for her from the three-eighths pole, and, coming fast through the stretch, he wore her down, and, passing her out in the last sixteenth, won going away by a length, with something in reserve. The Crisis had no trouble to save second place, but if Judge Himes had not been crowded back at the start there probably would have been a different story to tell. The Derby winner at the end was running strongly.

Mons. Beaucaire may not be of Derby caliber, but he has improved in staying qualities right along. With 112 pounds up he ran the six and a half furlongs in 1:21¼, which is within a quarter of a second of the track record made by Fred Barr seven years ago.

In the selling dash for 2 year olds J. Naylor & Co.'s Bermuda filly, Sweetie, a heavily backed favorite, made a show of her field, and Ed Corrigan carried her price up from $1,000 to $1,650, at which she became his property. The race was characterized by rough riding. Monthelon was carried into the fence on the stretch turn and thrown and Mendon stumbled over him and unseated his rider. Neither Booker nor Roberts was hurt, but Monthelon wrenched an ankle so badly it is not likely he will ever race again. The stewards thought Helgeson was most to blame and warned him.

First race, 1 mile—Mary Glenn, 96 pounds [Scully], 13 to 10, won; Flying Ship, 96 [A. W. Booker], 2 to 1, second; Mint Bed, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:41½. Rheta, Bridal March, and Golden Glitter ran.

Second race, selling, 7 furlongs—Lampoon, 102 pounds [Helgeson], even, won; Capt. Hugh Bradley, 103 [A. Finley], 6 to 1, second; St. Wood, 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:28¼. Tom Kingsley, Not Wisely, King Rose, Fleuron, Binehello, Prosador, Pepper Dick, and Hurry ran.

Third race, steeplechase handicap, short course—Lord Radnor, 140 pounds [Heider], 2 to 1, won; Dr. Nowlin, 132 [McAuliffe], 2¼ to 1, second; Kingalong, 4 to 1, third. Time, 2:55. Indian II., Masterful, Daryl, Pat My Boy, Falella, and Islip ran. Pretty Rosie fell.

Fourth race, Blue Grass stakes, $1,000 added, 3 year olds, 6½ furlongs—Monsieur Beaucaire, 112 pounds [A. W. Booker], 3¼ to 1, won; The Crisis, 107 [Helgeson], 4 to 1, second; Judge Himes, 117 [H. Booker], 2¼ to 1, third. Time, 1:21¼. Galba, Serge, Dolly Gray, Señor, Flora Willoughby, D. L. Moore, Shogun, and Lem Reed ran.

Fifth race, 4½ furlongs, selling—Sweetie, 107 pounds [Crowhurst], 7 to 5, won; Leech, 111 [Winkfield], 20 to 1, second; Morning Star, 3 to 1, third. Time, :55½. Prince Rupert, Banwell, Pontchartrain ran. Mendon and Montholon fell at head of stretch.

Sixth race, selling, 1 mile—Mandamus, 106 pounds [H. Booker], 3 to 1, won; The Stewardess, 104 [Shilling], 6 to 1, second; Remp, 108 [R. Williams], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:43½. Class Leader, Little Duchess II., Altona, and Lou Rey ran.

Notes of the Worth Track.

Jockey Knapp arrived from California yesterday.

Durnell & Herz backed St. Cuthbert and Nitrate heavily.

Ed Trotter yesterday signed apprentice boy I. Rutter for one year.

J. F. Newman sold his Rancocas-Heely gelding, I Must, to C. F. Robbins.

Jockey Henry rode four winners and finished second on St. Cuthbert and Nitrate.

J. C. Stevenson, J. Curl, and Charles Saunders arrived with their stables yesterday.

Duke of York, the best steeplechase horse on the coast, reached the track yesterday.

Frank M. got away poorly, but for which he would have been fighting it out with Domadge and Alfred C.

The gross value of the May Blossom stakes was $1,620, of which $200 went to the second horse and $100 to the third.

Jockey L. Wilson, a 65 pound boy who rode on the coast last winter, will be here next week and will be in charge of Sam McCrea.

Battiste came on from St. Louis yesterday morning especially to ride Badger Girl in the May Blossom stakes. The boy left for the Mound City last night.

E. L. Kripp, owner of Beau Ormonde, is expected from the coast next Tuesday and will remain here during the summer. Frank Phillips is also expected next week.

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—[Special.]—George C. Bennett's smart 2 year old Sanctum arrived here today in charge of Charles Walker. Sanctum will be a starter in the Nursery stakes on Saturday.

The program book for next week, issued yesterday, has as features the Admiral stakes, a sweepstakes for 2 year old colts and geldings, 4½ furlongs, with $1,000 added, and the Powers handicap, for 3 year olds and upward, 1¼ miles, with $3,000 added. The latter event will be worth at least $3,500 to the winner.

Jockey Coburn, who has been on the sick list for several days, will be seen in the saddle again today. He will leave for Louisville tonight, where tomorrow he will ride Sanctum, G. C. Bennett's colt, in the Nursery stakes. The colt was shipped to the Falls City on Wednesday in care of Charley Walker.

ENTRIES FOR DUAL TRACK MEET.

Athletes Who Will Compete for Universities of Chicago and Illinois on Marshall Field Tomorrow.

Entries for the Chicago-Illinois dual meet to be held on Marshall field tomorrow afternoon were announced yesterday. Director Stagg is not confident of winning the games, and many of the "dope" artists among the university athletes have made figures which show that Chicago will lose by a margin of a few points. The entries:

100 yard dash—Illinois: Kern, Bates, Rodman, Hale, Deatherage, Rothgeb, Henning, Townsend. Chicago: Blair, Senn, Taylor, Moore, Friend, Ferriss.

220 yard dash—Illinois: Kern, Bates, Henning, Deatherage, Dunbar, Townsend. Chicago: Blair, Senn, Taylor, Friend, Moore, Putnam.

440 yard run—Illinois: Dunbar, Bates, F. Smith, Fisher, Henning, Herrick. Chicago: Taylor, Buckwalter, Ferriss.

880 yard run—Illinois: Herrick, McCully, Dickerson, Henry, Dunbar, Lehman. Chicago: Cahill, Matthews, Moore, Hall, Neher.

Mile run—Illinois: Henry, Melin, Lehman, McCully, Western, Bergert. Chicago: Hall, Matthews, Neher, Moore, Noon.

Two mile run—Illinois: Henry, Western, McCully, Melin, Bergert, Gilkerson. Chicago: Hall, Matthews, Neher.

High jump—Illinois: Shephard, Wood, Foskett, Durland, Fairweather, Kline. Chicago: Sullivan, Carroll, Ferriss.

Running broad jump—Illinois: Goodspeed, Kern, Foskett, Kline, Townsend, Brycroft. Chicago: Friend, Wightman, Jayne, Kennedy, Ferriss, Moore.

Pole vault—Illinois: Shephard, Post, Durland, Johnson. Chicago: Magee, Kennedy, J. Buckwalter.

Shot put—Illinois: Rothgeb, Marley, Fairweather, F. Smith. Chicago: Speik, Catlin.

Hammer throw—Illinois: Bear, Marley, Rothgeb, Fairweather. Chicago: Speik, Wightman, A. C. Ellsworth.

Discus—Illinois: Rodman, Kline, Fairweather, Marley, F. Smith. Chicago: Speik, Catlin, Wightman.

120 yard hurdles—Illinois: Fairweather, Foskett, Kline, Goodspeed. Chicago: Manning, Catlin, Friend, Yondorf.

220 yard hurdles—Illinois: Fairweather, Foskett, Kline, Goodspeed. Chicago: Catlin, Ferriss, Friend, Moore, Yondorf.

STAKE RACE TO LUCY E. S.

MAY BLOSSOM WINNER BRINGS JOY TO "BLACK BELT."

Slaughter's Filly Takes Down the First Two Year Old Purse of Local Season at Worth and All Colored Sports of Chicago Are "Wise" to the Good Thing—Handicap Event Furnishes Head Finish Between Huzzah and Nitrate and Victory for the Former.

The May Blossom stakes, the first 2 year old stake event of the local racing season, was the monetary feature and the handicap at 1 1-16 miles the racing feature at Worth yesterday.

The first named event went to J. L. Slaughter's Requital—Alma T. filly, Lucy E. S., which for several days had been touted as the speediest young trick at the track. Owner Slaughter is a colored man, and the advance notices sent out about the filly's fast preparatory work and Slaughter's popularity among the colored sports made Lucy's victory more profitable to the sporting inhabitants of the black belt than the 4, 11, 44 policy gig.

Slaughter and those directly interested in his stable sent the tip down the levee line Wednesday night, with the result the lineup behind every booth after the race was strongly represented by gorgeously dressed colored gentlemen. They made a general clean-up, and fried chick'n and po'k chops were devoured last night regardless of the cost.

The pleasing feature of the affair was that Lucy never gave them any cause for anxiety, such as rooting for 7-11, or awaiting the coming of "Policy Sam" with his famous buggy and little roan horse with the drawings. The filly won from barrier rise to finish.

Lucy E. S. All the Way.

Henry, who piloted Lucy, broke first, and sent his mount along for all that was in her. By this method he gained a lead of a half length over Maggie Leeber, which he increased to a length at the stretch. Maggie, however, would not be denied, and, being hard ridden by Birkenruth, hung on gamely. Lucy faltered a bit opposite the paddock gate, and for a moment it appeared as if she was beaten, but a cut or two of the whip landed her under the wire first by a neck. Although her winning margin was scant, she won handily, as Birkenruth was riding for all there was in him, while Henry was hand riding. Badger Girl, coupled with Lucy E. S., got away badly, ran out at the head of the stretch, and finished fourth. Interrogation was left at the post.

The handicap furnished a head finish between Huzzah and Nitrate, with Little Scout third, a half length away. Nitrate was a topheavy favorite, and with any kind of racing luck would undoubtedly have won, although Huzzah was a good colt yesterday.

Ed Adack, who was dropped in with 90 pounds, set the pace and led to the far bend, where he tired and gave way to Gregor K., who was first at the head of the stretch. While Adack and Gregor K. were cutting out the pace, Little Scout, Huzzah, and Nitrate were shifting positions behind them. Nitrate moved into third place on the backstretch, but the others crowded him so closely that Henry was compelled to pull him up. He moved up again at the turn, and was forced to pull out, with the result he was fourth in reaching the straight.

Huzzah Comes with a Rush.

With the field straightened out for home it looked as if Gregor K. would win, but Robbins brought Huzzah through with a rush and a sixteenth out looked a handy winner, as Gregor, besides showing signs of distress, was interfered with. The race, however, was not over. Henry, after getting out of difficulties, began riding Nitrate vigorously. He went by Little Scout and Gregor K., then made for Huzzah, and in a furious drive came within a head of beating him. Barrack, the other starter, was beaten off.

Albula, Lamasney Bros.'s entry, was reported sick, after the betting had been in progress for some time, and was excused by the judges. This necessitated a halt of twenty minutes for a new book, the first incident of its kind of the season.

The finish of the fifth race between Domadge and Alfred C. was equally as exciting as that in the handicap. The last named horse had the foot of Domadge on the run in, but Henry, on the latter, outrode Birkenruth on Alfred C. and won the race by a nose.

Auchterlonie and Dunn.

Word was received yesterday afternoon from New York that Willie Dunn, the eastern golf professional who is now at the Siwanoy Country club, would meet Champion Lawrence Auchterlonie in a thirty-six hole match in June. Auchterlonie said last night he had heard nothing about such a match, but would be willing to meet Dunn if suitable conditions were arranged.

WHITE SOX FIND FRESH VICTIMS.

Turn Upon St. Louis and Win Their Seventh Successive Victory.

NO RUNS AFTER FIRST.

Dr. White Pitches and Does Well After an Unpromising Beginning.

The White Stockings made it seven straight by taking the St. Louis browns into camp yesterday at the south side grounds in a short, snappy game as different from the affair of Wednesday as yesterday was from a day in July. It was all over in ten minutes, and the score was 4 to 2 in Comiskey's favor. The other hour and eighteen minutes was so much wasted time, as nothing happened.

Dr. G. Harry White was selected to take the first fall out of the men from St. Louis, and the way he started in was anything but promising. The browns pounded in a run in a twinkling, straightening out his southern curves with ease. But he stopped them with two strikeouts, although a muffed fly let in another run. From that time on White had the visitors as much at his mercy as if he had them in his dentist's chair under the influence of laughing gas.

The White Sox drove Wee Willie Sudhoff to the prairies quickly. His offerings were apparently as palatable as chocolate caramels to a bunch of department store girls. With the help of two errors they pounded home four runs before Manager McAleer could get Wee Willie on the phone and call him to the bench. Siever, who, like White, pitches from the nigh side, took the center of the stage in the second act and the home team never had a look in thereafter. Not a man of them passed second base, and only one got as far as that in the remainder of the game.

Play in a Nor'easter.

The contest took place in the teeth of a northeast gale, which made batting difficult and the judging of fly balls even more so. The wind blew squarely into the faces of the faithful fans, who stuck it out to the end in the belief something more was going to transpire. But it might have been a croquet match for all the chance there was for enthusiasm or interest.

White played his position in a way that was worth talking about. He retired eight men at first, some of them on drives which raised the temperature several degrees. Another feature was the last play of the day, when Jones corralled Burkett's high liner after a desperate run, stretching himself to the limit just as the ball was flitting past him.

Burkett opened the game with a clean double and was sacrificed to third by Heidrick, scoring in a walk on Hemphill's drive to right. White settled and struck out Anderson, Hemphill stealing second on the last one. Then Hallman dropped a sailer from Wallace's bat, and Hemphill scored, but Barry McCormick met Anderson's fate.

Dolan opened Chicago's half with a hot one straight into Anderson's hands. Jones and Green singled, and Friel missed Hallman's grounder altogether. Jones tried to score from second on it, but was nailed at home by Burkett. Isbell came to the rscue with a wallop which carried the ball over Hemphill's head for three sacks, tying the score. Daly was passed and immediately started a double steal with Isbell. Wallace returned Sugden's throw so wildly that not only Isbell, but T. Daly as well crossed the rubber in safety.

Hemphill's Hard Luck Hit.

There was an awful narrow escape in the seventh, however. With two out, Heidrick was given a life at first because Dolan muffed Tannehill's throw. Hemphill swatted one mighty far and so high that it cleared the right field fence, but the wind blew it foul by a foot or two, otherwise the game would have been tied up. Hemphill came back with disgust written in large letters all over his face and struck out. Score:

Notes of the White Sox.

St. Louis again today, and with the first game bagged Comiskey hopes to make it three out of four in the series.

McCormick's Chicago friends presented him with a pair of diamond studded cuff buttons when he made his first appearance at the plate. He struck out.

Jones' out in the third inning was accidental. He was dodging a wide one and the ball hit his bat, rebounding into the diamond within easy reach of Siever.

Dick Padden's absence from the infield is giving Manager McAleer some trouble. Friel and McCormick have been switched on third and second in the hope of breaking the losing combination.

Comiskey's smile is a continuous performance in spite of the football weather handed out to him. It is no bluff on his part that he never looks at the "gate" when the score board looks good to him.

It was White's first opportunity to prove his mettle. He hurt his finger early in the first game he pitched and retired. His second game was when Chicago beat Cleveland 16 to 6, and he did not have to work. Yesterday he showed the goods.

It was the gale that saved Chicago in the seventh by blowing Hemphill's foul hit over the fence. It was the same gale, however, that gave St. Louis its second run in the first inning by blowing Wallace's foul out of Dolan's reach and then causing Hallman to muff his fly.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 7.—[Special.]—Michigan won its first game with Northwestern today after a hard fight in the latter part of the game. Karsten, who got up from the sick bed to pitch the game, went up in the air in the third and fourth innings, and although the score was 7 to 0 at the beginning of the third, before the smoke cleared away it was a tie. Utley went in and by his efforts finally pulled his team out ahead. It was a game of rank errors and hard hitting on both sides. Score:

COLTS CONTINUE BATTING STREAK

Selee's Men Trounce St. Louis for 10 to 1 Victory in First Game of Series.

THREE PITCHERS USED UP.

Weimer Holds Cardinals Down Without Run Until the Ninth Inning.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—[Special.]—The Colts just now are on a batting tirade, and all pitchers look alike to them. They started the cannonading in the final round of the closing game at Pittsburg, and kept it up today in the first game of their second series on Missouri soil, winning 10 to 1.

Manager Donovan was forced to work three of his voluminous corps of pitchers. [illegible] ers began. Harley started with a single. Slagle came next with a double. A triple was Chance's contribution. By rights a homer was in store for Jones. "Davy" would probably have uncorked a four base swat had he got a whack at Sanders, but when he entered the batter's box there was a new man doing twirling duty. The newcomer was "Dusty" Rhoades, who was turned adrift by Manager Selee last fall.

Rhoades crawled out of the hole Sanders had dug fairly well. But a pass to Jones and Casey's long triple were responsible for two more runs in the first. Rhoades went through the second and third untouched, but he got it fair in the fourth. Six hits, helped out by errors by Barclay and Rhoades, and steals by Evers and Kling netted the Colts five runs. Then Rhoades was banished.

Milton, a recruit from the Three Eye league, was trotted out. This was his baptismal essay in fast company, and he did nobly. He handed blanks in the sixth and seventh, and it wasn't his fault that Chicago got a tally in the eighth. With one down Slagle walked and moved up on Menefee's sacrifice. "Jack" had taken Chance's place at first in the sixth. Jones slapped out a single to center, and when Farrell let the return throw get away Slagle registered. Milton came back with another horse collar, and, all told, allowed three hits and issued one pass.

Wiemer did the firing for the Colts. The cardinals went to the fourth without getting anything that looked like a single, and traveled to the ninth before negotiating a round trip. There was one out when Brain rapped one yards over Jones' head. A spectator made a "bluff" to gather in the ball and throw it over the clubhouse. Umpire Johnstone thought the "bluff" went through and wouldn't let Brain farther than second. Safeties by Barclay, Donovan, and Nichols followed. Out of it all came one run and a full house, Williams and Weaver ending the game by popping to Evers and Menefee, respectively. Score:

Notes of the Colts' Game.

Menefee is down to pitch tomorrow.

The American league results were bulletined here today for the first time and the fans appreciated the innovation immensely.

Jones was the particular slugger. He began with a walk and followed with three singles and a double. His capture of Weaver's long aerial drive in the third was sensational.

Lowe was on the side lines. He was not missed as Evers played swell baseball in every department. He smashed out two timely singles for three bases, and handled cleanly the five chances which whizzed his way.

Weimer was knocked off the slab the last time here. Today he had his revenge, making the cardinals look cheap until the ninth, when an incipient riot did nothing but break the row of ciphers.

LABOR TROUBLES TIE UP MILLIONS

Work to Stop on Buildings in New York in Which $56,000,000 Is Invested.

BAD EFFECT ON FUTURE.

Three Burglars Routed by J. Leavitt Griggs, Who Thinks He Hit One of Them.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. New York, May 7.

Labor Strike Ties Up $56,000,000.

Building operations in Manhattan and the Bronx almost were at a standstill today, and by next Monday, according to experts, $56,000,000 in capital will be tied up in deserted and incomplete buildings, while about 100,000 persons will suffer from a war in the Carpenters' unibn and a fight between the retail brick yard and lumber yard men on one side and their teamsters on the other.

In the language of a prominent real estate operator, it has completely demoralized business, and its effects not alone will be felt at once but in the future, for capital, always timid, has laid aside plans for future buildings until it is assured of a chance of the work being done. That Monday is a conservative limit to place on the duration of work of any description it was pointed out today is due to the fact that in no new buildings can the contractor keep more than enough bricks or lumber to last for several days, and how that surplus is disappearing is shown when on constructions for which there is immediate need express wagons are being used to bring bricks, sand, and lumber from Brooklyn. Today every available wagon procurable from the express companies had been hired, but these could supply only a few hours' work, and when they are depended upon entirely the work must cease. Not alone the carpenters, teamsters, and lumber handlers will be out then, but the iron-workers, molders, plasterers, helpers, and all will lay down their tools for lack of materials.

One hundred prominent builders and contractors in Brooklyn, employing 5,000 men, met tonight and arranged to form a protective association to be known as the Builders' Protective Association of Brooklyn, for the purpose, primarily, of resisting the demands of labor unions, but also for mutual protection against speculative builders who make contracts for buildings and fail immediately when they are finished.

Cecilia Loftus and Daniel Frohman signed a contract today by the terms of which she will act under Frohman's management for three years, beginning September, 1904, in the new Lyceum theater. E. H. Sothern will write a comedy for Miss Loftus some time between now and the fall of next year.

J. Levitt Griggs Thinks He Hit One Burglar.

Awakened by the overturning of a chair J. Levitt Griggs of Paterson, N. J., son of former United States attorney General John W. Griggs, discovered three burglars in his room this morning. While they stood on tiptoe waiting to know if their awkwardness had aroused their victim, Griggs leaped out of bed, seized a revolver, and drove the intruders from the room. He is confident he hit at least one of the men. A large amount of jewelry and silverware, including several presents made to Mr. Griggs and his bride, formerly Miss Ruth Hoxsey, was stolen. When Griggs sprang from the bed and seized the revolver from a small table near by the burglars started for the door, but as they ran Griggs fired, and one uttered a cry of pain and staggered against the wall. Before Griggs could get at him, however, the man recovered and followed his two companions out of the house.

Chicago Men Begin Monster Department Store.

Henry Siegel, with Frank E. Vogel of Chicago associated with him in the enterprise, began with a small army of laborers to demolish the old store on the southeast corner of Sixth avenue and Fourteenth street, immediately after acquiring the leases. They will build on the combined sites of the old store, the Smith building, and the Rhinelander estate holdings, a great model department store, with every idea tending to comfort, completeness, and progressiveness.

The structure will front 280 feet on Fourteenth street, covering the entire Sixth avenue block front south to Thirteenth street. It will be thoroughly modern and up to date in every particular, ten stories high, with basement and subbasement, taking in the whole story arcade entrance building, formerly part of the Macy store, and more than 40,000 square feet of retail selling space. It will embody every convenience for the comfort of its patrons. This mammoth mercantile building will be completed on Jan. 1, 1904. It will have broad aisles, easy stairways, moving platforms, and twenty-two elevators.

Sailor Travels 3,000 Miles with a Broken Back.

Frank Heath, a destitute sailor who traveled 3,000 miles with a broken back, lies between life and death in the Long Island College hospital in Brooklyn. His case is surrounded in mystery. Heath, who is an old seaman, was left in Curaçao a month ago and was unable to get work until the steamship Zulla arrived there. He was taken aboard as a destitute sailor. When a few hours out from Curaçao he, with other sailors, was sent up the rigging. He lost his footing and fell to the deck, injuring his spine. He was placed in a hammock, and his fortitude and vitality were so marvelous as to call forth expressions of astonishment from all physicians connected with the case. At the hospital this evening it was impossible to learn whether he was dead, as Supt. Shaw said he had been instructed to refuse information.

New Store for John Wanamaker Will Be Immense.

Plans and specifications of John Wanamaker's new fireproof department store, to be erected on the block bounded by East Eighth and Ninth streets, Fourth avenue and Broadway, at a cost of between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000, have been filed with the builders, Dietrich & Bowser of Philadelphia, for proposals by the architects, D. H. Burnham & Co. of Chicago. The proposed structure will be practically sixteen stories high, with thirteen floors above the street and an attic, a basement, and a subbasement. It will have fronts of 187 feet on Fourth avenue, 188 feet on Broadway, 327 feet on East Ninth street, and 339 feet on East Eighth street. A large auditorium for music will be fitted up on the second floor, to take up 62,000 square feet of space. Each floor will have a total area of 1,001,600 square feet.

Big Tobacco Company to Be Absorbed.

Monday next the British-American Tobacco company, the overseas brother of the so-called tobacco trust in this country, will acquire absolute control of one of the largest exporting tobacco companies in the United States. This is the T. C. Williams company of Richmond, Va., a company which has been in existence for more than half a century, and was the formidable rival of the British-American company in Australia and its only competitor in south Africa. The T. C. Williams company is to be acquired by out and out purchase, the price being in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. For several days negotiations have been under way in this matter in New York, and Hugo Reisenstein and Cunliffe-Owen, secretary of the British-American Tobacco company, are in this city to be present at the final act of transfer.

Striking Italians Disregard Counsel and Stay Out.

Sweeping aside the pleading of Chevalier Branchi, their consul general, Port Warden James E. March, and the officials of the Central Federated Union of Labor, the 15,000 striking Italian laborers voted almost unanimously today not to return to work in the city subway until they are assured $2 for eight hours' work. This means that the arbitration agreement entered into by a committee of the federation and the subway contractors on Tuesday is repudiated. Not a stroke of work will be done in the subway, as promised by the committee, and another handicap continues against the already crippled building operations of the city.

Immediately after the meeting the police were called to suppress a demonstration at One Hundred and Eighteenth street and Second avenue. Only one thing remains to be done, according to the subcontractors. As soon as the formal reply of the union is received they will seek nonunion labor wherever it can be found. This means that other Italian laborers, who are willing to accept $1.87½ for ten hours' work or $1.50 for eight hours' work, and negroes from the south and even from the West Indies will be brought here and put at work in the strikers' places.

Miss Claussenius Leaves the Stage to Become a Bride.

After a brief stage career, Miss Jane Field, who in private life is Miss Minna Clausseníus of Chicago, is to retire and become the bride of Laurens Pember Rider, a member of the firm of White, Rider & Trost and of several New York clubs. The engagement was announced today. Miss Field, after some slight experiences in minor parts, appeared early this year in the rôle of Ella Seaforth in "The Earl of Pawtucket." Soon afterward she attended a ball at the Waldorf-Astoria under the chaperonage of Mr. and Mrs. Kirke La Shelle. Mr. Rider, who is a friend of La Shelle, was also there, and the young people were introduced. Mr. Rider became an ardent suitor. Miss Field will leave the company in two weeks and the wedding will immediately follow, probably at the West Presbyterian church. Mr. Rider is 35 years old, while his fiancée is 20.

Presbyterian Creed Revision Is Near.

Presbyterian creed revision appears to be near at hand, after a prolonged and at times acrimonious struggle within and without the ranks of that church. It was learned today that 227 out of 285 presbyteries of the Presbyterian church of America have voted solidly for creed revision as based on the eleven overtures sent down by last year's general assembly. This tabulated official vote was telegraphed to several leading Presbyterians in this city by the Rev. William Henry Smith of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the general assembly. At the meeting of the general assembly to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., this month it is believed the last obstacle to creed revision will have been overcome and the demands of the great majority of Presbyterians granted.

Now Mrs. Pell Wants a Divorce.

Disregarding the divorce secured in the Florida courts against her, Mrs. Anna Ogden Pell began proceedings in this state to secure an absolute divorce from Duncan C. Pell, naming as corespondent the woman whom Pell married last October in Connecticut after he secured the Florida decree. The Pells were married Dec. 14, 1892. About two years ago they separated, and under an agreement Mrs. Pell took the two children. Pell agreed to pay $150 monthly to his wife and did so for some time, but a little more than a year ago he went to Orlando, Fla., established a legal residence, commenced an action for divorce, and got it. He stopped the payments to his wife and went to West Haven, Conn., where he married Miss Helene Louise Gardner.

MOTHER-IN-LAW PROBLEM. AS VIEWED BY JUDGE BALL.

His Opinion of the Position of the Wife Is, However, Opposed by Two Other Jurists.

"If a husband, able to provide a separate home for his wife, takes her to a home presided over and wholly controlled by the mother-in-law, and relegates his wife, in spite of repeated requests, to a subordinate position, and submits to seeing her dominated by such mother-in-law, is the wife thereby justified in living separate and apart from her husband, and therefore entitled to separate maintenance? Under the circumstances of this case I unhesitatingly say yes."

This was the opinion of Judge Ball delivered in the Appellate court yesterday in the separate maintenance case brought by Mrs. Ernestina Giese, 194 Lawndale avenue, against her husband, Wilhelm Giese. Mrs. Giese asserted her husband promised to provide her with a suitable home, but instead took her to a flat in charge of the mother of his first wife. In all differences, Mrs. Giese said, her husband took the part of his mother-in-law. Mrs. Giese also charged that her husband owned property valued at $50,000, which he conveyed to his daughter without consideration.

The bill filed by Mrs. Giese was dismissed in the Superior court, and Judge Ball expressed the opinion that this decree should be reversed.

An opposite opinion was expressed by Judges Windes and Adams, however, who affirmed the decree of the Superior court.

"The evidence presents no serious controversy," say these judges, "between these parties, nor any direct attempt by him to drive her away, nor any conduct upon his part that would necessarily render her miserable. We have no sympathy with that which tends to cheapen the marriage relation."

Late in the afternoon Wilhelm Giese turned about and filed a bill for divorce in the Circuit court against his wife.

PLAN THEIR STATE PROGRAM.

Literature Given a Back Seat by Directors of Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Literature was given a back seat by the board of directors of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday when the program for the next state convention was arranged. Despite the protests of Mrs. Henry A. Phillips, chairman of the literature committee, the final session of the convention was set apart for the reading of the report of her committee. As a majority of the delegates leave for their homes before then the awarding of that time to Mrs. Phillips' committee was regarded as a "knock."

The program was divided among the different committees, and two radical departures from previous programs were arranged. A model kitchen and a model schoolroom will be arranged in the convention hall as exhibitions of the home and the education committees.

The question of the revision of the bylaws and the old question of increasing the dues will be among the important topics to be considered. The election of delegates to the next biennial, at St. Louis, promises a fight.

NEED A NEW SUIT. MR. MANION?

Police Lieutenant Gives Man Who Says He Was Robbed a Chance to "Dress Up."

"I will give William Manion a suit of clothes if he will show that he was robbed of $700 in his saloon at 2458 La Salle street, as he reported at this station last week Tuesday," said Lieut. Moore of the Twenty-second street police station last night. "I made him this offer, and still have the suit."

Error May Cost Man's Life.

Through the mistake of a fellow-employé, Thomas Barron, 19 Twentieth street, was severely and probably fatally scalded while at work in the Sania Fé roundhouse, Eighteenth street and Wentworth avenue, last evening. Barron was under an engine, and it is said he called to Albert Ross, the engineer, to turn on the sand, and that Ross by mistake turned on the steam.

MORE FLOWERS; FEWER DIVORCES.

Twentieth Ward Improvement Club Hears New Reason for Cleaning Up.

POLICEMEN ARE TOO FAT

Suggestion Is Made That They "Train" by Suppressing Street Litter and Dirt.

A flower pot in the front window, a honeysuckle and a morning glory vine in the back yard, an emptied garbage box on the back fence, a clean alley behind and a bit of clean street in front—all these things secured and there will be fewer divorces, according to the opinion of speakers before the Twentieth Ward Improvement association last night in Princess rink.

According to this rubaiyat of the improvement association "thou wilt tarry" longer amid such surroundings than in filth and squalor. W. S. Elliott Jr. said that the flower pot and the honeysuckle would decrease the number of divorces, and Bishop Muldoon declared that the attorney was right.

Therefore the improvement association will purchase sprinklers and garbage wagons, raise money, and equip a street cleaning force, place a "captain" in every block of the Twentieth ward, and clean up.

Dirty Faces and Alleys Barred.

Tomorrow will be a general "cleaning" day in the ward. There is not to be a dirty face, a dirty alley, an overflowing garbage box, or a piece of loose paper within the length and breadth of its territory.

From the board of education permission has been secured to enlist the school children in the work, and from early morning until late at night tomorrow there will be scrubbing, digging, washing, and hauling away of dirt.

At the meeting last night there were prominent men in all professions to speak in the intereats of cleanliness. Among them were Bishop Muldoon, Bishop Samuel Fallows, Judge Tuthill, Judge Burke, Judge Adams, Deputy Commissioner Brennan of the public works department, W. S. Elliott Jr., Police Inspector Campbell, F. D. Meacham of the board of review.

Flowers for the Poor.

Mr. Elliott spoke of the relation of divorces to uncleanly surroundings, and Bishop Muldoon supported him, protesting that some of the money which the association proposes to spend for sprinklers and sweepers should go to putting the "pots of flowers and the honeysuckles" in the homes of the poor.

"Make their lives a little brighter and husband and wife will not fail to quarreling so easily," said Mr. Elliott. "As a lawyer, I may be supposed to be speaking against my business, but we will stand for the loss of this kind."

"Mr. Elliott is right," said Bishop Muldoon, "and it would pay the ward to spend money in placing flowers within the home of the poor to brighten them."

Police Are Too Fat.

Judge Tuthill had a suggestion for the police, who, he thought, could be of more assistance than they are at present in the cleaning up process.

"They are nice fellows, but they are too fat," he said. "It would do them good to work a little more, and then they would lose the fat, and people would think they really were earning their salaries. It is not often they get a chance to arrest a burglar, but they can work at the cleaning up business all the time.

"Every time they find something wrong they ought to trot up the steps and notify the property owner that it is wrong. Then they ought to see that prosecution follows the failure of the owner to obey orders. That would take some of the fat off them. Instead of going along without looking at anything they should keep their eyes open."

Inspector Campbell took issue with Judge Tuthill, and asserted that the police were doing everything they could under the clean city ordinances.

"They would have a little more heart for their work," he said, "if they knew that punishment would follow the appearance of an offender before a judge. It has not been a week since a policeman was fined two days' pay for neglecting his duty in regard to the clean city ordinances, and Chief O'Neill has issued strict orders for the enforcement of the law."

Must Do Their Duty.

Charles Lichtenberger declared that Inspector Campbell on the north side evidently was enforcing the laws, and then secured the passage of a resolution by the association calling on its officers to secure similar attention to duty from the west side police.

After this had been passed Bishop Muldoon declared himself against any such action.

"I do not care to be put in the position of saying that the police are not doing their duty," he said, "and I do not vote for any such resolution."

"Clean Up" in Kenwood.

The street cleaning department of the Kenwood Improvement association is now in operation. This information was imparted to the directors of the organization at a meeting held last evening at the residence of Dexter G. Brown, 4734 Greenwood avenue. As yet the department force consists of one man, a push cart, shovel, and a scythe. Later in the season the force will be increased as the needs of the department require and the condition of the treasury will admit of.

The object of the association, the organization of which received its finishing touches last evening, is to keep the streets and alleys and vacant lots of Kenwood free from waste paper and other unsightly material.

ASPHALT CONTINUES IN FAVOR.

Property Owners Desire Better Pavements, Only One Expressing Opposition to the Plan.

Sentiment of downtown property owners continues to manifest itself in favor of asphalt pavements, the only letter in opposition yesterday being from Warren Springer, who wrote:

"The profits from the Taylor building, 140-6 Monroe street, will not warrant nor justify paving the street with asphalt, as the property is running me into debt every year. I would certainly object to paving Monroe street with asphalt just as long as I possibly could."

The Young Men's Christian association, by Assistant Secretary William J. Parker, wrote:

"As a semi-public institution the association feels that it should exhibit readiness in cooperating in enterprises of this kind for the improvement of our city."

Adolph Kraus, twenty-five feet, on State street, favors the plan, "provided property owners will not be required to pay more than the work is worth and then wait years for rebates."

FIND TRAMP AND KIDNAPED BOY.

Archie Davies of Kansas City, Who Has Been Missing for Six Months, at Lawrenceville, Ill.

Lawrenceville, Ill., May 7.—[Special.]—Archie Davies, the 13 year old son of O. L. Davies of Kansas City, and a tramp who had kidnaped him, were found tonight in the railroad yards here by Sheriff Peter J. Carr. The boy at first seemed to be afraid of the tramp and could hardly be induced to talk, but he finally said he is Archie Davies. When captured the tramp swore and commanded the boy to keep silent. The tramp gave his name as Frank Wilmouth, and denied the kidnaping. Mrs. Davies, who has traveled in search of her boy for six months, is expected from St. Louis today. It is said that this is the second time Wilmouth has enticed the boy and taken him all over the country, forcing him to beg and steal.

EX-MAYOR AMES GUILTY.

HEAD OF MINNEAPOLIS RING IS CONVICTED OF BRIBERY.

Tried on One of Many Indictments Against Him, Man Who Was Four Times Elected Executive of City Is Declared by Jury to Have Accepted $600 Unlawfully—Systematic Organization for Blackmail Broken Up—Defendant Is Shocked.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—Albert Alonzo Ames, former mayor of Minneapolis, has been found guilty of accepting a bribe of $600 while chief executive of this city.

Mayor Ames was permitted to go home this evening, his bond of $21,000 continuing and covering all purposes. He refused to see any one. The shock to the now broken old man, who hoped for acquittal, was too great, and his attending physicians have ordered him to bed and seclusion.

After being out twenty-four hours the jury in the case returned into Judge Elliott's court, and, after being polled, returned their verdict of guilty late this afternoon.

The usual motions were made for a stay and an arrest of execution of judgment and now will come the long fight on appeal.

The defendant was on hand early this morning with his wife and all the attorneys in the case were in attendance. The doctor was pale, caused clearly by the night of anxiety which he spent, being unable to sleep. He chatted with the reporters and the attorneys and expressed confidence in the outcome. Mrs. Ames looked decidedly tired out and the worry lines were plainly visible.

Jury Asks Further Instructions.

The jury came in at 10 o'clock and asked that certain questions be answered.

The three questions put to the court were:

"1. Was there any evidence to show that Gardner collected any graft before Dr. Ames left for his hunting trip?

"2. Where and from whom did the police, aside from Norbeck, get their orders to report to Gardner at Ames' medical office?

"When Ames received the $600 from Gardner did he know that it was graft money?"

Judge Elliott replied to the first question that the matter of any money paid previously was not in the case. Relative to the second question, the court instructed that the evidence of Sinclair was that the orders came from headquarters.

To the third question the reply was that it was not necessary that Gardner tell him so at that time, or that he should make a statement to the effect.

The jury retired, and returned with the verdict several hours later.

Story of the Bribery Ring.

Mayor Alonzo A. Ames was indicted by the Minneapolis grand jury on June 17, 1902, some days after the jury had progressed well into the hearing of the bribery and corruption of the city administration.

There was an enormous mass of detail developed by the grand jury, the substance of which was that Mayor Ames and his brother, Chief of Police Fred Ames, had organized a perfect system of blackmail whereby gamblers and illegal resorts were allowed to carry on their affairs for the payment of regular sums at stated intervals to the agents of the mayor and the chief.

The principal collecting agents were Irwin A. Gardner and C. C. Norbeck.

Gardner was a medical student in the office of Mayor Ames, who prior to his entering politics was a practicing physician. Gardner was known to be the confidential man of the mayor. He was on the pay rolls as a special officer.

Norbeck was a special detective, and occupied a most peculiar rôle in the combination. It was his duty to watch the gambling houses, but not to arrest the gamblers. He was to lead the victims away and pacify or even intimidate them if they objected too strenuously. Norbeck got $50 a week from the gamblers for this work.

"Billy" Edwards, one of the gambling ring, testified that the entire combine had been arranged before Ames had been in the mayor's chair a week after his first election in 1900, and it was no time at all before the "Big Mitt" men knew just how they stood.

Paid Big Sums Each Week.

The blackmail from gamblers, saloons, and illegal resorts paid the Ames administration between $10,000 and $16,000 a week. This sum had to be divided up among a number of persons, and it is alleged that the mayor and his brother Fred, the chief of police, secured the greater share of it.

The first indictment of Mayor Ames was for attempting to bribe the county commissioners. It was evident that Gov. Van Sant was about to remove the sheriff, and it would then devolve upon the county commissioners to appoint. The office paid $20,000 a year, and Ames is said to have told the commissioners they could have two-thirds of that sum if they would appoint his secretary, Tom Brown, an ex-reporter, to the vacancy.

Ames Faces Trial.

Ames was at first defiant and indignant, but the evidence was too overwhelming. Then his health failed and he went to West Baden, Ind., to recuperate.

He eventually returned to Minneapolis to face his trial on the first batch of indictments. His defense was incipient paresis and mental irresponsibility.

Dr. Ames was four times mayor of Minneapolis, once as a republican and three times as a democrat, and was once democratic nominee for governor of Minnesota. He was born in Garden Prairie, Ill., Jan. 18, 1842.

OAK PARK DWELLINGS BURN.

Aged Woman's Home, Built with the Saving of Years, Destroyed—Children Rescued by Parents.

Fire destroyed the house of William Miller, 23 North Seventh avenue, Oak Park, last evening, and spread to the house of Mrs. Albert Kuschel, 21 North seventh avenue, also destroying that building. Miller places his loss at $3,500, while Mrs. Kuschel's loss is $3,000. For seven years Mrs. Kuschel, who is 60 years old, has been saving money earned by taking in washing, thus paying for her home. Only $300 was needed to complete the payments. The realization of her loss threw the woman into hysterics. The fire is believed to have started from the burning of dried orange peelings on the top of a hot blast stove in Miller's house.

Miller and his wife rescued their three children with difficulty.

Sparks from a bonfire started at the rear of a barn in Oak Park early in the evening threatened the destruction of a number of buildings, but the efforts of the firemen confined the fire to two small structures, the loss being $600.

ACCUSED MAN'S BIG POLICIES.

Edwin M. Thayer, Who Died While Under Charge of Forgery, Found to Have $470,000 Insurance.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—[Special.]—The sudden death of Edwin M. Thayer of Newton while under arrest on a charge of forgery has revealed that he had insurance policies aggregating $470,000, much of which was taken during the last three months. This is declared significant in connection with the fact that Thayer is said to have died, according to a certificate signed by Medical Examiner Draper, of acute nephritis, complicated with a cardiac affection and congestion of the lungs. Thayer was arrested last Monday, obtained bonds, and died on Friday.

Maj. Ray is from Danville, Ill. He came over on the transport Logan, which brought the bodies of 500 soldiers who were killed in the Philippines.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Ghidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

Dr. Howard James, of New York City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

MULTIPLICITY OF DECREES COMPLICATES PERJURY CASE.

Porter L. Getchel, First Husband of Mrs. Charlotte Remmick, Defendant, Tells of Being Twice Divorced from Her.

While Mrs. Charlotte Remmick is on trial in Judge Holdom's court on a charge of perjury in connection with a divorce decree, Porter L. Getchel, her first husband, declared in Oshkosh, Wis., yesterday that he secured a divorce from her twenty-three years ago. He said the decree had been lost.

Mrs. Remmick claims to be the widow of Charles Remmick, a lawyer, and on the validity of the decree she says she secured before her alleged marriage to Remmick is said to depend her possession of the lawyer's estate, valued at $100,000.

Getchel said he married Charlotte Bublick in Wisconsin, in June, 1880. Before a week had passed he announced he had grounds for divorce, left his wife, and located in Oshkosh. He said he consulted a lawyer regarding a divorce, and later was given a document which appeared to be a legal decree. Then he married Miss Laabs of Oshkosh.

Sixteen years later Getchel says he was visited by a Chicago lawyer, who inquired about the divorce proceedings. Getchel found there was no record of a decree, and at once filed a new suit, in which he was successful.

This decree, it is said, was secured after the alleged marriage of Mrs. Remmick in Chicago, but the defense produced a decree yesterday which antedates that event. This document was signed by Thomas A. Moran, who then was a judge, but he is unable to say whether it is his signature. Assistant State's Attorney Barnes calls the paper a forgery.

During the afternoon ex-Judge Sears moved that the case be taken from the jury and the defendant discharged.

"On what ground?" asked Judge Holdom.

"On the ground that the evidence of the state is purely documentary, and that where there is not a single living witness on a pertinent point the perjury charge cannot be sustained, no matter how strong the documentary evidence."

This is said to be a novel point, and the attorneys will argue it today.

Helps Himself to Medicine; Dies.

Believing he had found a remedy for a severe pain, O. T. Nunns, a watchman employed in the building at 126 Clark street, drank from a bottle he found in Dr. Bassett's office on the second floor at 11 o'clock last evening. An hour later William Hack, 948 West Madison street, also a watchman in the building, found Nunns dead in a chair in the physician's office, holding the bottle in his hands. It had contained nux vomica.

Stationery for June weddings.

OUR stationery section is headquarters for wedding stationery, including cards, invitations and announcements. Our specimen books show the latest forms and styles in lettering, and are an authority on correct usage.

It is imperative that fashion's edicts be obeyed with precision in this matter. By placing your order with us you avoid all possibility of mistake, as nothing that has not received the approval of the arbiters of correct form is ever shown in our engraving room.

There is, however, considerable scope afforded for the exercise of individual preference, as you will see by inspecting our specimens. Letters in Old English, shaded Old English and script are all in good taste. The monogram is used very freely on the newest ideas.

We will gladly submit estimates and style sheets. All orders for engraving are executed promptly, in a manner that does not admit of adverse criticism.

Artware for wedding gifts.

THOSE seeking gifts for June brides should not fail to visit our great fourth floor artware section, which has been increased in attractiveness by the recent arrival of choice shipments of fine artwares, rich cut glass, art bronzes and French china.

A superb selection of French Art Nouveau bronzes, including figures, busts, vases, urns, trays, jardinieres, electroliers, etc., is replete with suggestions for appropriate wedding presents.

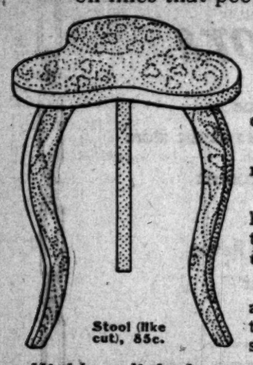

Our crystal room contains an incomparable showing of rich American cut glass so attractively displayed that choosing gifts here is a pleasure. Among its treasures are water sets, bon bon dishes, berry bowls, decanters, punch bowls, vases, fooled comports, etc.

Other excellent gifts are: Sevres and Royal Vienna vases, marble statuary, artistic lamps, Haviland china, clocks, candlesticks and candelabra.

A rare furniture opportunity: do not overlook it.

WE must have more room in order to show the new summer furniture, so reduce prices on lines that people who have just changed their residences most want.

Accordingly you'll see special price-marks on a great many of our most desirable pieces of furniture this morning. We can merely hint at a few of them in this advertisement.

Imported wall papers.

NEVER have wall papers attained so high a degree of real artistic merit as now.

There are, moreover, new manners of applying the material to walls and ceilings which greatly enhance their artistic qualities.

Mandel's offer a remarkable assortment of imported wall papers, which they show in a quiet room away from the noise and bustle of the store. Here, too, they have books containing reproductions of walls papered in the designs they offer, giving a good idea of how the papers will look when hung.

New art effects.

The "new art" has found its way into wall decorations. The old "border," dispensed with a couple of seasons or so ago, is now most satisfactorily replaced by a "crown frieze," which is a continuation of the design of the side walls, blended so nicely as to defy a suspicion of patching. The idea is quite new. For example, a tangle of foliage in the side walls is capped with tops of giant trees, or has a cloud and sky effect blended into it in a manner quite impossible to describe. Almost everything in the way of artistic wall decoration this year is in panels. This is especially good for a wall much broken by windows and doors.

Harmonious borders.

These patches of wall are bordered with narrow strips in harmony with the body of the paper, inclosing them as with a frame.

Mandel's show not only exquisite importations but domestic adaptations of the same effects which, in many cases, have quite as much character as their prototypes.

Friday bargains in the economy basement...notable values.

EVERY stock in the great economy salesroom has been examined carefully and its best values brought forth to make this a Friday that will set a new record, and we shall have a hearty bargain welcome for every visitor. EDITORIAL COMMENT

Our city mail order service is a great convenience to people who wish to secure goods advertised in the "Store News" but are unable to go downtown to get them the same day. All that is necessary in order to obtain anything on the page is to mail us a letter, telling what you want, and it will be sent to you by first delivery after letter reaches us, subject to your approval. If it is satisfactory pay for it, or, if you are a charge customer, we will enter it on your account. Then, too, if at any time there is anything we keep in stock that you want in a hurry, write or 'phone us, and we will deliver the order promptly. Experienced mail order shoppers, whose judgment may be relied upon, have charge of all these orders. This is another way in accordance with the Mandel policy of making it easy and pleasant to buy goods at this store.

DEATHS.

Marriage or death notices will be cabled in condensed form, without extra charge, for publication in the Paris edition of the New York Herald if advertisers so request, by writing on their notices when handing them in, "Cable to the New York Herald European edition."

MACHINISTS—WE HAVE PLACES FOR A number of good machinists for all grades of work at full pay and in a shop with appointments and surroundings first class in every particular. We run our shop 54 hours per week, and our men have always been satisfied with their pay, surroundings, and treatment.

A number of our men quit work a short time ago under the following circumstances: We were among the first to adopt the 54 hour week in Chicago, and at the time the shorter hours were put into effect we submitted the arrangement of hours to a vote of our employes. Almost unanimously they voted for a division of the 54 hour week which provided for a Saturday half holiday. A vote was taken a second time last fall with the same result. Upon a recent demand by the Machinists' union that we run the shop nine hours each day, we offered to take a vote again and abide the preference of the majority of our men. This vote was taken and resulted in a majority favoring the Saturday half holiday. A number of our employes then quit work, although expressing themselves as entirely satisfied with their jobs. Our shop is an open shot, not discriminating for or against union or nonunion men. Apply to

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

CLOSING DAYS
Manufacturers' clearance
OF PIANOS.

Public interest amounts to enthusiasm for THE KIMBALL.

May moving seems only to stimulate interest in the most remarkable piano sale of the year.
Old piano will be taken to our warerooms and new one delivered at your pleasure.

BEST OF ALL.
Pianos of a home factory show sweeping reductions in prices. Hundreds of selections have been made during this sale, and many used instruments have been "taken in exchange" for new Kimballs. These have been put in good condition in our shops and will be sold at once, a few samples of which are as follows:

2 Hallet & Davis uprights	$125 and $140
2 Weber uprights	$150 and 190
2 Steinway uprights	$225 and 250
Story & Clark upright	175
Whitney upright	170
2 J. P. Hale & Co. uprights	$90 and 110
Leland upright	150
Light & Co. upright	140
Hinze upright	165
Lyon & Healy upright	80

A SMALL SUM OF MONEY
Will at this time guarantee to the purchaser an instrument suitable for beginning a musical education, as our basement stock consists of a large variety, a few of which are mentioned below:

Hallet & Davis square piano	$15
Steck square	15
Taylor & Duprey square	15
Other squares, different makes	$20 to 40

Payments $2 and $3 per month.
Any of these instruments will be accepted at full price paid toward any new Kimball piano within two years from date.

THE KIMBALL PIANO PLAYER
enables you to play any tune on any piano with but a few moments' practice. Purchase price includes fine library of music and library privileges not offered elsewhere.
A few Kimball piano players offered during this sale at greatly reduced prices on account of having been used at concerts and out on rental.
Easy payments on all purchases.
W. W. KIMBALL CO. (Established 1857).
Southwest corner Wabash-av. and Jackson-blvd.

REDUCTIONS IN PIANOS!
Over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Knabe, Mason & Hamlin, Miller, Hazelton, Krakauer, Fischer, and other great makes are exhibited side by side in Lyon & Healy's warerooms. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special features. The workmanship in each is of a superior character and every one of these pianos is of a design approved by the highest standard of public taste.
SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS THIS WEEK.
We offer great inducements this week in new pianos, of modern styles, sweet tone, first class action, and fully guaranteed. Look at the instruments marked with a white tag. This signifies a recent cut in price of $50 or more. There are nearly 100 of these pianos and you can form no idea of the values without a visit of inspection.
In addition to the foregoing we offer scores of bargains in used pianos. Note these:
Sohmer upright, neat case, $125.
Collard upright, very small, mahogany, $50.
Adam Schaaf upright, large, $85.
Newcombe upright, very old style, $75.
Chickering upright, rosewood, $175.
Sterling upright, oak, carved panels, $190.
Everett upright, mahogany, little used, $225.
Huntington upright, rented short time, $165.
Ivers & Pond upright, nearly new, $200.
Large size Fischer, buried walnut, $225.
Knabe, ebony upright, largest size, $325.
3 Steinway uprights, cabinet grands, very low.
Shoninger upright, rosewood, $165.
Large Knabe upright, rosewood case, $250.
Knabe upright, walnut case, good as new, $325.
Chickering upright, in good condition, $165.
New England upright, neat model, $110.
And many others.
EASY PAYMENTS—These pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid by installments.
Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list, and also our schedule of freight rates on pianos. We ship pianos everywhere.
LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.
The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America.

VOSE PIANOS.
The standard of piano excellence.
There is a marked difference in pianos—more of a difference between Vose pianos and other pianos than you imagine. Everything about a Vose piano is solid—substantial—enduring.
Take the carving on a Vose piano for example—it's all done by hand—out of solid wood—the kind of wood of which the case is made—it's all genuine hand carved, hand polished hardwood—no stamped or pressed designs—no soft woods stained to imitate the genuine.
And notwithstanding the fact that Vose pianos are today the standard of excellence in piano manufacture, they are not expensive pianos. There is hardly a home that cannot afford to have a piano of any kind that cannot afford to buy a Vose—for Vose value is not measured by the Vose price. Selling direct from the factory to your home reduces the cost and increases the value you get.

ONE HUNDRED SECOND HAND UPRIGHTS.
Chickering, Vose, Emerson, Bauer, Ludwig, Howard, Capen, Gabler, Colby, and other standard makes—slightly shop worn—finish perfect—can't be told from new pianos—some slightly used—some exchanged—some returned from rental—tone and action perfect—every one guaranteed for five years—your choice at almost your own price and on practically your own terms—they simply must be sold, and sold now, to make room for new stock—$75, $90, $110, $125, $145.

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Forty-third general assembly was scheduled to adjourn at an early hour this morning, after a four months' session. The notable event in its history, which will cause it to be long remembered, was the revolt of the house against Speaker Miller and gavel rule. That form of violation of the constitution and of usurpation of legislative authority which consists in refusing the right to a roll call, which the constitution gives, reached its climax under a speaker who was put where he is through improper influences in order that the men who promoted his election might have some one in the speaker's chair who would use the gavel illegally when they ordered him to do so. He went so far in obedience to orders as to attempt to coerce a majority. Then came the revolt, and a formal condemnation of gavel rule has been placed upon the journals of the house. The rule has been laid down for the guidance of future speakers that they must obey the constitution and grant a roll call when it is demanded by five members. There is reason to believe that gavel rule has been suppressed in Illinois.

The legislative record which the general assembly has made is not a bad one. It has done considerable good work and little objectionable work. Its sins have been of omission rather than of commission. Chicagoans cannot complain that the general assembly has been illiberal as regards them. It has voted to submit to the people the constitutional amendment they asked for. It has given them a municipal ownership bill. It has passed numerous important park bills. The Field Columbian museum building and the Crerar library building will be erected on the lake front. The sanitary district has been enlarged. The desired amendments to the Torrens law and the law concerning local improvements have been secured.

Complaints are made sometimes by country members that Chicago demands too much of the time of the general assembly. In reality it does not. The multifarious interests found in Cook county and the large proportion of the population of the state living in Chicago make it plain why so many of the bills introduced in the legislature relate to matters which concern Chicago alone. Although country members grumble sometimes, they always contribute the votes needed to pass proper Cook county bills.

Some excellent laws affecting the whole state were enacted. Among them is the one making the limit of damages recoverable where death has been caused by the wrongful act of another $10,000 instead of $5,000. The military code of the state has been revised and legislation enacted to regulate automobiles. A number of bills drafted by the commission appointed to revise the laws relating to judicial practice should have been passed, but were not, but no legislation which was imperatively needed failed of passage.

AVOIDABLE ACCIDENTS.

Who is responsible?

In the case of the accident on South Halsted street day before yesterday this question can be answered with a reasonable approach to exactness. The city was responsible.

The four men who were riding on the bumper of the car which was struck by the car behind it were not riding on the bumper because they preferred to ride there. They were not trying to secure for themselves the thrill of a novel experience. They were not trying to give an exhibition of athletic skill. They were simply trying to get home. And in order to get home they had to ride on the bumper. There was no room for them anywhere else. The serious injuries which they sustained were a direct consequence of overcrowding and overcrowding is a direct consequence of municipal legislative inaction.

There are two ways in which Chicago can stop overcrowding. The first is to forbid cars to receive passengers after all the seats have been occupied. This way would not commend itself to the impatient American who would rather stand up in a car than have his nerves racked by seeing the car sweep by him on the corner. The second way is to order the companies to run more cars. The council has power to do that. If there had been more cars on South Halsted street day before yesterday—and the company can run more if it chooses—the four men who were injured in the accident to which reference has been made would have been riding inside instead of on the bumper of their car and would not now be in bed with broken bones.

There can be absolutely no doubt that the city council has power to compel an increase in the number of cars in use on Halsted street. Under the circumstances there can be no difficulty in fixing the responsibility for the accident under consideration. The responsible party—the guilty party—was the city, which neglected to give the order to run more cars which it could have given and which it should have given last fall when a similar accident happened on Halsted street, because the traction company did not run enough cars.

MR. HAMLINE'S ROUGH TONGUE.

Mr. John H. Hamline has been "seen" by a director of the Union Traction company. We don't say this in an offensive way. We don't imply that he was actuated by "ulterior motives" in going to Springfield to beat the Mueller bill. But we have it from a friend of "one of the directors of the traction company" that Mr. Hamline might not be against the Mueller bill if there were boodle in it; then, again, he might be.

While Mr. Hamline bears a good character, he has a rough tongue, and he uses it freely against everybody who doesn't agree with him. Nobody accuses him of positive dishonesty, yet he is not universally considered a man of calm judgment, and few value an opinion because it comes from him. In short, John Hamline is a crank; a man of uncertain judgment; a modern Thersites; a scold; a persistent "off side" player. He couldn't be nominated for judge by either party, and, if nominated, he couldn't be elected. He hasn't the judicial temperament.

It wouldn't be fair to say that he was aggrieved because he wasn't nominated for judge, or that he thinks he should have been retained in place of Edwin Burritt Smith to present the city's case to the legislature. Yet it is as fair to say this as to indulge the presumptions he does in regard to the press of Chicago, or to accept the hearsay evidence of an unknown "director of the Union Traction company" as having any weight, or to indulge in innuendo affecting the character of public men without a particle of evidence to sustain it. We know—as everybody knows—that John Hamline is a crank, but we suppose that he is, as far as his intellectual limitations permit him to be, an honest crank.

What is his case against the press of Chicago? It is this: That "a director of the Union Traction company" told John Hamline that he had "seen the press of Chicago"; that the program was to have a charter for more than twenty years; and that the press were going to support it. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE cannot deny this statement as to the other papers, because it does not know what the facts are as to them, but it can say positively that the "director of the Union Traction company" referred to—if there be any such person—did not tell the truth when he said that he had seen or had any communication, directly or indirectly, with the editor of THE TRIBUNE, or with anybody authorized to speak for him as to the policy of the paper with reference to the traction or any other question. If Mr. Hamline saw any director of the Union Traction company who pretended to speak for THE TRIBUNE the director deceived him. If he did not, Mr. Hamline uttered an untruth.

Mr. Hamline says that the press of Chicago unanimously agreed to do a certain thing, and he does not show that they did it. Only two of the nine English papers are quoted as advocating a franchise longer than twenty years, and their honesty in so doing is not questioned. THE TRIBUNE has constantly done what Hamline says it agreed not to do—that is to say, it has advocated a franchise for twenty years and no longer. The Trautmann amendment was as much a surprise to THE TRIBUNE as it was to Mr. Hamline. Many good lawyers—whose opinions we value more highly than Mr. Hamline's—say it is not susceptible of the construction he puts upon it. We are bound to believe it is not. When lawyers disagree what shall the editors do? Manifestly they must take the opinions of the lawyers whose standing at the bar entitles them to speak with the most authority. That is what THE TRIBUNE has done.

TOO MUCH BUSINESS AGENT.

The trouble with the steam engineers is that they have not yet sufficiently restricted the powers of their business agent. They still allow that officer to exercise the plenary and arbitrary powers which were conferred upon him before trade unionism reached its present development.

There once was a time when trade union activity was a kind of guerrilla warfare. No one knew what was to happen next. There was no large general campaign. There was simply a rapid succession of scattered skirmishes. Orders had to be given instantaneously. Under such circumstances arose the trade union guerrilla leader, the unterrified business agent, whose tactics consisted mainly in hitting the enemy in an unprotected place at an unexpected time.

But trade unionism today is a matter of diplomacy as much as of warfare. It has been found possible, therefore, to take away from the business agent some of the powers which only warfare justified and to prevent the declaration of strikes except after appeals to executive boards and to general referendum votes. The power of the business agent to call a strike simply because he himself thinks that a strike ought to be called is exercised much less frequently now than it used to be.

It would be well if the steam engineers would fall in line with this change in trade union policy. The action of their business agent in declaring a strike without serving notice and without filing complaints has been almost as serious a blow to Chicago trade unionism as the refusal of the laundry workers to arbitrate. No union can expect to have the confidence of the public as long as its officers exercise powers which, in the hands of a foolish or unscrupulous man, can do sudden, unnecessary, and irretrievable injury to the business interests of the city.

THE TRICK OF GOV. YATES.

On the morning of the day agreed on as that for final adjournment Gov. Yates asked the general assembly to lengthen its session by a week. That was asking a good deal. The farmers are anxious to get to their farms, the lawyers to their courts, and the business men to their offices. Some members have made engagements they cannot easily break. Perhaps if the governor had made a suggestion a week ago—and it could easily have been made then—that he be given time to study the Mueller bill it would have met with favorable consideration. He hardly could have expected it to be welcomed when made on the last day of the session. Nor was it. The governor must deal with the Mueller bill—which it is assumed he had in mind in his recess proposition—as his sense of duty bids him. The entire responsibility rests on him now. A recess would have given him an opportunity to return the Mueller bill to the general assembly with a multitude of trivial or fanciful objections and to say a week or ten days later that evidently it was impossible for the legislature to agree on a measure that met his ideas. If he shall veto the bill now on futile grounds Chicago will hold him to account, not the legislature. He will assume a grave responsibility if he shall kill the bill unless he assigns reasons which will convince candid men.

The governor intimates in his letter that if there be no recess a special session "with its attendant expense" may be necessary. That is interpreted as meaning that he is likely to veto the Mueller bill and may call a special session to consider the subject of municipal ownership of street railroads. A special session will be expensive, and, should the governor veto the Mueller bill, that will in all probability be the reason he will assign for not calling a special session. The men who are behind the governor want no legislation on the subject of municipal ownership, and he apparently is willing to do much to oblige them. All he asks is a pretext. In the event of a veto of the Mueller bill Chicago need not look too confidently to a special session and a tricky governor for relief.

PAY NO ASSESSMENTS.

It is reported that the republican judicial candidates are to be assessed $3,000 each for campaign expenses, and that some of the democratic candidates—those now on the bench—are to be assessed $2,250, while the other candidates will be called on to pay $1,750 each. Probably the reports are substantially correct. It has been the custom to assess candidates for judicial offices as well as other offices, and it is not likely that an old though a bad custom has been suddenly given up.

No candidate for judge who is fit to be on the bench, and who has not in view solely the salary attached to the office, should consent to hand over a dollar to a campaign committee, nor should such a candidate be asked to pay one dollar. It is well known that, as a rule, a large part of the money collected to defray alleged campaign expenses is not used in such a manner as to benefit the candidates. The campaign workers are the chief beneficiaries. They are paid, or pay themselves, out of the collections for services which are of little or no value. Even if the proceeds of assessments were spent entirely on "literature," bands of music, and the rent of headquarters, and of halls where meetings are held, no judicial candidate should contribute a cent.

If a party nominate a man because it believes he will make a good judge, it should not require him to hazard $3,000, or any other sum, on the popular verdict. The organization which has asked him to run because of his merits should not immediately proceed to bleed him in order to put money in the pockets of party mercenaries. If the candidate have a fine record, that will get him more votes than the machinery which a campaign committee puts in operation can get him.

The self-respecting candidate will do nothing which even remotely resembles buying a seat upon the bench. He will tell the campaign committee of his party that he has no money for it—that all he has to contribute to the success of the ticket, so far as he is concerned, is his reputation as a good lawyer and an upright man who will make a fair judge if elected. The candidates who submit to assessments will wish the day after election—whether elected or defeated—that they had their money back. They will see then that their contributions profited them nothing. The people, not campaign managers, elect judges.

CAN Grover Cleveland be doing all this merely to have a little fun with Editor Bryan?

FORTUNATELY the movement for asphalt streets in the downtown district of Chicago will not need the approval of Gov. Yates.

WHEN the island of Helgoland was named there must have been a presentiment as to the way it would finally go.

COL. COMISKEY is believed to be wearing the smile that won't come off.

THE restaurant strike might be settled by a harmony dinner.

APPARENTLY the manly stand taken by the Hon. Stanley Kunz against the Mueller bill has commended itself to our illustrious governor.

MONTREAL also is in the hands of its friends, the strikers.

Look out for the announcement: "A Clean Collar with Every Drink."

IN A MINOR KEY.

Heroic Boy.

Mamma (returning from a shopping expedition downtown)—"What on earth has happened, Willie? Has the house been on fire?

Willie—"Nome. Them Bunker boys dared me to ride the goat around the parlor and up and down the stairs, and I won't take a dare from nobody!"

Lightning Change.

Angry Voice (from top of stairway)—"Verena, what did you let him in for? You know we don't allow canvassers here!"

Strange Voice (in hallway below)—"I am getting names for the bluebook, ma'am."

Changed Voice—"Verena, show the gentleman into the parlor. I'll be down in a moment."

Must Have Been Premeditated.

Moving leisurely along the driveway in the park was a big St. Bernard dog, harnessed to a queer looking buggy.

In the buggy sat two men, who were driving the animal.

"Hi, there!" exclaimed the rotund park policeman, who had been watching them. "Take that dog out of that!"

"What's the matter with him? asked the men.

"The matter is that if you don't quit driving him I'll run you in. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves—two full grown men making a dog pull you around the park!"

"He doesn't seem to be suffering a great deal, does he?"

"I don't care whether he is or not. It's more than any dog ought to have to do, no matter how big he is. I've a great mind to arrest you for cruelty to animals."

"But, look here, officer—"

"I don't want any back talk. You unharness that dog."

"Is it against the rules to drive dogs in this park?"

"It's against the rules to bring them in here at all."

"Let's understand this clearly. You object to our driving him around the park?"

"I've told you so half a dozen times."

"Well. Since you won't let the dog give us a ride we'll give the dog a ride."

They climbed out of the vehicle, unharnessed the animal, lifted him into it, climbed in themselves, moved a lever, and the queer looking buggy started on again at the same leisurely pace as before, leaving a red faced and highly indignant park policeman standing in the driveway, mopping his brow with his handkerchief and streaking the pale air with several kinds of profanity.

It is almost wicked to do anything to ruffle the dignity of a sparrow cop.

Making Progress.

"Williams, have you named the baby yet?"

"Almost. We've got the two grandmothers to agree to arbitrate the case."

C. W. T.

Won Out.

"His marriage was a failure, wasn't it?"

"Great smoke, no! It saved him from bankruptcy."—Judge.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

KING VICTOR EMMANUEL'S new minister of foreign affairs, Admiral Constantine Morin, is a Genoese, and, unlike his predecessor, an extremely traveled man. Indeed, he is one of the only two foreign ministers of Europe who have been in the United States and who have a personal experience of the new world, the other being Lord Lansdowne, the English secretary of state for foreign affairs, who visited New York and Washington on several occasions during his tenure of office of governor general of Canada.

The admiral is 59 years of age, won the silver medal for exceptional gallantry at the taking of Ancona forty years ago, and was one of the principal witnesses against Admiral Persano when the latter was tried for his conduct in connection with the crushing defeat sustained by the Italian fleet at the hands of the Austrian squadron at the battle of Lissa in 1866. He was in this country about twenty-two years ago, visiting all the principal American ports on board the cruiser Garibaldi, which he commanded.

On his return to Europe via the Red sea he found an immense fleet of passenger liners and merchant vessels of one kind and another lying at Suez afraid to enter the canal in consequence of statements that it had been mined at a number of places by the participators in the Arabi insurrection, which was then in full swing. There was likewise the danger that any vessel that attempted to go through the canal would be raked by insurgent guns from the high banks on either side of this great waterway, and promptly seized and destroyed if it happened to run aground.

Like Admiral Dewey when he declined to take into account the mines with which the entrance to the bay of Manila was said to be defended, Admiral Morin refused to be deterred by the possibility of hostile action on the part of the insurgents, whose aim it was to drive all Europeans and unbelievers out of Egypt or to destroy them. He steamed boldly into the canal, followed at a respectful distance by the entire shipping that had been waiting at Suez, and with his decks cleared for action and his guns loaded passed safely through the entire length of the waterway, reaching Port Said at its Mediterranean extremity without let or hindrance.

For a time he commanded the Italian Mediterranean fleet, visiting most of the Mediterranean ports on board the battleship Duilio, and made himself thoroughly acquainted with all the features of the Mediterranean and eastern questions. From 1893 to 1896 he was minister of marine in Crispi's cabinet, and, before being created a senator three years ago, served several terms in the chamber of deputies as representative for Genoa, Florence, and Spezia. He is not eloquent, but speaks easily, effectively, logically, and convincingly, has most charming manners, is a thorough man of the world, and is renowned for his tact. At Rome among the diplomatic corps he is looked upon as one of the shrewdest of Italian statesmen.

His successor as minister of the naval department is Admiral Bettolo, like himself a native of Genoa, and who was in command of the Italian ships that took part in the international naval demonstration in American waters in connection with the Columbian celebration. He, too, wears on his breast badges of distinction conferred for exceptional bravery, and in particular a bronze medal for the fearless services which he rendered during the last great cholera epidemic. He has once before been minister of marine—namely: in the second cabinet of Gen. Pelloux.

Emperor William, it is said, has made up his mind to change the uniform of his army—that is to say, of the infantry—and to substitute for the familiar tight buttoned, dark blue tunic a gray colored "litewka," or blouse such as the Russian soldiers wear. There is no doubt that, while the dark blue tunic has been one of the most distinctive features of the kaiser's soldiers, the gray blouse will be infinitely preferable both as regards comfort and also because it is so much less conspicuous in the field. In fact, it is something much akin to the khaki which played so great a rôle in the American war with Spain and in the Philippines, as well as in the British campaign in south Africa. Nothing has been said yet about the cavalry. But it is probable that in course of time the use of the gray blouse will be extended to that branch of the army.

Just before the dowager empress of Russia left Copenhagen she was subjected to an unpleasant experience. While walking with her father, the aged king, they encountered a drunken soldier, who commenced to abuse his sovereign, and who finally, when the king extended his hand to push him from his path, struck a blow at the monarch. The latter's daughter—namely: the widowed czarina—quickly and instinctively threw herself in front of her father and received the blow intended for him on her shoulder, and, though it caused her to reel, yet fortunately it does not seem to have inflicted any serious injury.

Before the man could do any further harm he was seized by the spectators of the scene and would have been lynched had it not been for the timely arrival of the police. This happened the day before the empress and her sister, Queen Alexandra of England, left Copenhagen at the conclusion of their annual spring visit to their father at Copenhagen.

It is not the first time that the empress of Russia has been subjected to an affront of this kind at Copenhagen. Not long after the accession of her father to the throne, at a moment when he was terribly unpopular, the carriage in which she was driving with him through the streets of his capital was pelted with mud and with stones by the same mob which afterwards broke all the windows of his palace. One of the stones, a sharp flint, inflicted a severe cut on the forehead of the then Princess Dagmar, and, although near forty years have elapsed since then, the empress still bears the scar of the wound to this day.

M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, tendered his resignation to the czar the other day. It seems that he had insisted on a public funeral of M. Chtcherbina, the Russian consul who had been murdered by an Albanian soldier at Mitrovitza, and had made all arrangements for stately obsequies at Constantinople with a view of creating an impression upon the people there.

The sultan on learning of this, and dreading the disturbances to which it might give rise, took the unusual course of making a direct personal appeal to the czar, couched in such an imploring manner that Emperor Nicholas considered that he had no alternative but to yield, and accordingly directed his ambassador that the funeral of the consul should be as private as possible and that no one should be present at it save the Russian embassy and some representatives of the sultan.

Zinovieff was so greatly put out by this that he tendered his resignation to the emperor, expressing his opinion that he no longer enjoyed his sovereign's confidence, but has been persuaded to withdraw it by a most flattering letter from the czar expressive of his warm regard and appreciation of his services.

THE TOP O' THE MORNIN'.

MR. PUBLIC SPEAKS.

I guess I've reached the limit—I'm a man that yearns for peace;
Whenever there is trouble I am glad when it will cease;
I know the rights of labor, and I know its woes are great;
Employers' tribulations I as much appreciate.
But I'm the one that suffers—they all take a whack at me.
I'm tired of sympathizing, and I want some sympathy.

I've paid outrageous prices for the coal I had to burn.
The miners and coal dealers said they "didn't give a durn."
If I froze to a mummy—and they hit me on the raw!
My brain's got into action since it's warm enough to thaw.
They all say they want justice. Ain't there any rights for me?
I'm tired of sympathizing, and I want some sympathy.

I don't know any minute if my lights will be shut off;
There may be some fool edict that will warn me not to cough
Because the bottle corkers have boycotted "Lungers' Dope";
My hands will both go grimy if they have a strike in soap.
I wish they'd all get settled.
I wish they'd let me be—
I'm tired of sympathizing, and I want some sympathy.

I haven't any collars that a cleanly man should wear;
And cuffs—kind heaven, tell me when I'll get another pair!
My shirts and other linen would draw cuss words from a saint.
I wish I was an Indian and could wear a coat of paint!
But then some pigment makers' strike would end my dream of glee—
I'm tired of sympathizing, and I want some sympathy.

I can't get any laundry, and I can't get any lunch.
I chew the rag—the only thing in safety I can munch.
Now, I've been sympathetic, as I think a fellow should,
But blamed if I can figure where it does me any good.
I wish the men and bosses wouldn't make a mark of me—
I'm tired of sympathizing, and I want some sympathy.

THE BEAUTY OF CRAPS.

(The faculty of Northwestern university has compelled the librettist of a student opera to elide a reference to draw poker in one of his lyrics, but has no objections to his mentioning craps in the same song.)

Draw poker is a dreadful game—
A thing to deprecate.
It teaches youthful minds to know
The value of a straight.
A flush should be known as a blush—
A full is bad enough.
But O, the ones who play it are Sometimes led on to bluff!

Now, craps is always innocent.
They talk of "little Joe,"
And "making six," or "pointing eight,"
The while the dice they throw.
It's educational in trend;
It trains the intellect
To count, with speed—and that should have
A rather good effect.

So, roll dem bones, you student men!
And ask dat sev. to come.
Get down and breathe upon the spots
And make dem echoes hum.
"O, nine! Where is my nine dis mawn?"
And "Monkeys, stay away!"
And "Phœbe bird, I need some shoes!"
Is what you ought to say.

For "seven come eleven" is
A theorem complex.
It's hard to demonstrate, they say,
And often sure to vex.
But poker is a sinful sport
And teaches wrong, perhaps—
So hail the new found innocence
In this mild game called "craps."

A COMPLETE DISGUISE.

The native of Indiana was making hurried preparations to flee from the authorities.

"I shall adopt a disguise that will deceive the keenest sleuth," he confided to his friends.

"What will you do? Shave off your whiskers?"

Toying lovingly with his elegant bunch of breeze coaxers, he responded:

"No. Not that."

"Dye your hair?"

"O, no."

"Adopt the costume of a foreign country?"

"No."

"What then?"

"I shall not write a single poem or story from this day on. I shall never be seen with inkstains on my fingers. I shall be as innocent of knowledge of the use of a typewriter as a prattling babe. I shall not even pronounce my words as if they were misspelled. I shall not know the best selling novel from a bale of hay."

Weeping that he could thus ruthlessly abandon all trace of being a Hoosier, his friends, however, were compelled to admir his shrewdness.

SHE WILL STAY, PROBABLY.

"The shirt waist girl," proclaims fashion, "must go."

"But," protests the populace, "we were given to understand that the shirt waist girl was the coming woman."

Extra! Latest News! Extra

HYPERION HOLLOW, May 7.—[Special.]—Your correspondent hastens to announce that the cherry trees hereabouts are in full bloom. Hubbard's back yard looks as if a dozen fragrant snow drifts had been caught on the bare branches of the trees. This afternoon a myriad of little brown and blue butterflies arrived, and they are now dancing about the blossoms to the music of the orchestra of bees, the members of which are melodiously busy at their work of gathering honey and incidentally carrying the fructifying pollen from tree to tree.

In the midst of the cherry orchard stands a gnarled old crab apple tree. Its little new leaves are a fresh and tender green and its countless blossoms are blushing a rosy pink at the thought of their own beauty.

A couple of robins are building their nest in the crotch of a tree, in the midst of one of the cherry blossom snow drifts. Things look so well for them that the head of the family stops every now and then in his work and sings his liquid love song, which is enough to put to confusion people who think the robin is not a songster. But his mate is too busy—as befits a good housewife—in setting her house in order, to waste any time in singing—even if her voice had been cultivated.

By tomorrow, it is reported on good authority, there will be one blue egg in the robins' nest.

Eldorado Ridge, May 6.—[Special.]—The pink and purple hepaticas have left this section and gone north for the summer, but there are half an acre of wild violets in bloom at old man Beebe's woods. Down by the side of Yellow creek the jacks-in-the-pulpit are beginning to come up, and in one place there is already a bunch of early bluebells in bud. The ferns are growing tall under the shadow of the limestone cliffs and the maidenhairs are unwinding their filmy leaves. On the sunny bank of the old spring the fresh grass is starred with snowdrops.

The kingfisher who has made his nest in a hole in the high clay bank on the other side of Yellow creek came back from Florida nearly a month ago. He was almost broken hearted when he arrived to find that his best perch—an old stump in the middle of the creek just below the riffles—had been removed, but he has already discovered a good substitute for it in the shape of a tree, blown down by the winter winds and fallen over the bank so that half of it is in the water.

The flickers are also at home to their friends in the hollow locust trees below the mill, and over in the corner of the next field a quail is building its nest.

Arcadia Corners, May 6.—[Special.]—Our little burg was thrown into great excitement this morning when it was discovered that Col. Pettibone's lettuce bed had been robbed during the night.

The colonel started his lettuce under glass, and when he set out the plants three weeks ago it seemed certain that he would be the first person in the Corners—as usual—to have home growed garden sass. But now more than half the bed is ruined—the tender young leaves being gnawed off half way down to the dirt.

The only eyewitness to the crime seems to be the Jenkins' hired girl. She was just going out to milk at 5:30 o'clock when she observed a suspicious looking gray rabbit hopping along over the grass in close vicinity to the colonel's garden patch. Following came four little rabbits, each a miniature copy of its mother. The small rabbits were inclined to play, running around each other in aimless circles, but their mother held them strictly to the work in hand. She knew the importance of getting their fill of the young lettuce leaves before the sun dried the dew and Col. Pettibone got up and came out to fuss around the garden before breakfast.

Boyville, May 6.—[Special.]—"Tad" Jenkins and "Skinny" Waller caught their first bullheads of the season in the big mill pond yesterday. They were forbidden to go barefooted, but, although they started home with their shoes and stockings on, the impedimenta were later removed and hidden under the sidewalk at the head of Main street. Mr. Perkins' "maw" put up a lunch eon for them the night before, consisting of eight hard boiled eggs, two slices of [illegible] pie, four apples, twelve bread and butter sandwiches, and some salt and pepper in little paper bags. There was also a big jar of milk.

Mr. Perkins [illegible] ed fortune with a fat white grub from the barnyard as bait, but, as he forgot to put on the hook, his luck was not good for a time. Though Mr. Waller used only the common or garden variety of angleworm, he not neglect to observe the proper rite, in consequence he quickly pulled out a bullhead, measuring nearly eight inches in length.

Two hours before noon—one gets hungry soon on a fishing trip—Messrs. Perkins and Waller skinned two of the bullheads, and after partially roasting them over a fire opened their lunch basket and enjoyed a hearty meal.

They got back home at sundown, with a dozen bullheads apiece strung on a willow branch. Unfortunately it was discovered that a stray dog or some other animal had carried away one of Mr. Perkins' stockings from its hiding place under the sidewalk—a circumstance which he found impossible to explain to the maternal satisfaction.

CARNEGIE URGES PROFIT SHARING.

Ironmaster Makes Notable Address to British Iron and Steel Institute.

TELLS HOW PLAN WORKS.

Detailed History of Scheme as Put in Force at Great Pittsburg Plant.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 7.—Andrew Carnegie today was inaugurated president of the Iron and Steel institute of Great Britain—the first man not a British subject ever elected to the office. He devoted his inaugural address to the subject of the relations between capital and labor, advocating the system of profit sharing adopted by the Carnegie Steel company.

Mr. Carnegie declared that the world is steadily moving, step by step, toward better conditions. Just as the mechanical world had changed and improved, so the world of labor had advanced from the slavery of the laborer to the day of his absolute independence, and now he had begun to take his proper place as the partner of his employer.

Capital as Labor's Partner.

The world might, Mr. Carnegie said, look forward with hope to the day when it should be the rule that the workman was the partner with capital, the man of affairs giving his business experience and the workingman in the mill giving his mechanical skill, both being equally interested in the success of their joint efforts.

Perhaps he (Mr. Carnegie) was too sanguine in this forecast, which it would doubtless take time to realize, but the result of his experience had convinced him that a huge combination or even a moderate corporation had not a chance with a partnership which embraced the principal officials and adopted a system of the payment of a bonus or reward throughout the works. Such a partnership might be relied on to earn handsome dividends in times of depression, while the former, conducted on the old plan, would incur actual loss, and, perhaps, financial embarrassment.)

Every Workingman a Capitalist.

Continuing, Mr. Carnegie said the idea of making every workman a capitalist and sharing large percentages of profits among those rendering exceptional service probably would encounter the opposition of extremists—the violent revolutionist of capitalistic conditions and the narrow, grasping employer, whose creed was to purchase his labor as he did his materials, paying the price agreed upon and ending there—but this opposition would amount to little. It would even speak well for the new idea if it were scouted by extremists and commended by the mass of men who were on neither dangerous edge, but in the middle, where wisdom usually lay.

Carnegie Profit Sharing.

Mr. Carnegie gave in detail the history of profit sharing as devised and put in execution by the Carnegie Steel company. He said in part:

"Speaking from experiences, we had not gone far in manufacturing before discovering that perfect management in every department was needed, and that this depended upon the men in charge. Thus began the practice of interesting the young geniuses around us, as they proved their ability to achieve unusual results, the source of big dividends. These received small percentages in the firm, which were credited to them at the actual cash invested, no charge being made for good will. Upon this they were charged interest, and the surplus earned each year beyond this was credited to their account.

"By the terms of the agreement three-quarters of their colleagues had the right to cancel it, paying the party the sum then to his credit. This provision was meant to meet possible extreme cases of incompatibility of temper, or if the recipient should prove incapable of development, or of enduring prosperity. At death the interest reverted to the firm at its book value.

The young men were not permitted to assume any financial obligation, and not until their share was fully paid by the profits, and there was no further liability upon it, was it transferred to them. Thus thoughts of possible loss never prevented concentration upon their daily duties. They were not absorbed in the daily quotations, for the shares were not upon the stock exchange, or transferable. This policy resulted in making some forty odd young partners, a number which was increased at the beginning of each year.

Success Depends on Men.

"We did not fail to see, as the works enlarged, how much success depended upon the mechanical men, the superintendents, and foremen, yet not one of these had up to that time been admitted as a partner. The business and the mechanical men—office and mill—were still widely separated.

"Well do I remember the first attempt to bring these two departments into closer relations. It was made with our Capt. Jones, one of your members, well known and appreciated by many of you as in the foremost rank of managers, perhaps the foremost of his day in America. He came to us as a working mechanic at 8 shillings per day. I explained to the captain how several of the younger men in the business department had been made partners and were actually receiving much greater rewards than he, while his services were at least equally valuable, and informed him that we wished to make him a partner. I shall never forget his reply.

"'Mr. Carnegie, I am much obliged, but I know nothing about business and never wish to be troubled with it—I have plenty to trouble me here in these works. Leave me as I am and just give me a thundering salary.'

"'Hereafter,' I said, 'the salary of the president of the United States is yours, captain,' and so it remained till the sad day of his death.

"My seniors, the presidents of the other manufacturing concerns, did not fail to take me to task for ruining the steel business by paying a mechanic more salary than any of them received. Being much the youngest of these great dignitaries, I humbly confessed my wrongdoing, not, however, failing to inquire if they knew where we could find two or three more Capt. Joneses at double the price.

Plan Proves a Success.

"From that time forward the union of the mechanical and business partners went steadily forward until no manager of a mill was without his interest in the business, as pertaining to the position, and no board of management or important committee, was without a mechanical representative. Thereafter, mill and office conferred upon all important sales or contracts. The mechanics and the men of affairs were in constant consultation and fellow partners—one of the most profitable changes that ever we made.

"This plan of reward according to results for heads of departments has already become so general and is spreading so fast we may be sure it has proved its efficiency. There are few large department stores or important houses in retail trade which have not been forced to adopt it.

Prevents Labor Disputes.

"Disputes of some kind between capital and labor are always in evidence, but it must never be forgotten that in the wide fields of domestic service and in that of the few employés with a working master which embraces by far the greater number of wage earners, all is, upon the whole, satisfactory—there reigns peace, with the inevitable individual exceptions.

"If the managing owners and officials of great corporations could only be known to their men, and, equally important, their men known to their employers, and the hearts of each exposed to the other, as well as their difficulties, we should have in that troublesome field such harmony as delights us in the domestic. It is mainly the ignorance of contending parties of each other's virtues that breeds quarrels everywhere throughout the world, between individuals, between corporations and their men, and between nations. 'We only hate those we do not know' is a sound maxim which we do well ever to bear in mind.

Final Stage Not Reached.

"But the irresistible pressure which has forced change after change in the relations of capital and labor still operates unchecked, a sure indication that the final stage has not yet been reached. We have evidence of this in another important advance, the sliding scale, which provides not a fixed wage but in some degree settles it by results. Increased demand brings higher prices and profits to the employer, which in turn bring workmen higher returns, so that as the employer's profits rise and fall so do the workman's rewards. If I were asked what was the best service the Carnegie company was ever able to render the wage earner, next to giving steady employment at wages equal to any, I should answer, 'By persuading them to adopt the sliding scale, with a minimum insuring living wages, at its works at Braddock fourteen years ago, which has given perfect satisfaction from that day to this and is still in force, and has produced undisturbed harmony between capital and labor.'

"You know too well, how the path of iron and steel is strewn with financial loss in all countries, and that all forms of business must encounter great risks. Scarcely a week passes without news of embarrassment or failure in the industrial world. Thus it has ever been, and ever must be, while human nature remains unchanged.

Homes for Workingmen.

"Bearing all this in mind, the thought of asking the workingman to risk his precious savings in the manufacturing or any form of business was always discarded by us as too dangerous for him. He was advised to buy a home instead and save his rent. To facilitate this, money to build homes was lent to the employés who had the ground clear of debt. Their savings up to $2,000 each were taken by the company and placed in a special trust fund, entirely separate from the business. Interest at 6 per cent was allowed to encourage the workman to save part of his earnings for old age. The funds received were lent upon mortgage on real property, generally to such workmen as wished to build homes.

"It was believed that this was the safest, and therefore the wisest, use of their savings which workmen could make. The most convincing proof of the steady march of labor to recompense more and more, based upon profits, and in forms drawing capital and labor into the peaceful bonds of mutuality, is to be credited to the United States Steel corporation, the largest of all industrial corporations, and for which it deserves unstinted praise, as proving a genuine interest in the workmen and sagacious thought for its own.

"To this step I invite your earnest attention, for it may well prove of surpassing importance and mark an epoch in the history of the relations of capital and labor. It may even be looked back to as having furnished the solid foundation for the solution of most of the troublesome questions between them."

"The idea of making every workman a capitalist and of sharing large percentages of the profits among those rendering exceptional service will probably encounter the opposition of the extremists on both sides, the violent revolutionist of capitalistic conditions and the narrow, grasping employer whose creed is to purchase his labor as he does his materials, paying the price agreed upon and there an end. But this opposition will, we believe, amount to little. It will even speak well for the new idea if scouted by the extremists and commended by the mass of men who are on neither dangerous edge, but in the middle, where usually lies wisdom.

"Meanwhile here is the germ of a promising plan, offered as a solvent for one of the pressing problems of our age, which may prove capable of development. As members of the institute let us receive, study, and discuss it with open mind. That the problem will be solved, and that the two allies are some day to live in friendly cooperation, let no one doubt. Human society bears a charmed life. It is immortal and was born with the inherent power or instinct as a law of its being to solve all problems finally in the best form, and among these none more surely than that vexed question of our day, the relations between these Siamese twins, which must mutually prosper or mutually decay—capital and labor."

CHICAGO GIRL AND ARMY MAN SHE WILL WED.

In the Second Presbyterian church on the evening of May 20 Miss Helen Stewart Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo M. Johnson, will be married with much splendor to First Lieut. Raymond W. Hardenburgh, Fourth infantry, U. S. A. It is for sentiment Miss Johnson chooses the Second Presbyterian church for her wedding, for her mother's family has been closely identified with it since it has existed. Many years ago its beginnings were in the prayer meetings held in her grandfather's house, which stood where the Stewart building now is at State and Washington streets, and marriages and christenings in the family have been frequent in the church since. Also, her uncle, the Rev. James Gibson Johnson, who is coming from Farmington to perform the ceremony, was formerly the pastor of the New England Congregational church in Chicago. The young women of the bridal party are a group of Farmington girls. A wedding trip to the Philippines and a residence there for a while is the luck of this May bride.

Lieut. Hardenburgh and the officers of his regiment, who will be the men of the bridal party, will arrive today, and there will be much festivity at the Pullman residence, where the Johnson family are guests since their return from Mexico. Wednesday night Mrs. Pullman gives a theater and supper party, followed the next evening by a dance. Today Mrs. E. S. Adams gives a luncheon for Miss Johnson, and on Monday Miss Josephine Peck, one of the bridemaids, will give a luncheon. Mrs. Sydney Williams will give a dinner Tuesday evening. Over Monday night there will be a house party at Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's new residence at Winnetka.

Yesterday's novelty was the Ibsen performance at McVicker's theater, and there were a number of parties. Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor was in one party. Near by were Mrs. Henry Hooper and Miss Ethel Hooper. Mrs. James R. McKay was in another party.

The Homewood Country club will give its annual dinner Saturday evening.

The Little Room will hold its annual costume party Saturday evening at the Fine Arts building. It will be a farewell party to Mr. H. C. Chatfield-Taylor, who will go abroad shortly, and the costumes will represent characters in Mr. Taylor's books.

The wedding of Miss Blanche Carson, daughter of Mrs. Flora M. Carson, to Mr. Louis Donald McDowell took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gauger, 4241 Drexel boulevard. Dr. W. P. Merrill performed the ceremony. There was no bridal attendant and no reception. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will be at home at 6611 Kimbark avenue.

A lecture will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Fullerton hall on the "Preservation of Wild Flowers in America," illustrated with stereopticon, by Charles Lewis Pollard, secretary of the National Wild Flowers Preservation society. The public is invited.

Mrs. P. D. McGregor of La Grange will give a reception this afternoon from 3 till 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Harry B. Hess of 269 Forty-sixth street held her first post-nuptial at home yesterday and will receive on Thursdays in May. She was assisted by her bridemaids—her sister, Miss Carolyn Bingham; Miss Belle Hall, and Miss Julia Curtiss. Miss Vivien Weaver, who was one of the bridemaids, has not yet returned from New York.

Mrs. C. F. Gunther and Mrs. Robert Locke sailed for Europe on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albion Lambert Headburg have taken an apartment at 5247 Cornell avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Picard have moved in from Winnetka to 407 Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bournique and their daughter, Miss May Bournique, will sail on May 16 to spend the summer abroad. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bournique have returned to Highland Park.

Mrs. Frederick K. Root of 5725 Washington avenue has gone east to spend junior week with her son, who is at Dartmouth college.

The Catholic club of the University of Chicago will give a musical this evening in Haskell Assembly hall of the university. The program will be given by Miss Veronica Murphy, pianist; Miss Belle Macfarland, violinist; and Ross Cox, baritone.

The Evanston Country club will give its annual May party this evening. As the first formal party at the club this season, it will be an elaborate affair.

The Hyacinth club will give a May breakfast tomorrow morning at the Monroe Street church, Monroe street and Francisco avenue.

The Chicago Harmonic society will give a concert next Monday evening in Bush temple. Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler will be the soloist.

The wedding of Miss Olive Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Patterson of 3700 Lake avenue, to Mr. William T. Houston was quietly celebrated last evening at the residence of the bride's parents. The Rev. J. A. McDonald performed the ceremony, which was followed by a small reception. There was no bridal attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Houston have gone east for a short stay.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."
—SHAKSPEARE.

STURGIS—Charles M. Sturgis, lawyer, old resident of Chicago.

"If all the people born on May 8 were to assemble I suppose there would be a great host—like the stars in the sky—and they say that no matter where the eye rests some stellar formation can be seen, star dust.

"It seems to me that a great many people were born in the year '38. Not that it was a more than usually fertile year, but just because it was mine I noticed it more.

"You know, as these anniversaries become numerous one dislikes to notice them. I sometimes feel as I walk the streets of Chicago that I am in a city of shadows. The faces that I used to know are so largely gone, yet they remain with me in my mind as plainly as if they were before me. The photographs of the mind are wonderful—so clear, so lasting.

"Years ago I knew many people of the town. We all saw each other going to the postoffice for our mail, usually twice a day, early in the morning and late in the afternoon. The postoffice was then on the site of the First National bank, and was quite a spacious building, with the first floor mainly devoted to compartments for mail."

Mr. Sturgis is a reader.

"Most of my office visitors outside of clients are book canvassers. I used to buy a good many. My treasures were lost in the Chicago fire—you know how we love our little collections. But now I tell the canvassers that I have more than I can read. I say that if they will give me a new lease of life or just a Saturnian day I will buy, but I have never come upon one who will take me up."

SLAPS BOYS WHO LAUGH.

AS A RESULT TEACHER GETS A SUDDEN VACATION.

Miss Alice Martin of the University, a Substitute Instructor in Room 5, Greenwood School, Institutes New Cure for Merriment in Class and Says It "Did Them Good"—Trial or Dismissal Ahead of Her Now for Violating Board's Rules.

"Think twice before you laugh once," has become a favorite version of the old proverb among the pupils of room 5 at the Greenwood Avenue school since they discovered that their teacher, Miss Alice Martin, was an active exponent of the "spare the rod, spoil the child," theory. Now Miss Martin's practical advocacy of the corporal punishment belief may result in her summons before the school management committee.

The teacher, say the boys of room 5, does not approve of mirth in the schoolroom, and devised a strenuous "laugh cure." Three boys who were unable to suppress their merriment were slapped by Miss Martin and warned not to repeat their performance. The three boys were slapped at the rate of one a day until yesterday Principal Eugene C. Webster learned of it and advised the teacher to go back to the University of Chicago, where she is a "seg," and think the matter over.

New Teacher Surprises Boy.

When school opened on Monday after the spring vacation the pupils of room 5 were confronted by a new face at the teacher's desk, their former teacher, Helen I. Peck, having been granted a leave of absence. All went well until one of the boys laughed when he should have looked solemn. This boy was Arthur Gans of 4208 Oakenwald avenue. What happened after that is best told by Principal Webster:

"Miss Martin hastened down the aisle," he said, "and swinging her hand through the air let it land on Arthur's cheek."

The action was a surprise to the other pupils in the room and it was a surprise to Arthur, too. But the pupils were beginning to accept Miss Martin's "laugh cure" as a matter of course when Principal Webster learned of the occurrence and called Miss Martin to his office. The principal had been told that Martin Kehoe, son of M. C. Kehoe, the candy merchant, and Marshall George, 4516 Ellis avenue, were among those slapped.

Declares It Did Them Good.

"I asked Miss Martin if she had slapped the boys," said Principal Webster yesterday, "and she said: 'Yes, and it did them good, too. They've been behaving a great deal better since.'"

Principal Webster then asked Miss Martin if she was not aware of the fact that corporal punishment was forbidden under the rules of the school board. She replied that she did not know of any such rule.

"I told Miss Martin," continued the principal, "that I regretted her action and that I felt obliged to ask the board to send me another substitute."

Miss Martin accepted the situation gracefully, according to Principal Webster, and went back to the university. "She came from the country, I believe," explained Principal Webster. "She told me that she had always slapped disorderly pupils."

CIVIC FEDERATION REVIEWS RESULTS OF YEAR'S WORK.

Holds Its Ninth Annual Meeting and Re-elects Nearly All the Old Officers—Secretary Brown Submits Report.

The work of the Civic federation during the last year was reviewed at its ninth annual meeting yesterday, and that the results were satisfactory was shown in the reelection of nearly all the old officers.

Secretary W. H. Brown in his report dealt principally with the new charter movement, which received favorable action at the hands of the legislature, and with the efforts for new educational laws which were defeated through unexpected opposition.

The complete list of officers, which was elected without dissent, is as follows:

President—Bernard E. Sunny.
First Vice President—Thomas A. Moran.
Second Vice President—William K. Ackerman.
Treasurer—Isaac N. Perry.
Secretary—W. H. Brown.
Executive Committee—E. Allen Frost, William D. Kerfoot, William R. Manierre, Robert McMurdy, Adolph Nathan, La Verne W. Noyes, Bernard E. Sunny.
Advisory Board—E. M. Ashcraft, A. M. Barnhart, S. E. Barrett, Avery Coonley, R. T. Crane, George W. Dixon, Franklin H. Head, Helen Hefferan, William A. Glies, S. G. Keith, Franklin MacVeagh, H. S. Mecartney, Adolph Moses, N. A. Partridge, Mary R. Plummer, W. C. Selpp, Sarah Hackett Stevenson, and the officers.

After referring to the passage by the legislature of the multiple amendment plan for constitutional changes the secretary's report says:

"Thus at last an amendment will be submitted to the people, and the prospects for consolidation of taxing bodies within the city, a prudent extension of the debt limit, and abolition of the justice shops are improved by that much."

The secretary also finds a grain of comfort in the adverse action on the educational bills. He says:

"There was one thing saved out of the federation bill. The clause relating to school extension, or the opening of school buildings and classrooms for social and other uses approved by the school board, such as lectures, young people's clubs, etc., without cost, was introduced as a separate bill, and became a law."

DIVINITY STUDENTS FINISH M'CORMICK SCHOOL COURSE.

Thirty-five Members of Graduating Class Receive Diplomas—Some Will Enter the Foreign Missionary Field.

Thirty-five divinity students received diplomas from the McCormick Theological seminary last night, the graduating exercises being held in the Church of the Covenant, Belden avenue and North Halsted street. The following prizes were awarded:

Nettie F. McCormick fellowship in Old Testament Hebrew—William Fleming Scoular.

The T. B. Blackstone fellowship—Arthur Alexander Hays.

The Bernardine Orme Smith fellowship for general excellence in all departments—Arthur Alexander Hays.

The Old Testament prize of $100 for the best thesis on the book of Amos—Frank Edmund Nurse; with honorable mention of the thesis of Charles Haskell Derr.

The Revell prize of $50 worth of books for the best essay on Moses—Samuel Wilbur Huffer.

Five members of the class go to mission fields under the foreign board. R. H. Brown will go to the Philippines, G. G. Bruce to China, L. D. Heminger to Africa, C. D. Herriot to China, and J. S. Smith to Chile. Members of the class not already mentioned are:

DIPLOMAS FOR MEDICAL CLASS.

Seventy-nine Students Are Graduated from the Hahnemann College and Hospital.

The forty-third annual commencement exercises of the Hahnemann Medical college and hospital were held yesterday afternoon at Steinway hall, where a graduating class of seventy students, of whom nine were women, were given their diplomas by George F. Shears, president of the college.

The members of the class who were graduated with honors were: Adelaide Doolittle Hoeffel, Milton H. Baker, Earl H. Markham, Clifford J. Abbot, Sadie F. Gibson, and Frederick J. Mittchel.

The student body, faculty members, and friends of the American College of Medicine and Surgery, comprising a party of 300 persons, left yesterday on a special train to attend the commencement exercises at Valparaiso, Ind. The medical department of the school is located in Chicago, while all the other departments are at Valparaiso.

POM POM SAFE; CHIN CHIN LOST.

Miss Peck's Stolen Poodle Returned, but Not So Mrs. Farquhar's Chinese Chow Dog.

Chin Chin and Pom Pom left their residence at 5 Tower court Wednesday evening for a brief stroll. Before they had gone a block two rough men stepped out of an alley, seized them, and carried them away. Chin Chin is a red-brown Chinese Chow dog and Pom Pom is a black French poodle. Pom Pom is the property of Miss Annah Peck, while Chin Chin has been visiting Pom Pom while its owner, Mrs. William R. Farquahr, is in Europe. Yesterday Pom Pom was returned by two men, who claimed half of the $20 reward which had been offered for the dogs.

I am organizing several personally-conducted excursions to California, for April and May.

May I send you full particulars of special advantages offered?

Some of the excursions are one-way only, in tourist sleepers, for homeseekers.

Others are round-trip, in first-class Pullmans, for general sightseers; good, if desired, on limited trains.

The rates are very low. Accommodations are excellent.

I have selected the best California line—the Santa Fe—and confidently guarantee a delightful outing.

Why not go this spring and see California at its prettiest?

Such an opportunity seldom comes.

Don't miss it.

Write to J. M. CONNELL, 109 Adams-st., Chicago, and receive in reply full particulars, with copy of beautiful book about California.

WHEAT BULLS SELL OUT.

HEAVY LIQUIDATION FORCES A CENT DECLINE IN PRICE.

Selling Extensive Enough to Encourage the Theory That Armour Is Well Out of His July Line—Weather More Favorable for Crop—Buying Hard to Trace—Corn Yields a Little, but Oats Hold Firm—Provisions Irregular—Cash Produce Transactions.

Improved conditions in the southwest for the growing wheat crop, selling by Armour, and selling by holders on the belief that Armour was getting out of his July line made a weak market. Millions of bushels were thrown into the pit, resulting in breaks of 1⅛c in May, 1c in July, and ¾-⅞c in September. There was large selling by St. Louis houses. The Armour selling was under cover, but after the strenuous business of the day was over pit opinion inclined to the belief that at least 4,000,000 bu July and 1,500,000 bu September had been sold by this interest.

Who bought the wheat was a harder question to answer, but a good deal of it was taken by pit traders on the break to 72c for July, and this was thrown on the market later. The May range was from 78⅝c to 76⅞c, the close at 77½c. July sold at the opening at the price it closed Wednesday, 12⅝-¾c, broke quickly to 72¼c, around which figure there was a large trade, and yielded to 72c as the selling continued. A big demand steadied the market at that price, some of the buying on the theory that the Armour tactics of supporting the market on any moderate break would be continued, and the theory was encouraged by a little open buying by that interest.

World's Stocks Reduced.

The selling pressure became less persistent, and a recovery to 72⅝c was helped by a reported reduction in world's stocks of over 4,000,000 bu more than expected. But on this swell concentrated selling by commission houses was resumed and carried the market down finally to 71⅝c, the close practically on the bottom at 71⅝-¾c. September ranged from 70¼c to 69⅝c, closing at the latter figure. The liquidating fever was the all important influence, overshadowing all the ordinary market factors. The temporary recovery was helped by a Broomhall cable, stating that owing to a revision of the Russian stocks the amount of wheat and flour in and afloat for Europe decreased 5,692,000 bu last week, instead of 1,500,000 bu, as cabled on Tuesday, which would make the decrease in world's stocks for the week 9,202,000 bu instead of 5,100,000 bu, as announced. But the rally only brought out more selling and the declining tendency was soon resumed.

Rains in Kansas and Texas, where there has been some complaint of drought, improved the crop outlook, and the Price Current declared the general average was good, although conditions were lowered moderately. The tone of the export demand was generally reported dull, but the break permitted sales of about 304,000 bu at the seaboard. Local sales were 40,000 bu. Northwestern markets were firm early, but finally yielded a little with the break here. Receipts, while small, were heavier than last year, 246,000 bu, compared with 180,000 bu a year ago. Minneapolis stocks decreased only 350,000 bu in three days.

Foreign markets showed an inclination to follow the downward tendency here, Liverpool ⅛d to ⅜d lower, London unchanged to ⅛d lower, and Paris unchanged to ½c lower. Broomhall estimated Argentine shipments for the week at 2,400,000 bu and reported rains greatly needed in the Crimea. There was heavy selling at the opening for the southwest on the improved weather conditions by Bennet, Jackson, Spencer, Richardson, Lindman, Canby, and Rosenbaum. There was selling also by Chandler, Warren, Counselman, Wrenn, Logan-Bryan, and Kidston. Wightman-Neafus and Harris-Gates were large sellers of September. There was commission buying by McReynolds, Milmine-Bodman, Bartlett-Frazier, Woodbury, Gifford, and other houses, but the main support seemed to be by local professionals.

Corn Rather Stubborn.

There was not a great trade in corn, and the market was comparatively firm in the face of the weakness in wheat. Early it was ⅛c to ⅜c higher, but it closed steady for May, ⅛c lower for July, and ¼c lower for September. The Missouri report that only 27 per cent of the area had been planted in that state May 1, compared with 68 per cent a year ago, was responsible for some early buying. Prices eased off on the wheat weakness and the Broomhall estimate of largely increased Argentine shipments, 1,700,000 bu for the week. Country acceptances continued fair. The cash market was irregular, steady to 1c lower for different grades, with a moderate shipping demand for kiln dried corn, sales about 100,000 bu. The quality of receipts lost their recent improvement, only 4 cars contract out of 182. The estimate for today is 225 cars. Primary receipts were 364,000 bu, compared with 279,000 bu last year. Clearances were 460,000 bu, and export sales at the seaboard 104,000 bu. Liverpool futures were ¼d to ⅛d lower, and London ⅜d lower. Comstock was a large seller of July early, but reinstated his line. There was moderate buying by Carrington-Patten, and on the break in July to 44½c Tracy was a buyer.

Provisions About Unchanged.

Barring a slight set back in opening prices on the provision list as an effect of the stock yards engineers' strike the general tone of the market was steady. Hogs were 5@10c lower, for the reason given, and affected the early price of product, though the fractional losses were soon recovered. The largest loss was in May pork, which closed 10c lower. The July was 2½c higher and the September unchanged. May lard lost 2½c, while September gained it. Ribs were unchanged to 2½c higher. There was some buying of ribs credited to Armour, and purchases of lard, which the trade thought was for both Swift and Cudahy. About the feature of the market was the covering done by the stock yards contingent. Hog receipts were 25,000, with 18,000 estimated today. At the eight points there were 62,800, against 62,000 a year ago. Shipments of cured meats were 1,241,000 lbs, against 2,941,000 lbs a year ago, and of lard 1,398,000 lbs, as compared with 1,340,000 lbs the previous year.

No change was made in rye prices, May and July remaining 50c, the former bid and the latter asked. There were 115,100 bu of No. 2 withdrawn from regular elevators, and 3 cars from unlicensed houses. New York export sales were 7 loads. Local inspection, 16 cars.

Barley showed no new feature, a steady demand absorbing the light offerings of desirable grades. Poor screenings were quoted 24@35c; choice, 36@39c; feed barley, 37@39c; low grade malting, 43@47c; fair to good, 49@53c; and choice, 54@56c. Receipts were 21 cars.

Timothy seed ruled quiet, easy, and unchanged at $3.45@3.50 for May. Contract clover was also unchanged at $12.50. Little business was done in either.

Flaxseed was a little higher, 1@1½c up, but only a small business was done. No. 1 northwestern was quoted $1.14½, and southwestern $1.11. May sold at $1.11 and July at $1.14. There were 2 cars here, 6 at Minneapolis, and 7 at Duluth.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Wheat traders who have believed Armour a seller of wheat on the hard spots for several days were confident that he sold on a large scale yesterday, and were not sure he might not be out of his July line, although on this theory the July holding could hardly have been as large at any time as estimated. The market had been deftly nursed along by support on all moderate breaks until Armour support on any reactions was expected as a matter of course. On the break yesterday to 72c for July there was apparently a good deal of buying on the theory that this support could still be relied upon, but the market acted as if the Armour selling was continued and the demand filled up. May yielded about as much as the July, but there is supposed to be a large short interest still out in that delivery.

Advices to Richardson from Texas indicate that the prospect for a good wheat crop in that state has not been lowered. A correspondent from Gainesville writes: "I drove about fifty miles yesterday, and found the new wheat in good condition, just headed out, of good color, heavy stand, and healthy appearance. It ought to make a minimum of 20 bu to the acre without additional moisture, and with additional moisture considerably more. In other sections the stand is excellent, but rain is needed in the Panhandle. There are no serious complaints, even from there, however." Telegraphic advices yesterday were that the Panhandle had had heavy showers, insuring the crop there.

Friends of the proposition to make No. 2 hard winter wheat deliverable on contracts in this market on a penalty of 5c under the present contract grade, feel confident that it will be adopted. The vote by the directors to recommend the proposed amendment to a vote by the membership was practically unanimous, only one director voting in the negative. The argument is made that the hard winter wheat is tributary to this market just as naturally as the soft winter or spring wheat, because in 1901, when the soft winter crop was of fine quality, only 14 per cent of the total number of cars inspected in graded contract, while last year only 3 1-3 per cent graded contract. The objection is made that the penalty is unjust to the merits of hard winter wheat, which frequently sells at a premium over either of the other grades, but the friends of the measure will take what they can get now, and trust to have the penalty removed at some future date. "I am against the measure," was the argument of one member, "because the minute you admit a lower grade of wheat to be deliverable on contracts at a penalty you drive away trade. It is a practical insurance to the short sellers, whose risk is limited. The buyer has no insurance."

The Schwabacher estimate on provision stocks this week is 78,850 brls pork, compared with actual stocks of 19,213 brls on May 1; 18,750 tcs of lard, a decrease of 1,000 tcs; 8,400,000 lbs of ribs, a falling off of 464,000 lbs.

Western hog packing for the week is reported at 300,000 head, as compared with 390,000 last year, 498,000 two years ago; since Nov. 1, 11,795,000 head, as against 14,085,000 the previous year.

Judge Kohlsaat in the United States District court has decided that members of the Chicago board of trade who go through bankruptcy must sell their memberships as assets.

Broomhall's Argentine agent estimated the wheat shipments to Europe this week at 2,400,000 bu, compared with shipments to Europe last week of 2,136,000 bu, and a year ago of 612,000 bu. He estimates the corn shipments will be about 1,700,000 bu, against 734,000 bu the previous week, and 924,000 bu a year ago. The weather for corn has continued to improve.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 30 cars; corn, 225 cars; oats, 115 cars; hogs, 18,000.

Deliveries on May contracts yesterday were 150,000 bu wheat, 35,000 bu corn, 20,000 bu oats, 5,000 bu flaxseed, and 500 tcs lard.

The Northwestern Miller says: "Reports regarding the winter wheat crop are not so favorable as formerly, but it is believed that the damage sustained from the recent cold weather and frosts has not worked considerable harm to the wheat. Wheat seeding has been completed in the northwest under the most favorable conditions."

World's supplies of breadstuffs, according to the Trade Bulletin, were 135,126,000 bu on May 1, as compared with 155,562,000 bu on April 1, 1903, and 158,732,000 bu on May 1, last year. Thus the April decrease was 20,436,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 14,996,000 bu during March, and a decrease of 24,591,000 bu during April, 1902.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Movement of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Lambs, with the Range of Prices and Comparisons.

The strike situation in packingtown was a factor in causing a slow and uncertain opening to yesterday's trade at the yards. Buyers for the packing trade would not begin operations until it was known to what extent the strike would affect slaughtering operations.

Receipts were estimated at 6,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep. Top cattle sold at $5.50; top hogs at $7.00; best sheep at $6.00; and fancy top Colorado lambs, $7.60. Discrimination against extreme heavy cattle was a marked feature of the trade. Some 1,942 lb averages at $5.05 would have brought 25 to 40 cents per hundred pounds more had they been 400 pounds lighter but of same quality.

The following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Cattle.

After the strike scare had worn off the trade, cattle of popular weight, not above 1,400 lbs, and fat, sold a point or two higher than on Wednesday. Extreme heavyweights were no more than steady, with a three load lot of big 1,942 lb Kansas steers going at $5.05. Light and medium weights that lacked fat were also slow sellers at former prices. Calves sold a trifle stronger. Cows, heifers, and stock steers were slow. Quotations:

Hogs.

Trade in hogs opened dull and on bids of flat 10c lower, but as the forenoon advanced a fair demand developed, and late prices were a shade better than early bids, with the weekly buying well bought. An extreme top for one load was recorded at $7.00, but $6.85@6.95 bought the bulk of the good strong weight butchers and shippers, while $6.70@6.80 took the bulk of mixed and packing grades. Quotations:

TRADING IN CAN SHARES.

MARKET BEING MADE ACTIVE AND FIRM BY INSIDERS.

Over $2,000,000,000 Invested in Street Railways in the United States—Gross Earnings on All Lines Last Year Were $241,584,697—Dividends Were Equal to 1.23 Per Cent on Total Capital Stock — General Financial News.

There is some reason to believe that insiders in the American Can company are at present looking after the market for the shares. During the last three days prices have shown recovery immediately after every decline. The buying yesterday was understood to be for those who are interested in keeping the market active and firm. There were large orders placed in the New York curb market, and, locally, the buying was by a house which frequently represents one interest in the financial management of the company.

The stock was quite active and advanced to 46 and closed at 45-⅞, after having sold down to 44-⅜ from the opening. There is not so much doing in the common, and the price for that remains steady. The idea of the street is that the preferred issue will be kept active when the other markets are ordinarily good, and, with a declaration of dividends, the price will be materially advanced. It is known that insiders consider present prices low enough to warrant keeping a movement in the stock.

$2,000,000,000 in Street Railways.

For the year ending June 30, 1902, the amount of dividends paid by the street railway companies of the United States was equal to 1.23 per cent on the total capital stock. This would indicate the large amount of unprofitable investments and overcapitalization, toward which latter Chicago furnishes its share, in the Union Traction company. The preliminary report of the census office at Washington covering an inquiry into the street and electric railways of the United States has just been issued, and from it the figures presented are taken.

The number of companies engaged in street railway business was 987, with 22,589 miles of single track. The gross earnings derived from passengers was $241,584,697. The capital stock of the companies was $1,216,277,989. A summary of operations of all the street railways in the United States is presented, as follows:

Earnings from operation............	$ 241,584,607

The number of fare passengers was 4,813,466,001. As the total population of the United States is 80,000,000 the number of fare passengers carried was equal to an average of 60 rides for every inhabitant of the country.

The total cost of construction and improvement and other permanent investments is given at $2,217,422,302. The companies employ 138,183 persons, and the salaries and wages paid reached a total of $84,636,375. The number of people employed compares with 168,000 employed by the United States Steel corporation.

The following statistics and balance sheet of all the companies are presented:

General Financial News.

The following were elected directors of the American Writing Paper company: H. L. Higginson, M. T. Pulsifer, A. W. Eaton, E. G. Boissevain, Edwin Gould, H. H. Picking.

The American Cotton Oil directors have elected James D. McMahon a director for the remainder of the current corporate year, to fill a vacancy. Mr. McMahon is second vice president of the N. K. Fairbank company.

There was considerable gossip yesterday as to the probability of the Atchison management putting out an additional issue of bonds. The stock reflected uneasiness in this particular, but positive denials were entered against any intention of making such an issue.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has lost $650,000 to the banks. The showing on Saturday so far as operations with the subtreasury goes should be a fair one. New York exchange, however, has declined to par and there is not much evidence of currency movement towards the east.

The St. Louis and San Francisco railway company has applied to the New York stock exchange to list $2,523,000 additional 4 per cent refunding mortgage bonds of 1951.

The regular quarterly meeting of directors of the National Biscuit company will be held in Chicago on next Monday. The usual dividend declaration is expected.

The Atlantic Coast Line company has sent a circular to its stockholders offering 5,000 shares of new stock for sale at $250 a share. It is intended to provide $1,250,000 new capital for the company.

Westinghouse Electric.

A high official of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company was quoted yesterday as confirming the rumor that the $4,500,000 assenting stock in the company's treasury would be issued for important extensions and improvements, and that the common dividend rate would be raised to 10 per cent, payable in quarterly payments on both common and preferred stocks.

May Move Clearing House.

There is talk of moving the clearing house into the new First National Bank building. Although the association has a long lease on the present quarters in the Merchants' Loan and Trust building, that bank is desirous of securing the room occupied by the clearing house, and there appears to be no objection to canceling the lease, inasmuch as equally good quarters can be furnished in the First National building.

Merchants' Loan Advances.

As a result of the announcement of the proposed increase in the capital stock of the Merchants' Loan and Trust company the stock yesterday advanced to 430 bid. A small lot was offered at 450. The bank will continue to pay dividends at the rate of 12 per cent on the additional capital. As the surplus will be increased as much as the capital stock the relation between the two accounts will be the same after the new stock is issued as it is now. For this reason it is figured the new shares should sell as high as the old ones. Based on a price of 430 for the present stock a purchaser at this quotation would have his new stock cost him $358 a share.

Chicago Stocks.

There was some selling of North Chicago stock yesterday at 120. The offerings were by S. B. Chapin & Co., and they were long stock.

United Boxboard shares were weak. The belief is current that the radical advance in the price of the company's output has encouraged new competition. In this connection the story that the National Biscuit company would manufacture its own boxboard was denied, as the company already controls the output of the Howe & Davidson plant at Marseilles, Ill., and that arrangement is satisfactory.

John J. Mitchell Returns.

Northwestern "L" common was weak, though the trading in the stock was small. The price closed at 20.

John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, returned to Chicago yesterday after a two months' absence in California.

TRIFLE FIRMER TONE IN EGGS.

Receipts Running Lighter, While Demand from Local Sources Continues Good.

Eggs are accumulating a little more strongly, and so also is butter. Later quotations on creamery were ½c higher, while eggs were about ⅛c up. Egg receipts so far this week have been 61,600 cases, as against 67,150 cases the corresponding time last week. There is considerable competition for the offerings of fine creamery butter. Strawberry receipts were free, about 8,000 cases. There was a good market for fine fruit.

TRADERS UNLOAD STOCKS.

BULL TIPS IN WALL STREET GIVEN OUT FOR PURPOSE.

For Several Days There Has Been a Persistent "Feeding Out" of Shares and Market Has Reached Its Limit—Realization of Situation Followed by Slump, with More Buyers than Sellers—Standard Issues Weakest in List.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, May 7.—[Special.]—For some days it has been evident that there has been a quiet but none the less persistent "feeding out" of stocks by the larger interests, whose policy now seems to be to sell whenever it is possible to find a ready market. Thousands of shares of the principal stocks have been traded in within a narrow range of prices, indicating that while the rank and file are following the bull tips so industriously circulated, they are being liberally supplied with stocks by the larger interests.

There always comes a time when these eager buyers will take no more stock, or, awakening to a realization of the fact that they are "holding the umbrella" for some one else, decide to beat a retreat from their position. Some few people made this discovery today and hastened thereupon to sell. Then came the revelation that there were more sellers than buyers, and hence the final decline.

The principal selling of the day, however, was not from disappointed people, but from several large banking interests who like to see the market advance, but decided not to wait too long for this rise. The disquieting feature of the day was that the standard railway shares were the weakest in the list, with especial pressure in Atchison, St. Paul, Union Pacific, and Pennsylvania. The fact that neither St. Paul nor Union Pacific found good support is taken to indicate that the interests identified with those properties are not expecting any rise in the market at this time and are discouraging a bullish activity in the shares.

Those traders and others who so enthusiastically bid up Delaware and Hudson stock some few days ago to 181 were finding difficulty today in obtaining any buyers. The stock scored the biggest decline of any, selling down at one time to 177 and closing with a net loss of 1⅞.

OFFICE OF THE

George A. Treadwell Mining Company.

27 William-st., New York.

We have in our Iron Queen group of mines a well-defined vein proved three thousand feet in length and with a probable length of more than two miles, proved five feet in width at the minimum and widening out in places to forty feet, and at least two thousand feet in depth, with the probabilities in favor of its going below five thousand feet.

Taking the minimum measurements and multiplying the three thousand feet in length by two thousand feet in depth and five feet in width, we get as the contents of the vein 30,000,000 cubic feet of ore, which will run ten cubic feet to the ton, giving us 3,000,000 tons.

There is a net profit in this of at least $10 a ton over all expenses of mining and milling.

3,000,000 tons at $10 a ton yield $30,000,000 in profits.

This is from only one group of our properties. In the Cliff and Brookshire groups I believe the ore bodies to be even larger, richer, and more valuable, but it takes longer to get at them, and we have several other groups almost equally promising.

I have had too much practical experience in mining to indulge in visions. I would rather underestimate than overestimate results. When the United Verde stock was first offered for sale I was asked to estimate upon the probable production of the property, and my estimates came short of the reality. The same is true of my estimates of the Greene Consolidated, with which I was connected. The people who bought the United Verde upon my recommendation have made three thousand per cent upon their investment in ten years. The people who bought Greene Consolidated—also upon my recommendation—have made five hundred per cent in two years. I believe that the stock of the GEORGE A. TREADWELL COMPANY at present prices is a better investment than the United Verde or Greene Consolidated ever was.

GEORGE A. TREADWELL, President.

PARIS, May 7.—Prices on the bourse opened firm, but later showed feebleness and depression, owing to the growing seriousness of the Balkan situation. Ottomans went off and other internationals were irregular. Rio Tintos fell 1 franc. The general tone was unsteady and heavy. The private rate of discount was 2⅝ per cent.

BERLIN, May 7.—German bankers sent so much money to London for subscriptions to the Transvaal loan that telegraphic exchange rates rose to 20.50½. There was lively dealing in shares of the steel companies, owing to information that American orders for 25,000 have just been placed. Money on call, 4 per cent.

SALE BY VANDERBILT ESTATE.

Conveyance Recorded of Property at 300-302 Clark Street to C. B. King —Other Deals in Real Estate.

A conveyance by the estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt to Charles B. King of the premises 300-302 South Clark street for a nominal consideration was recorded yesterday. The property has a frontage of 49 and a depth of 103 feet and was valued by the board of review for 1902 at $80,000, no value being placed on the improvements. The deed was executed July 16, 1901.

Bradley Dean has sold to Arthur B. Cody the property in Morgan Park boulevard, forty-six feet west of Central avenue north front, 46x123 feet, for $23,100.

Ira M. Cobe has conveyed to Simeon Kruse the property at the southeast corner of Rockwell street and Mariana avenue, 50x125 feet, for $15,000.

Alton Parkhurst has sold to Simeon Lederer the property in Grand boulevard, 100 feet south of Forty-seventh street, east front, 50x150 feet, for $15,000.

The Old Colony Trust company has extended to May 10, 1905, a mortgage for $3,500,000, bearing 5 per cent interest, to the Central Union Telephone company.

Mueller Bros. have executed a trust deed to Edward F. Dunne for $25,000, ten years, at 5 per cent, secured on the building and leasehold interest of the property at the southeast corner of West Polk street and Washtenaw avenue.

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE FIELD.

Loss on the Leonard Seed Company Stock Is Settled for 52 Per Cent.

The fire loss on the Leonard Seed company stock was settled yesterday. The insurance was $151,000, and the amount paid was $79,557, or 52 per cent. The companies took some of the stock, which will be handled for their account.

The Western Adjustment company has opened a branch in Cleveland, with C. F. Barnard, who has been an independent adjuster in this city, as manager.

H. J. O'Brien, who has charge of the insurance of the National Biscuit company, has been given charge of the lines of the American Seeding Machine company, the new combination in that line.

Local agents at Ashland, Wis., are objecting to the placing of the insurance on the new ore docks of the Wisconsin Central by Moore, Janes, Lyman and Herrick of Chicago. The line was placed at 70 cents, but the local agents, who make the rates, have increased it to $1.25 since they found that it was being placed from Chicago, and are demanding 10 per cent commission for signing the policies. The firm will have no trouble in placing the line with the companies if the agents refuse to handle it.

Lyman, Otis & Co. have been made Illinois managers of the Pacific Surety company for the bond department. Allan C. Durborow retains the plate glass department, but did not care for the bond business.

GOULDS SAID TO BE AFTER ANOTHER HARRIMAN RAILWAY.

Report Is That Effort Will Be Made to Secure Control of the Kansas City Southern.

Rumors are afloat that the Gould interests are trying to secure control of the Kansas City Southern. The road is now controlled by the Harriman interests, but Mr. Gould believes he could find excellent use for it. The business of the line to the gulf has been increasing, and it would prove an excellent feeder for Gould's Iron Mountain and Southern road.

A. E. Stillwell, president of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, and Dutch capitalists control much voting stock of the Kansas City Southern, and, with the interests Gould has in the road, the three could just about swing the control. Close relations have existed for some time between Stillwell and Gould, and during the last six months George Gould has been made a director of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway. It is understood that there is to be a close traffic alliance between Gould's Missouri Pacific and Stillwell's orient road.

Charges Against Southern Roads.

The merchants' freight bureau of Little Rock, Ark., has filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, the St. Louis Southwestern, and the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf railways, alleging that carload rates on machinery recently agreed on by those lines to take effect on May 14 are unjust and unreasonable. The commission is asked to restrain the roads from putting into effect the proposed advance. The commission at once issued notices to the roads to file an answer within twenty days.

Great Western Construction Work.

The Chicago Great Western yesterday commenced laying rails on the last stretch of its Fort Dodge-Omaha line, and the road will reach Council Bluffs in thirty days. A large force of men has been at work for the last six weeks grading between Manning and Council Bluffs, and this work was finished last Saturday sufficiently to permit of track laying from Manning to Council Bluffs. The distance is sixty-six miles.

General Railway Notes.

The Chicago and Indiana Eastern railroad is making a survey for the extension of its line from Muncie, Ind., to Hagerstown, a distance of thirty-five miles. Construction work is to begin as soon as the survey has been completed.

The Western Passenger association is in session here. The most important matter under discussion is proposed changes in the rules regarding the handling of party business.

TWELVE KILLED IN A CAR: ROCK SLIDE CRUSHES SIX.

Canadian Pacific Passenger Crashes Into Work Car in Ontario—Piece of Mountain Overwhelms Tunnel Gang.

Dexter, Ont., May 7.—[Special.]—Twelve men were killed early this morning by a collision on the Canadian Pacific railroad at this point. A number of laborers were at breakfast in the caboose, or boarding car, on a side track. A passenger train crashed into the caboose, overturning the car, and the wreckage caught fire. Twelve of the men were instantly killed or burned to death in the wreckage. Eight others were seriously injured.

Rock Falls on Men.

Roanoke, Va., May 7. — Six men were killed and five others injured, three of them fatally, late yesterday evening by a slide of rock at Eggleston Springs, on the Norfolk and Western railroad. A huge mass of solid stone gave way on the mountain side, striking the gang of laborers at work fairly. The rock which fell was a solid stratum, separated from the rest by a layer of clay.

SEE CHANCE FOR BIG SAVING.

City's Lawyers Ask Gov. Yates to Sign Bill Amending Special Assessment Law.

Amendments to the special assessment law, if they receive the approval of Gov. Yates, will save Chicago property owners $1,000,000 a year, according to a memorial to the governor drawn up by Assistant Corporation Counsel E. B. Tolman and approved by Corporation Counsel Walker.

The purpose of the amendments is to make the bonds issued under special assessment proceedings more secure, thus removing a reason why contractors should inflate their bids in anticipation of a shrinkage in the bonds.

The amendments provide that objections to paving must be made at the first installment, and not in later litigation. The improvement bonds thus would be immune from attack after issuance.

MUST SELL BETTER MILK.

ELEVEN DEALERS FINED; SUPPLY WORST IN YEARS.

Health Department, Acting on Knowledge That the Lacteal Fluid Is Below the Required Grade, Prosecutes Offenders and Will Continue Its Campaign Until the Sellers Obey the Law — Price Is High, but the Quality Is Low.

The fact that Chicago's milk supply is worse than it has been in ten years, as shown by tests made by the city health department, was impressed on eleven dealers yesterday in Justice Gibbons' court.

Tests had shown that the milk sold by these dealers was deficient in solids and butter fats, and when Chief Inspector Grady presented the facts to Justice Gibbons the offenders were fined $25 and costs each, the punishment being in marked contrast to that inflicted a year ago, when the dealers who failed to comply with the law were dismissed with small fines and a warning.

The dealers who were fined for selling milk below grade were:

A. Jacobs, 3623 Hermitage avenue.
E. Hoffman, 1961 Fillmore street.
C. C. Kern, 67 Lincoln Park boulevard.
Importers' Tea and Coffee company, 105 Madison street.
Mrs. S. O. Neill, 2212 Indiana avenue.
E. Robertson, 195 Thirty-first street.
Thomas Solc, 1036 West Eighteenth street.
John Zakibski, 1062 Eighteenth place.
John Smitzen, 468 East Fifty-fifth street.
H. A. Snell, 321 Webster avenue.
B. M. Schonfield, 341 Indiana street.

Why Milk Is Below Grade.

"There was a time when milk was so rich that the dealer could skim off a quart of cream from an eight gallon can and the remainder would pass inspection," said Inspector Grady. "This is no longer the case, but the dealers don't seem to realize it, and consequently inferior milk is being sold all over the city. We shall continue our prosecutions."

Mr. Grady believes there is danger of a milk shortage, basing his conclusion on the fact that some of the small dealers who secure their supply at the milk stations of the railways have been forced out of business because they were unable to buy adequate supplies.

Representatives of some of the big dealers, however, assert they can get plenty of milk if the public is willing "to pay the price." Even now the wholesale price of $1 a can, or 12½ cents a gallon, is said to be higher than it has been in the last twenty-five years.

The Milk Dealers' association, which handles about two-thirds of the milk shipped into Chicago, reports that it has no difficulty in filling contracts with the small dealers. This association secured five year contracts with many of the farmers two years ago, the farmers paying the association a commission of 1 cent on each can.

Purity First, Expert Says.

Dr. Jaques, city bacteriologist, considers the scarcity and high price of milk secondary to its purity.

"We must not forget that a large proportion of the city's population—the children of 5 years and under—live almost entirely on milk," said he. "The large dealers have their plants for sterilizing the bottles, but this is impossible with the small dealers, and there is no doubt that much disease is spread through the agency of contaminated bottles. The driver of the wagon usually washes the bottles of the small dealer. He places fifteen or twenty in a tub and rinses them out, but this does not get rid of the germs.

"Moreover, the milk that is shipped into the city for the small dealer often has not been subjected to the hygienic restrictions of the large concerns, whose contracts stipulate that cows must be kept in sanitary stables."

JAMES SEXTON, DESPONDENT, DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

Suicide of Grocer's Brother While Sitting in Saloon—Family Denies Mystery Tale.

In a fit of despondency James J. Sexton, brother of John Sexton, the grocer, and a clerk in his store at 20 State street, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid late Wednesday afternoon in a saloon at 66 Lake street.

Sexton was married last January to Miss Moran of Berlin, Wis., and lived at 37 Walton place. The wife last night was in a state of nervous collapse, her condition being aggravated by a report that she and her husband had quarreled and that mystery attended his death. The last writing by James Sexton was a note sent to his wife just before he went into the saloon where he took his life. It read:

"My Dear Wife: Do not worry if I do not come home at the usual hour, as I may be detained at the store. Your Loving Husband."

"There was no mystery in the case," said Mrs. John Sexton last night. "Mr. Sexton was not in good health. He frequently was depressed, and that is the only reason for the suicide."

This was the story told by John Sexton at the coroner's inquest:

"My brother, James Sexton, was 28 years old. Wednesday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock he walked into O'Brien's saloon and sat down at a table. C. F. Eeles, 154 Walnut street, occupied a chair on the opposite side of the table. He is a fish dealer and was an old acquaintance of my brother. They talked for a few minutes, when James ordered a glass of water. He took a bottle of carbolic acid out of his pocket and emptied it into the glass. He turned to Mr. Eeles, said 'good-by,' and drank the drug."

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that James Sexton came to his death by taking carbolic acid while temporarily insane.

ORGANIZE A MORRIS SOCIETY.

Promoters of New Art Association Hold a Meeting at the Auditorium Annex.

Preliminary steps toward the organization of a William Morris society, the object of which will be to increase the spirit of art among all people, and to familiarize the public with Morris' life and work, were taken at a meeting held last evening in the rooms of Mrs. H. M. Wilmarth at the Auditorium Annex. Joseph Twyman was chairman, and Prof. Oscar L. Triggs, secretary. It is the purpose to have an executive committee located in Chicago, with local circles in other cities and towns.

The next meeting will be held Thursday evening of next week in the studio of Ralph Clarkson in the Fine Arts building.

OBITUARY.

ALFRED BRUNSON McCHESNEY, M. D., Chicago, who gave his name to McChesney avenue, and who has been prominent among the medical and political organizations of Chicago, died yesterday at the family residence, 722 West Harrison street, aged 76 years. Dr. McChesney served as a surgeon throughout the civil war, and continued as United States pension surgeon until 1868, when he removed to Chicago and became interested in south side real estate. Dr. McChesney was a delegate to the conventions which nominated Grant and Garfield for the presidency. He represented THE TRIBUNE at the latter. Dr. McChesney left a wife, Henrietta, and one son, Naton W. McChesney, manager of the Association building. The funeral will be from the residence on Sunday at 1 o'clock.

WILLIAM SPENCER KINNAN, Chicago, assistant general solicitor of the Monon, died yesterday morning at his residence, 512 West Sixty-first street, after an illness of four years. His death is said to be the result of an accident on the Pennsylvania railroad several years ago. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the residence. The body will be taken to Towanda, Ill., for burial.

DISCUSS REFORMS FOR TRAMPS.

National Conference of Charities Has Resolutions Favoring Municipal Lodging House.

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—[Special.]—Resolutions favoring the establishment of municipal lodging houses separate from police stations, similar to the institution at Chicago, and centralizing the management of public charities under the direction of an inspector, were introduced in the session of the national conference of charities and corrections today by Chairman C. L. Stonaker of the committee on county and municipal charities and outdoor relief and vagrancy.

Favors Municipal Lodging Houses.

The report says: "The rapid growth of American cities and great changes in social conditions relative thereto has given rise to the present demand for municipal lodging houses separate and apart from jails and police stations, while the new methods of treating juvenile delinquents by probationary regulations have become so popular that rapid changes in former systems in municinal and county corrections are at this time readily accepted.

"The great evil of the county and municipal and county corrections are at this time tration.

Need of Centralized Control.

"The centralized board of control management for public charities, just now so prominently discussed, may well aid in the development of municipal and county charities at this time, although the future must show if these boards of control shall eventually discover the necessity of fostering public sentiment favorable to a better administration of county institutions. So far these boards of control have not displayed any great interest or zeal in improving conditions.

"Your committee believes that at this time there should be advocated the provision by law in each state for an inspector of county and municipal institutions, whether under the authority of a board of control or of a state board of charities or by appointment by the governor is immaterial. The inspector of county and municipal charities under state pay and indorsement and with sufficient length of term to warrant him in preparing himself property for his duties by personal visitation, publication of reports, suggestions and advice, could give the proper impetus to reforms that result in great improvement in a short time.

"The development of public interest can likewise be advanced through the establishment of a state board of charities with advisory power or by volunteer societies."

Deals with Tramp Question.

William H. Allen, general agent of the New York mission for improving the condition of the poor, delivered an address, taking as his subject "Social Parasite or Social Product." He said in part:

"One phase of vagrancy infects a great number of people and represents a great menace to social welfare, the source and support of the individual vagrant and the stronghold of the disease. I refer to the vagrancy of giving, that tramp philanthropy, that superficial samaritanism, that vagrant interest in one's fellow men which purchase self-complacency, relief from annoyance, a reputation for generosity, and spurious mortgages on mansions in the skies from venders of hard luck stories, inventors of mutilated limbs, and exhibiters of moral and physical deformities. The real vagrancy is the vagrancy of intellect and sympathy, whether the gift be a mite or a million, which attempts to obtain satisfaction entirely out of proportion to the thought and time expended in giving, which confuses almost with justice and relief. It is the recipient who is wronged, not the giver.

Unheeding Giving Declared a Wrong.

"It is most uncharitable and irresponsible for an individual unlicensed citizen on the streets to prescribe for vagrancy as for hydrophobia or typhoid fever. Our problem is primarily to convince and correct this citizen giver rather than to convince and reclaim the tramp. We shall never be rid of the man who would sooner beg than saw wood; we may hope to be rid of the man who would sooner give a nickel to a beggar than send him to an agency which can make him self-supporting."

Other addresses were by Miss Alice C. Willard of Chicago, James F. Jackson of Minneapolis, Joseph Forbes of New York, and Livingston Mims of Atlanta.

SWINDLES "L" ROAD CASHIERS.

Man Secures $40 from Two Young Women by Means of the "Envelope Game."

Two women cashiers in south side elevated railroad stations were swindled out of $20 each last night by what the police call the "envelope game." The victims are Miss Kate Miller, at the Eighteenth street station, and Miss Margaret Dillon, at Twenty-sixth street.

The swindler entered the Eighteenth street station about 6:30 o'clock, and, drawing some silver from his pocket, presented a letter stamped and addressed, and said:

"I want to send away $20 in this letter. Can you give me a bill for the silver?"

Miss Miller gave him the bill, but on counting the silver found only $19. The stranger had sealed the money in the envelope, and, when the shortage was called to his attention, said:

"Pshaw, that's too bad! I didn't bring enough money from home with me, but I will go and get the other dollar and you can keep the envelope for security."

He returned an envelope, took the $19, promising to return immediately. Later the young woman opened the envelope and found a blank sheet of paper. Miss Dillon was swindled in the same way.

ANOTHER GRAVE ROBBER GUILTY

Isom Donnell, Cousin of Rufus Cantrell, Convicted at Indianapolis and Sentenced to Prison.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—Isom Donnell, another of the grave robbers, pleaded guilty today and received a sentence of from one to three years in the state prison in Michigan City penitentiary. When the judge said to him that as he was 33 years old he would have to go to Michigan City, and would not be able to see Rufus Cantrell, he replied: "I've seen too much of Cantrell already." Cantrell and Donnell are cousins.

RAILWAY TAX BILL MAY FAIL.

Wisconsin House and Senate Unable to Agree Over Plan to Exempt Bonds from Taxation.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—The assembly, by a vote of 63 to 24, refused to concur in the senate amendment to the ad valorem railway tax bill exempting bonds from taxation. The measure will go over to the senate, which, it is generally understood, will decline to recede from the stand it has taken, whereupon a conference committee will be asked for.

CITIZENS FIGHT WITH BURGLARS

Five Men at Springfield, N. J., Attacked by Posse and Two Captured After Being Wounded.

Springfield, N. J., May 7.—Citizens last night had a gun fight with five burglars, two of whom they wounded and captured. The other three escaped. A complete burglar's outfit, including dynamite, having been found in a barn, a watch was set to see who came for the outfit. At midnight five men appeared, and the fight resulted as stated.

Aged German Hermit Slain.

Lancaster, Pa., May 7.—Isaac Stigler, a farmer living in Rapho township, was murdered last night, presumably for his money. For years Stigler has lived the life of a hermit. About a week ago he displayed a bag containing about $15. Today his body was found with a pistol bullet through the heart.

Indiana Town Scorched.

Newcastle, Ind., May 7.—Fire nearly wiped out the town of Sulphur Springs, Ind., today, a number of stores being damaged. A bucket line, in which nearly every man, woman, and child in the town assisted, saved the rest of the business center. The damage was $15,000.

Six Members of Mob Arrested.

Caruthersville, Mo., May 7.—Six men have been arrested at Little River charged with being members of the mob that killed Constable W. J. Mooneyhan and the "Rev." D. J. Malone last Saturday night. They all declare they can prove an alibi.

FACE CHARGE OF MURDER.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WILTRACK ACCUSED AS ACCESSORIES.

Police Prepare to Press Case Against Them, Believing That They or Their Son Julius Killed Young Paul Paszkowski, Whose Body Was Found Buried in the Woods — Former Shooting Is Recalled — Pistol Test in Saloon.

Formal charges of murder, as accessories after the fact, were made last evening against John Wiltrack and his wife, whom the police believe shot and killed 6 year old Paul Paszkowski a week ago last Monday morning in Hanson Park. Julius Wiltrack, the 11 year old son, will be held in the juvenile home.

The case probably will be continued when it comes up for a hearing this morning in order to allow the police time to collect additional evidence.

It was learned by the police during the day that Julius Wiltrack shot a companion who offended him two years ago while in front of his father's saloon, then at Fourteenth and Canal streets. This was denied by the boy, but his mother admitted it was true. Becoming enraged at his playmate, Julius ran into his father's saloon, took a revolver from a drawer, and, returning to the sidewalk, shot the boy in the leg.

Trace a New Clew.

Mrs. Paszkowski, mother of the murdered boy, told Capt. Kandzia yesterday that at 1:30 Wednesday morning, two days after her boy disappeared, she saw two persons leave Witrack's saloon, over which she lived. On account of the darkness she was not able to recognize either person, and, acting on the information, detectives questioned all the watchmen on the railroad tracks between the Wiltrack house and the place in the woods where the body was found, but none of them had seen any persons carrying a bundle to the woods.

Mrs. Fritz, who lives in front of the second floor above the saloon, told the police that Monday morning Mrs. Wiltrack was so nervous that she could not serve her some brandy and that Wiltrack, too, was excited.

It also developed that Wiltrack, while living in the Ghetto, was known as Wiltrache. He declared yesterday that he did not know how to spell his name, although he can speak eight languages.

Pistol Test by Police.

To satisfy themselves that young Paszkowski could have been shot in the back room of the saloon without alarming the families upstairs the police yesterday morning fired several shots in the back room while other detectives were stationed in the upper rooms. They did not hear the sound of the shots. The revolvers used were of a larger pattern than the one with which the boy was killed.

So far there is no direct evidence against the Wiltrack family. While the boy declares that his parents are "to blame," and that they are trying to make it appear that he is guilty, he also insists that he does not know who shot the Paszkowski boy. It is not thought probable that Wiltrack or his wife will confess, and the boy seems to have been thoroughly schooled in his denials.

LEARNS SHE WAS A FOUNDLING.

Woman Prisoner First Hears Story of Her Birth When the Supposed Mother Disowns Her.

In Justice Callahan's court yesterday Mrs. Bertha Phelan learned for the first time that she was only an adopted daughter. Her foster mother, Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick of South Chicago, told the court that twenty-four years ago in Philadelphia a girl child was left on her dorstep.

"This girl," said Mrs. Fitzpatrick, "was treated in every way as my own daughter, but when she was 18 she eloped with Mr. Phelan. Her life since then has been such that it is time for me to say she is not my daughter."

Mrs. Phelan was arrested charged with being intoxicated. She was taken to the South Chicago police station. The news that she was a foster child moved her to tears. The justice said he would send her to the House of the Good Shepherd.

COMES TO PUSH COBB'S WORK.

Architect Fitzpatrick Here to Hurry Construction of New Federal Building.

F. T. Fitzpatrick, the government architect, who was appointed first assistant to Henry Ives Cobb in completing the work on Chicago's new federal building, arrived from Washington yesterday and is expected to remain here for some time. He is under orders from the treasury department to hasten the completion of the building as much as possible, and lost no time in establishing his headquarters at the Title and Trust company building.

YOU CAN SEE HAIR GROW

Munyon's WITCH HAZEL Soap

It makes the hair grow thick
It makes the hair grow strong
It makes the hair grow beautiful

"Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap is truly a blessing to those who are losing their hair and becoming bald. This soap is a food and vitalizer; it stimulates and acts as a gentle tonic to the weak and sick roots, and gives them new life and vigor. It promptly removes dandruff, scales, humors and all sores of the scalp. Don't use any more hair tonics or decoctions that are advertised to make hair grow on bald heads. Give this soap a fair trial, and if there is a particle of life in the roots, this soap will stimulate and invigorate them into new life and healthy growth. Of course, you know that Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap for the complexion and for the toilet is superior to any high-priced French soap made. It makes the skin soft as velvet, and keeps one free from pimples, blotches and most skin eruptions.

If your blood is out of order, take Munyon's Blood Cure. It will drive all impurities from the system and make good, rich, red blood.

If your liver is sluggish and you have a sallow complexion, use Munyon's Liver Cure. These two remedies taken in alternation, will soon rid the blood and system of all impurities, and give life and vigor to the whole body, and, when used in conjunction with the soap, makes the skin glow with youthful freshness.

MAYOR ADDS TO CABINET SLATE.

George Williams, Practical Builder, to Have Place Vacated by Kiolbassa.

FIGHT MADE ON MUSHAM.

Age of the Fire Chief Is an Objection, but His Reappointment Is Likely.

With the addition of the name of George Williams to the list of cabinet appointments Mayor Harrison's slate for submission to the city council Monday night is nearly complete.

After a conference yesterday between the mayor and Ald. Carey it was said that Mr. Williams, who is president of the Building and Mason Contractors' association, would be made commissioner of buildings in place of Kiolbassa, resigned. Ald. Carey has asked the mayor for this appointment.

The only two positions at all in doubt now are those of fire marshal and commissioner of health. Dr. Reynolds is likely to be reappointed and to resign soon afterward. Fire Chief Musham probably will be reappointed, although considerable opposition has been raised and efforts have been made to place either Battalion Chief James Horan or Assistant Marshal John Campion at the head of the department.

Insurance Men Dissatisfied.

Insurance men, although friendly to Chief Musham, are attacking the department and claim that, while the chief is not responsible for conditions, the lack of men and apparatus and the interference of politicians with discipline have caused heavy losses on their business thus far this year.

The condition of the department was a general topic of discussion in La Salle street yesterday, and it is possible that some action may be taken at the special meeting of the Chicago Underwriters' association this afternoon. Many managers are afraid of stirring the matter up too much for fear of more companies retiring from business in Chicago.

Chief Musham's age is being used as an argument against him, and the assertion is made that when he was appointed two years ago it was understood to be merely for a short period, and that after he had served at the head of the department a couple of years one of the younger men would be given the post, Assistant Marshals Horan and Campion being mentioned.

Here's the Probable Slate.

Despite all this the probabilities are that the chief will retain his position for the present at least. The probable list of the mayor's appointments is as follows:

George Williams as building commissioner, to fill vacancy.
Edward Lahiff as city collector to succeed Frank Brandecker.
Frank Brandecker as purchasing agent, to succeed Irving Washington.
Colin C. Fyfe as corporation counsel, in case Charles M. Walker be elected judge.
Francis O'Neill as chief of police.
William Musham as fire marshal.
Arthur R. Reynolds as commissioner of health.
Lawrence C. McGann as city controller.
Fred W. Blocki as commissioner of public works.

Message May Be Delayed.

Whether or not the mayor will have his message ready at the same time as his appointments or whether the appointments will be withheld until the message is prepared is not known. The street railway situation makes it advisable to delay the message until some action has been taken by Gov. Yates on the Mueller bill, and there is a probability that the whole matter will go over until the mayor can discuss the street railway situation as it will have to be dealt with finally.

In the message the mayor will take up the possible courses of action which are open to the city to pursue in dealing with the traction companies and in forcing betterments in service before the franchises have been extended.

BE A HUMAN STEAM ENGINE IF YOU WANT TO SUCCEED.

John G. Shedd Tells Young to Be Wound Up Tight, Ready to Go Ahead at Full Speed on Short Notice.

"Be a human steam engine if you want to be a success," said John G. Shedd of Marshall Field & Co. to the young men of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church last night.

"Be wound up tight, ready to hurl the whole energy of your soul into the thing that you have at hand, if you want to succeed," continued Mr. Shedd. "Mere strength of character will not make you a success. You must be able to wield this strength at a moment's notice, with concentrated power, and you must be able to do it continuously.

"Men of today who are making the greatest successes in business life are those of the human steam engine type who are always snapping, red hot, with full steam up ready to move ahead at full speed the moment a task signals them.

"The great business men of Chicago are men who have combined good habits, self-control, politeness, economy, industry, activity, and indomitable perseverance of the human steam engine kind. We need such young men in our business. With 200 such men I could create a business that would be invincible."

EDUCATORS HERE TO CONFER.

Meeting Called by Northwestern University to Begin Today and Continue Through Tomorrow.

College professors from all parts of the United States are arriving to take part in the conference called for today and tomorrow by Northwestern university. The discussion will center about the subject: "The Relation of the College to the Professional School." Those of the delegates who had arrived yesterday held an informal conference in the Northwestern university building, Lake and Dearborn streets, and at 9 o'clock this morning the delegates will be greeted by President James of the Northwestern university in Booth hall.

The general topics today will be as follows:

Has the college a field peculiar to itself not covered by the technical school or by the demands of preparation for the professional school?

Is it desirable that the college course should be reduced in time from four to three, or even two years and correspondingly in amount of work?

What subjects in the typical college course can be accepted by the professional school as qualifying in part for the professional degree so as to shorten the time required for graduation in the professional school?

WINDOW FIGHT REACHES COURT

Two Inches of State Street Involved in a Bill for Injunction Against the City.

Two inches of State street are involved in a bill for injunction filed yesterday by Bernard Baumgarden, who conducts a millinery store at 203-5 State street. He is seeking to restrain the city from interfering with the building of a show window in the front of his store, the original front of which is said to have extended to the point in dispute.

Another suit attacking the right of the Chicago Telephone company to charge more than the franchise rate of $125 a year for business telephones was filed in the Circuit court yesterday. There are thirty business firms and individuals complainants in the bill.

BIG SUMS FOR JEWISH AID

BENEVOLENCES FOR THE YEAR AMOUNT TO OVER $150,000.

Charity Organization Reports More Money Spent and More Good Accomplished than in Any Previous Twelvemonth of Its Existence — Calls for Subscriptions of at Least $160,000 to Carry Out Its Enlarged Plans—Society Elects New Officers.

During the last year the Associated Jewish Charities expended nearly $150,000 in its relief work, and for the coming year subscriptions for at least $160,000 are demanded by the officials.

These figures, showing the growth of this great charitable body, were presented at the annual meeting in Sinai temple last night, which was attended by over 200 persons. The statements by the officers awakened much interest, and there was considerable enthusiasm when the enlarged plans for the coming year were mentioned.

So universal were the calls on the society for help during the last twelve months that the available funds, including a surplus of $2,500, were expended, and $8,000 in addition. This deficit the members were asked to make up at once.

President Foreman's Report.

"During the last fiscal year," said President Edwin G. Foreman, "our receipts were larger, and much more good was accomplished than in any previous year. The efforts of your board have resulted in bringing the interests of the various institutions closer together, but to reach this result it was found necessary to expend $12,800 more than in our first fiscal year.

"As a result our institutions show a deficit of about $8,000. This, however, can hardly be regarded as cause for discouragement. On the contrary, it ought to be an incentive to greater activity until sufficient funds are raised to wipe out this deficiency. Of this amount $7,000 has already been pledged."

Secretary Julian W. Mack in his annual report said that to accomplish the society's task for the coming year it must have a subscription list, not of $140,000, but of at least $160,000.

The report of the treasurer, I. Baumgarti, showed that of the $139,896 collected $138,850 had been disbursed to beneficiaries, and $2,958 used for expenses. Unpaid subscriptions to the amount of $446 were shown.

New Officers Elected.

The following were elected officers for the coming year:
President—A. G. Becker.
Vice president—I. Baumgarti.
Treasurer—S. W. Straus.
Secretary—Louis Birkenstein.
Directors—Edwin G. Foreman, Leon Mandel, Louis Eckstein, Edwin F. Meyer, Louis B. Kuppenheimer, S. Despres, Julian W. Mack.

After adjournment the United Hebrew Charities met, heard reports, and elected officers, as follows:
President—Herman F. Hahn.
Vice president—Maurice Rosenfeld.
Treasurer—Alfred M. Snydacker.
Financial secretary—Bernhard Neu.
Recording secretary—A. J. Pfaum.
Trustees—George Frank, Leo A. Loeb, Henry N. Hart, Ira N. Morris, Dr. Tobias Schoenfarber, Solomon L. Sulzberger, Mrs. J. M. Loeb, Mrs. Alfred Kohn, M. Born.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON HERE: WILL SPEAK IN AUDITORIUM.

Addresses Meeting Tonight on Work of Tuskegee Institute and Future of Colored Race.

Booker T. Washington, principal of the Tuskegee institute, arrived in Chicago yesterday, and tonight will address a meeting in the Auditorium, at which James H. Eckels will preside.

Tomorrow morning Mr. Washington will address the Woman's club, at 1 p. m. he will be the guest at luncheon of the University club, at 4 p. m. he will speak before the George Howland club, at 7 p. m. he will be entertained at dinner by the Union league club, and at 10 p. m. he will attend a reception at the Appomattox club.

The program for Sunday includes an address before the University Congregational church in the forenoon, dinner at the residence of E. B. Smith, an address at Quinn chapel in the afternoon, and one at the Second Presbyterian church in the evening.

"The object of my visit," said Mr. Washington when seen at the Annex, "is to awaken a more general interest in the Tuskegee school and its educational mission, and to present my ideas of a practical solution of the race problem in this country.

"The solution of the race question lies in education, not alone of the colored race, but of all races and classes. With the progress of education race prejudices gradually will disappear. I fully appreciate that it is an enormous task, and that it will take a long time, but I am hopeful that it can be accomplished.

"The negroes are mainly an agricultural people, and for that reason the Tuskegee school tries to give to the students a good training in everything pertaining to agriculture. We have just acquired 700 acres of farming land, which will be used for practical instruction. What we need is more money in the endowment fund, and an additional sum for present needs, so that we may close the school at the end of the school year free from debt."

FIGHTS TO PROVE HIS SANITY.

E. B. Hartwell's Testimony Secures Him a Postponement of the Court's Ruling at Detention Hospital.

Ezra B. Hartwell, president of the Hartwell Harness Pad company, 435 East Sixty-fifth street, was taken before Judge Pond at the detention hospital yesterday to determine his sanity. Five relatives testified against him, saying he had attacked his daughter and had written several letters regarding the probable democratic candidates for president.

Mr. Hartwell testified that his daughter had married a man whom he did not like and that he had told her so. He explained his writings by saying that he had sent "ideas to Louisville papers and had them accepted." The case was continued until next Thursday.

Albert J. Manchester, 851 Walnut street, who last Friday night entered the house of W. Howland, 1251 Asbury avenue, Evanston, and attacked Mr. Howland, was adjudged insane and sent to Kankakee.

Otto Helms, 187 West Seventeenth street, who was arrested on Friday because of his correspondence with President Roosevelt, was also adjudged insane and sent to Elgin.

QUIGLEY DEDICATES A CHURCH.

Services at St. Elizabeth's Will Continue Today and on Sunday, Archbishop Riordan Officiating.

The opening ceremony in the consecration of St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic church was held yesterday morning, when Archbishop Quigley dedicated the main altar in the edifice at Forty-first street and Michigan avenue. This will be followed by the dedication of the side altars today and will conclude with the final celebration of the lifting of the church debt on Sunday. St. Elizabeth's, with St. James', Wabash avenue and Twenty-ninth street, and St. Mary's church of Freeport, will then be the only churches in the archdiocese which have been consecrated. Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco, bother of the Rev. R. D. Riordan, pastor of the church, will officiate today.

BANKER GETS AN INJUNCTION: AUTOMOBILE CASE IN COURT.

Judge Haney Grants Temporary Restraining Writ Against City and License Ordinance Will Be Tested.

Until Judge Haney has decided the merits of the case the city must not attempt to prevent A. C. Banker from running an automobile without a license. Yesterday Banker applied to Judge Haney for an injunction restraining the city from molesting him in the conduct of his business, and the writ issued. The west and south park boards are included in the writ.

Banker contends that in requiring a special license for automobiles the city enacted class legislation, and that the ordinance is unconstitutional. The hearing of the case has been set for Saturday. William A. Jennings represented Mr. Banker in court, and Granville W. Browning appeared for the city.

"The injunction which Judge Haney granted me will prevent the city from interfering with my business until the court decides whether I am right in my contention," said Banker last evening. "In the meantime I do not intend to violate the speed ordinance, as I understand I must abide by that. I am simply trying to determine whether the city has the right to refuse me a license."

Miss Lena R. Thompson and Miss Elizabeth Mix, who were run down by a big automobile Wednesday afternoon and seriously injured, will recover. It was said at their homes last evening that both had received painful injuries, but that they were not in danger. Miss Mix was injured more seriously than was Miss Thompson.

SOBRA CASE NEARLY ENDED.

Last Arguments Will Be Made This Morning and Then the Jury Will Decide.

The final arguments before the jury that has heard the Sobra-Franks damage suit will be concluded this morning by Attorney Louis J. Pierson, representing the plaintiff. At 11 o'clock the case will go to the jury. Lester H. Whipp, who also represents Mrs. Sobra, made his final statement to the jury yesterday afternoon, and was followed by ex-Judge Thomas A. Moran for Mr. Franks.

The frailty of the plaintiff's evidence in saying that the defendant became engaged to her a few days before his father died was the gist of Attorney Moran's argument. The story of the plaintiff that Franks was paying attention to her while his father was on his deathbed he termed preposterous and contrary to the tenets of the Jewish church and Jewish character.

Before the attorneys began their arguments Mrs. Sobra was again called to the witness stand. She declared that she was drugged while making the boat trip to Milwaukee.

Lorimer Gains Ten Votes.

William Lorimer gained ten votes in yesterday's recount of the Sixth Congressional district ballots, and now has a net gain of twenty-four votes over his opponent, Alban C. Durborow. The Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, and Twentieth precincts in the Thirteenth ward were counted yesterday.

New Witness in Hickey Case.

At the request of the police another continuance was taken yesterday in the case of Martin Mulrooney, charged with being accessory to the murder of Jennie Hickey. The case was set for May 14, when Inspector Hunt said he hoped to secure new information from a woman who had knowledge of the case.

LETTERS

P. T. Wants to Know

TO THE EDITOR:

DEAR SIR—I enclose several clippings from your paper, in which a peculiar form of arithmetical Health Culture is recommended:

Tally on the Calendar
Tie Knots in a String
Cut Notches in a Stick
File Nicks in a Bowl
Put Pennies in a Bank, etc.

I would like very much to have further details of this interesting system; and especially, I would like to learn why people who count their Apitezo Breakfasts in this way, get rosy.

Yours truly,
PALEN THYNNE.

MR. KNIGHT'S REPLY.

Tells Why He Recommends So Strongly His System of Counting—Says That Expert Accountants Approve It.

TO THE EDITOR:

DEAR SIR—I am happy to accept your invitation to go into further details of my Get Rosy System, explaining its unfailing success. The arithmetical record which I recommend so strongly was devised and perfected by me (with the assistance of several expert accountants) as a part of my system, and has proved to have the greatest efficacy when followed faithfully by those who wish to Get Rosy. Even those who Got Rosy and who wish to Keep Rosy, find this is an excellent way to keep tally of their Apitezo Breakfasts. It should be understood, of course, that the Apitezo Breakfast is the essential part of the "Get Rosy" system.

Apitezo—the New Biscuit Cereal—as I have explained in previous articles—is not only unique as regards its form (a biscuit), but it is the only cereal in the world that has iron in it—the iron that makes red blood. It is to emphasize this fact that I wear the iron clothes which are so much commented upon.

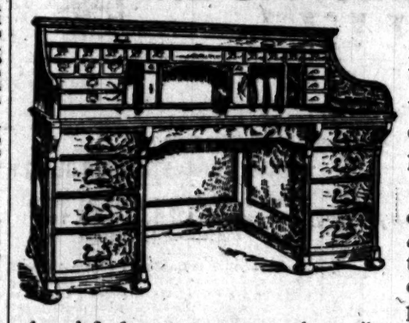

In answer to Mr. Thynne's letter I will explain that this iron in Apitezo is Plant Iron—from growing plants—"Organic Iron" as a doctor would say. And any doctor will tell you that this "Organic Iron" is the very substance and vitality of strong red blood. The Plant Iron goes staight into your blood. Of course, it won't make a new man or woman of you in a single day. If you ate Apitezo for only one breakfast, you could hardly expect to see the benefit of it shining in your cheeks. Apitezo is a food, not a medicinal stimulant. Day by day it makes your blood redder and redder. In 20 days you will see the benefit clearly and plainly. You will Get Rosy. 20 Apitezo Breakfasts will prove it. I am very truly,

APITEZO KNIGHT.

We are happy to announce that Mr. Apitezo Knight, whose sprightly portrait so often adorns our pages, will continue to be a regular contributor, explaining and exemplifying in illustrated contributions the "Get Rosy System," or "Common Sense and Hearty Health," by which he has won his reputation as the greatest healthmaker in the world.

FINE OFFICE DESKS.

Our desks are better, not because we say so, but better because the testimony of thousands of satisfied buyers proves them to be so.

When we assert that our office furniture is different—better—than that offered by most dealers we are but repeating what thousands of satisfied customers are voluntarily saying for us.

Mere bulk or weight is not an evidence of excellence in a desk. Graceful outlines and modern conveniences are characteristics of the up-to-date desk. Our desks possess that different something—character.
